Soviet Warns It Will Veto New Moves On Balkans

Gromyko Assails United States Aid To Greece as Crude Interference

Lake Success, Aug. 14 (AP).—Russia charged today that the United States was engaging in "the crudest interference" in Greek affairs and declared the United States is attempting to "tighten the noose fastened on the neck of Greek people" for the "doubtful profit" of Americans.

Andrei A. Gromyko also warned in plain terms that he would veto new United States and Australian resolutions on the Balkan questions. He said they were "unacceptable."

In the strongest attack he has yet made on American aid to Greece, Gromyko said that press dispatches reported American military equipment has begun to arrive in Greece.

"Greek democrats have now even a greater chance to be hit in the head by a bullet than before," Gromyko added.

Answers Johnson's Attack

In a 36-minute answer to the attack last Tuesday by Herschel V. Johnson, United States deputy, on the Soviet veto of the U. S. resolution for a semipermanent Balkans watch commission, Gromyko made these points in the United Nations Security Council:

1. "The crudest interference into the internal affairs of Greece comes at present from the United States."

2. Instead of attempting to save Greek independence as claimed, the United States is attempting to "tighten the noose" on the neck of the Greek people.

3. The Greek and United States Governments are playing a "political game" with the Balkans question by tossing in charges of aggression against Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania.

4. It is "insulting" for the United States to say that the Soviet Union "defends aggression" by vetoing the United States resolution July 29.

5. The United States statement Tuesday is full of "unfounded accusations" against Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia and it is "insulting" to those countries to say they are committing acts of aggression.

6. The Greeks who inspire the charges of aggression look at the discussion of the Greek question in the Security Council "as on some kind of a sport."

7. Former Axis collaborators hold high positions in the Greek government.

Johnson sat with tight-lipped gravity during the English translation of the Russian speech, making notes at intervals.

Reds Charge Greeks Torture Embassy Aides

London, (Friday) Aug. 15 (AP).—The Soviet news agency Tass said today in a dispatch from Athens that Greek authorities have "been arresting and even subjecting to torture persons working in the Soviet embassy" in the Greek capital.

"Persons who have commercial ties with the trade delegation of the U. S. S. R. are subjected to repressions," it added.

The dispatch failed to make clear, however, whether persons affected by the alleged maltreatment were Soviet citizens, Greeks working for the Russian government in Athens or persons of some other nationality.

"Police observation has been established over Soviet official persons which, for instance, in Salonika borders on hooliganism," Tass said.

"All these and a number of other illegal actions of the Greek police authorities are obviously directed towards hindering the embassy of the U. S. S. R., the Soviet trade delegation and official Soviet representatives from fulfilling their functions and constitute an attempt to prevent the maintenance of any economic, cultural and other ties between the Soviet Union and Greece."

India Achieves Sovereignty Amid Scenes of Wild Rejoicing

New Delhi, (Friday), Aug. 15 (AP).—India's 400 million shed their hated role of subject peoples at the clock stroke of a new day today.

They began a new chapter of two independent dominions with celebrations in oriental pomp and splendor—marred by bloodshed, death and terror in wide sections of the country.

In the high-domed chamber of the Constituent Assembly, Hindu India's legislators took over their responsibility promptly at the first minute after midnight, and waited impatiently for Lord Mountbatten to appear at 8 a. m., to relinquish ceremoniously his office of Britain's last Viceroy and assume the duties of Hindustan's first Governor General.

At Karachi, yesterday, he rode by flag-waving thousands at a formal farewell in that dusty new capital of Moslem Pakistan, and addressed the dominion's constituent Assembly in words of hope for "happiness and prosperity."

Throngs Jam Old Delhi

Old Delhi whooped it up on Independence Day. Throngs jammed famed Chani Chouk, the market street which leads to Red Fort, for generations the symbol of British rule, where one of numerous ceremonies of lowering the Union Jack and raising the new tri-color will take place later in the day.

In Bombay, a red-turbaned Mahratta, tears blistening in his eyes, lustily beat an ancient drum and announced the end of Britain's rule at midnight. The provincial premier, B. G. Kher, hoisted the new Indian National Flag and recited a prayer in Sanskrit, while crowds hoarsely shouted "long live Gandhi" and "long live revolution." Gandhi, incidentally, was stoned in Calcutta.

But in embattled Punjab, the province that is to be split between Pakistan and India, wide sections of the city of Lahore and five Sikh temples were aflame and the dead were counted at 153 in murderous rioting between Moslems and non-Moslems since dawn Wednesday.

Disorders were set off by fears of communities that they would be left on the "wrong side" of the line—in Pakistan or India. Disorders spread east and west from Lahore and in Amritsar, Sikh center, 61 rioters were reported killed.

Status Is Temporary

The dominion status of India and Pakistan is only temporary. Each dominion is free to cut its strings entirely with the British Empire, and Hindu India's leaders declare they mean to go all the way ultimately to complete independence from Britain.

The deep-toned chimes announcing midnight in New Delhi made Jawaharlal Nehru, leading Congress Party minister, the Prime Minister of the new dominion, Mahomed Ali Jinnah, Moslem League leader who fathered Pakistan, takes the oath as Governor General of that dominion later in the day.

With a stirring shout the Assembly, already in session, greeted the new day and Nehru, imprisoned nine times by the British for political activities, declared over a loud speaker:

"Long years ago we made a tryst with destiny. Now the time comes when we shall redeem our pledges—not wholly or in full

Republicans Killed Chances by Record In Congress, Says Florida Senator

By Edward T. Folliard
Post Reporter

Senator Claude B. Pepper, heretofore a self-styled "Roosevelt Democrat," whose sharp criticism of the Administration has made him a hero to left-wingers, revealed himself yesterday as an all-out "Truman Democrat."

In a talk with reporters in the White House lobby, Pepper said that President Truman had done "an extraordinarily fine job" and predicted his election to a full, four-year term in 1948.

He said:

"I don't think there is any question but that the President should be and will be nominated, and should be and will be elected."

Attacks GOP Record

The Florida law maker, whose critics have dubbed him "Red" Pepper, praised Mr. Truman as sincere, honest and humane, and added that he was "the salt of the earth." He attacked the Republican Party's record in the Eightieth Congress and said it had removed all possibility of the GOP capturing the whole national government in 1948.

The political effects of Pepper's lyrical praise of Mr. Truman remained to be seen. Some thought that it would take the wind out of the sails of such groups as the "Wallace Democrats" in California, further lessen the prospect of any third-party movement in 1948, and help the Democrats in their get-out-the vote drive. Others thought that the Republicans might welcome Pepper's leap onto the Truman bandwagon.

President Truman, at a White House news conference earlier yesterday, took a crack at the Republican Party, agreeing that it had "torn up" the Labor Department and this in the face of a 1944 campaign pledge to concentrate all labor agencies in that department.

(The 1944 GOP platform charged that the Labor Department had been "emasculated" by the New Deal and said that "all governmental labor activities must be placed under the direct authority and responsibility of the Secretary of Labor.")

Mr. Truman sidestepped a question as to whether he favored Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson as chairman of the Democratic National Committee in case Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan quits that post. He replied, laughing, that he couldn't answer a question like that.

Seemingly authoritative reports have been circulated that the President expects Hannegan, who is suffering from high blood pressure, to make way for Anderson in the near future. Mr. Truman did nothing yesterday to knock down the reports.

Mr. Truman, asked if he favored a West Coast city as a site for the 1948 Democratic National Contion, said he would abide by the choice of the Democratic National Committee. Hannegan has favored a West Coast city, San Francisco or Los Angeles.

Senator Pepper called on President Truman just after the conclusion of yesterday's news conference. The purpose of his visit, he said later, was to ask Mr. Truman to receive a Miami drum and bugle corps on its way to the American Legion convention in New York on August 24. Mr. Truman had to say "No" to the request, but that did not temper Pepper's enthusiasm about the

Thousands Leave Jobs Early Again; Forecast Promises Thundershowers

A record scorcher blew its hot breath on Washington yesterday, sending local thermometers up to 96 degrees, the highest mark of the year.

And after announcing the record, the Weather Bureau consoled its sweltering public with the promise that today will be "not so warm"—only about 90—with increased cloudiness and scattered thundershowers during the afternoon.

Yesterday's peak mercury mark was reached at 3:06 p. m. The 96 figure topped by three degrees the previous high season mark which had been recorded on three days—June 11, July 30 and August 13.

By way of contrast, yesterday's low thermometer reading was 75 at 6:54 a. m.

The heat blast which hit the city sent temperatures spiraling in those offices without air conditioning. In some cases it was hotter in that out. One office reported a temperature of 98.

Workers Again Released Early

Several thousand District and Federal Government workers were released from their jobs early because of the heat.

All workers in the District Building who could be spared were let go at 3 p. m. Department heads in other buildings were also instructed to release all but necessary employes. The order did not apply to the Municipal Center which is air-conditioned.

The Weather Bureau—which should certainly have been aware of the heat—said it gave an early release to about 250 employes "in the hottest, least comfortable offices" in the District.

The General Accounting Office released 1300 workers at 3:30 p. m. Several thousand Government workers in other buildings were also let go early.

Record for Date is 100

It was a hot August 14 yesterday, but it still didn't measure up to August 14 in 1872 and 1926 on both of which days the mercury hit 100.

The higher temperatures yesterday were tempered by a lowered humidity, a factor which made the heat less stifling. Police and hospitals reported no cases of heat prostration in the District during the day.

The Midwest, which has been suffering scorching heat in recent weeks while the East received lower temperatures, was relieved yesterday by a cool air mass which moved in. The temperature in Chicago dropped to the 70s.

Nears 100 in Boston

However, as the mercury dropped in the Midwest, it shot up along the Eastern Seaboard. In Boston, the temperature was a fraction short of the 100-degree mark.

Locally, the hot weather was resulting in a record consumption of water. W. T. Van Doren, engineer in charge of conservation and consumption data, said approximately 188,970,000 gallons of water were used in the District Wednesday, an all-time record.

In Falls Church, Mayor Fenner Hazelgrove proclaimed a water shortage and forbid the use of water for any purpose other than domestic. Persons found watering lawns or gardens or washing cars are subject to a $25 fine for the first offense and a $50 fine for the second offense.

Marshall Asks Americas to Set Unity Example

Rio Conference Can Show World Resolve For Peace, He Says

By R. H. Shackford

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Secretary of State George C. Marshall today asked the American nations to give a divided world such an example of solidarity that it would lead to world peace and security.

After receiving a tremendous ovation from thousands gathered at the airfield where he arrived from the United States in President Truman's plane, Marshall drove to the American Embassy to prepare for tomorrow's opening of the Inter-American conference on hemispheric peace and security.

He was greeted by Brazilian Foreign Minister Raul Fernandez, former Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha and Brazil's top military leaders.

Paying tribute to Brazil's war effort, Secretary Marshall described this country as the "corridor of victory."

Counts on Cooperation

"I am confident," he said, "that under the leadership of President (Gaspar) Dutra and Foreign Minister (Raul) Fernandez, and with the contribution of all those assembled in the Inter-American conference for continental peace and security, we shall be successful in giving an example of solidarity of which we may all be proud."

The Secretary arrived at Galearo airfield, in Rio de Janeiro Bay in the "Sacred Cow," shortly after 1 p. m. EDT and then was flown in U. S. Ambassador William D. Pawley's private plane to Santos Dumont airport, outside the city.

He was accompanied by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.) chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Warren R. Austin, U. S. representative to the United Nations. Their wives were with them.

Mrs. Marshall, wearing a large orchid, was the first to step off the plane.

In a statement, Marshall said:

Cost of Living Hits New High, Food Up 1½%

Truman Okays Inquiry, But Doesn't Expect It To Force Prices Down

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

Even overshadowing the heat, the high cost of living attracted the Nation's attention yesterday.

At his morning press conference President Truman approved Attorney General Tom Clark's proposed investigation of high prices. He didn't expect, he told newsmen, that the investigation would force down prices, but he predicted it would expose those charging prices higher than warranted.

While he was talking to newsmen, the Bureau of Labor Statistics was reporting that in June the consumers' price index had hit a record high. The cost of living, BLS said, hit 157.1 in June, compared with 100 in 1935-39. The previous high was 156.3 last March.

The family food bill, BLS statisticians figure, rose 1½ per cent between May 15 and June 15 (a rate of 18 per cent a year).

At the Capitol, Chairman Jesse Wolcott (R., Mich.) of the powerful House Banking Committee, predicted that a "general price decline is coming." Prices, he said, have reached their peak, and it would be a "grave mistake" to restore price controls.

From the Agriculture Department the Bureau of Agricultural Economics forecast little change in prices of food products during the next few months.

The reason, BAE said, is that wages and employment are both at record high levels, and may be expected to remain high.

However, BAE added, the consumption of food per capita is likely to be lower this year than last. Two reasons were advanced: (1) the high birth rate, and babies don't consume as much food as grownups, and (2) fewer persons are eating military supplies, or, in other words, the armed forces are smaller, and soldiers eat more than civilians.

President Truman also told his press conference that his cabinet food committee is studying the

U. S. Waives Italian Debt Of One Billion

Agreement Boosts Tottering Economy Against Pressure

By Marshall Andrews
Post Reporter

The United States yesterday moved to bolster Italy's tottering economy by forgiving a billion dollars in debts owed this Government.

Obviously designed to strengthen Italy against Communist pressure, the waiver was contained in an agreement signed here yesterday after three months of negotiation. It would, the State Department said, alleviate some of the "burdensome clauses" of the Italian peace treaty.

Acting Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett made it clear in announcing the agreement that it would not be regarded as a precedent for easing the terms of treaties with Germany and Japan. Italy, he explained, was "clearly distinguished" from other former enemies by her own action in overthrowing the Fascist regime and joining the Allies as a co-belligerent.

The Italian government, in turn,

Ruhr Housing, Tool Groups Begin Studies

Delegates to the Anglo-American conference to increase Ruhr coal production yesterday formed two subcommittees to study technical details of housing and equipment for the Ruhr mines.

A State Department spokesman reported "satisfactory progress" in working out the agenda of the discussions and the machinery for carrying them out. He added that no mention of nationalization of the mines had been made so far in the talks.

The two subcommittees already have begun their work with general discussions of the technical problems of housing and the procurement of equipment.

In the field of housing, members of the subcommittee are confronted with questions of means to secure better housing conditions, how to secure dwelling units and how to secure more construction materials quickly.

The equipment subcommittee is concerned with the technical details of where to get more badly needed equipment into the mines and how to pay for it. Most needed items are belting, cable, pneumatic picks, conveyors and wire rope, for which it is expected some system of priorities will be established.

11 Fires Light Tel Aviv as Riots Resume

Six Killed, 48 Hurt On Fifth Day of Arab-Jewish Strife

Tel Aviv, Palestine, Aug. 14 (AP).—Fires ignited in racial conflict flared tonight above the blood-splotched streets of a no-man's land between the twin cities of Arab Jaffa and Jewish Tel Aviv, where 6 died and 48 were wounded in a fifth day of strife.

Eleven fires were burning and smoke hung over the eastern section of Tel Aviv. Soldiers with fixed bayonets patrolled three "border" quarters of the twin cities—Manshieh, Carton and Abu Kebir.

A dusk-to-down curfew, imposed yesterday on Manshieh and Carton, fountainheads of the five days' trouble in which 15 have been killed and 86 injured, was extended tonight to Abu Kebir.

Violence Resumes

Violence erupted at noon in a riot of stabbing, shooting, stoning, clubbing and burning throughout the half-mile square of squalid slums where Arabs and oriental Jews live, fight and die together.

The eruption was touched off by the discharge of an Arab porter by a Jewish firm. He found he had been replaced by a Jewish porter, whom he promptly stabbed seriously.

The Jew's friends chased the Arab for two blocks, but lost him. They vented their anger on an Arab truck driver. The Arab was killed and his companion was injured.

Make Fine Bricklayers

Six Policemen Help to Build Municipal Building Quarters

By Alfred E. Lewis

As policemen they make very fine bricklayers, carpenters and plasterers.

A half dozen of the District's finest have been detailed to help build an addition to the cell block in the basement of the Municipal building so that No. 1 Precinct can move there. Police headquarters is affeady there.

Shortly after taking office July 1, Maj. Robert J. Barrett, Superintendent of Police, announced plans to move No. 1 Precinct station from its present condemned site at New Jersey ave. and E st. nw.

However it was found that the District construction men were so busy renovating schools during the summer vacation and doing other jobs that they would not be able to get to the Police Department job for nine months. So the Police Department decided to do it themselves.

These policemen were assigned and are now on the job during working hours:

Detective Sergt. R. E. Williams of the pawn inspectors office, serving as chief architect and carpenter.

Detective Sergt. Harold Huffman, ace homicide squad investigator, serving as a bricklayer.

Detective Sergt. G. W. Chapman, general assignment squad investigator serving as a carpenter.

Corpl. M. S. McCarthy, accident investigation unit, serving as a carpenter.

Pvt. Walter Clark, accident investigation unit, serving as a bricklayer.

Pvt. W. S. Rinker, patrolman, serving as a carpenter.

[Detective sergeants earn $4210.-70 annually, corporals earn $3,668.-97 and full grade privates earn $3398.11. Editors Note.]

The Police Department is begging and borrowing both men and material to complete the job as soon as possible.

The Sewer Department loaned two of its skilled laborers to assist in mixing the cement and laying the bricks. They are LeRoy Hall and Albert Garner. The Sewer Department also loaned the Police Department the bricks to build the two office additions to the 48-man cell block.

The Police Department will either repay the Sewer Department in kind or cash. Other material

Defends Atom Bomb Use

Truman Still Hopeful of Peace 2 Years After War's End

President Truman, on the second anniversity of the end of World War II, said yesterday that he was still hopeful of world peace. And he said that, much as he had hated to make the decision, he still thought he was right in ordering the first atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima, since it saved 250,000 American lives.

Mr. Truman wore a solemn expression as he talked to reporters at a White House news conference.

"Mr. President," a reporter asked, "do you have any comment on the state of the world two years after VJ-Day?"

Recalls Two Years Ago

The Chief Executive replied that he had been thinking about that very thing earlier in the morning. He recalled how he had called reporters in at 7 p. m. on August 14, 1946, and announced Japan's surrender and the end of hostilities.

He said he had expected at that time that we would have arrived at a peaceful settlement of affairs of the world by this time. He regretted to say that we have not yet arrived at this situation.

But, he went on to say, he was still hopeful that we will have peace in the world and for the benefit of all the peoples of the world, as he stated in his VJ-Day proclamation two years ago.

Cites Second Guess

James L. Wright, correspondent of the Buffalo Evening News, reminded the President that there had been a lot of second guessing on the atomic bomb in the interval. He said that a Colonel Feller, who was a brigadier under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, had said that the war could have been won without the atomic bomb. Did the President have any comment?

Mr. Truman, in a soft voice, told Correspondent Wright that when he was going to school, a

U. S. and Canada Are Building Network of Arctic Air Bases

By John G. Norris

The United States and Canada have nearly completed three bases along the northern coast of North America which will open the vast frozen Arctic area to aerial operations.

Army Air Forces officials yesterday admitted existence of the multi-million dollar joint project upon inquiry by The Washington Post and predicted the bases would be in operation by late October.

They will be equipped with Loran—low frequency, long-range navigation equipment—and form a network. The "master," or main station is to be at Campbell Lake, near the northwestern corner of Canada. The two "slave," or subsidiary stations will be at Point Barrow, Alaska, and on Cambridge Bay on the south coast of Victoria Island, off the north coast of Canada.

Work on the three stations has been quietly under way for months. Tremendous obstacles had to be overcome in transporting the huge steel towers and other equipment to the isolated outposts.

Officials stressed the important peacetime uses of the Loran network. Planes equipped with receivers can easily determine their position at any time while flying over huge areas in which other types of navigational aids do not exist.

The new Arctic navigational system, it was said, would prove of great advantage to any air transport company planning flights to

Mountbatten Says Farewell

Yesterday in Karachi, Mountbatten paid his formal farewell to the part of India that becomes Pakistan.

Moslem League slogans were shouted by hundreds waiting at the Assembly gates as Jinnah drove up, followed a few minutes later by Mountbatten.

Calling the birth of the new dominion "an event in history," the viceroy said, "tomorrow two new sovereign states will take their place in the Commonwealth; not young nations but heirs of old and proud civilization; full independent states whose leaders are statesmen already known and respected throughout the world; not immature governments, or weak, but fit to carry their great share of responsibility for peace and progress of the world."

He read a message from King George VI, now no longer Emperor, predicting "your future happiness and prosperity."

Responding, Jinnah said, "it shall be our constant effort to work for the welfare and well-being of all communities in Pakistan."

France Offers Trade Rights

Paris, Aug. 14.—France offered today to cede to India her rights to free trade in 12 French territorial enclaves in India.

These enclaves, or autonomous French ports, are situated near large Indian shipping centers and since 1783 France has had the right to use these enclaves without submitting to British customs or fiscal controls. The more important of these enclaves were Calicutsurate on the Malabar coast, Goretti-Cassim-Bazar, Patma, Dacca and Balasore on the Bengal coast, and Mazulipatam on the Orissa coast.

Indian Embassy Here To Mark Independence

The close of British rule in India will be celebrated at 10:30 a. m. today in ceremonies in front of the Indian Embassy at 2700 Macomb st. nw. Asaf Ali, Indian Ambassador to the United States, will hoist the new Indian flag, a tri-colour of saffron, white and green, and address guests.

New Dominions Welcomed

President Truman welcomed the new British dominions of India and Pakistan into the family of nations tonight with messages of assurances of the firm friendship of the United States.

An agreement between Pakistan and the United States to exchange ambassadors was announced by the State Department as the new dominion came into being.

Charles W. Lewis, jr., of Carlsbad, N. M., American consul general at Karachi, was designated as counselor of the new American embassy to be set up in the Pakistan capital. He will serve as the top American diplomatic representative until an ambassador is named.

Henry F. Grady already is United States ambassador at New Delhi and will continue to serve in that capacity to the new Dominion of India (Hindustan).

U. S. Signs Pact Forgiving Italian Debt of One Billion

agreed to return to American owners, in good order, their property in Italy. To facilitate settlement of claims, the Italian government will pay to the United States five million dollars before the end of this year from which valid claims will be paid.

United States Waives Claims

Highlights of the agreement are:

1. The United States waives all claims to some 523 million dollars in civilian supplies furnished by the American Army to Italian civilians and 305 millions for occupation costs. About 175 million in miscellaneous debts also was waived, making a total of one billion dollars.

2. Approximately 60 million dollars in blocked Italian property and assets in the United States will be unfrozen when the owners are certified as non-Fascist.

3. This Government will turn over 28 merchant vessels to the Italian government. Of these, 15 will be Liberty ships to replace Italian vessels seized and lost during the war, 8 are Italian ships to be returned and 5 are ships purchased from other American republics which had seized them in their waters.

4. The United States will redeem 10 to 15 million dollars in script issued to Italian prisoners of war held in this country. The script will be redeemed in lira bought with dollars.

To Settle Prewar Claims

5. Italy agreed to make every effort toward an early settlement of prewar claims of American nationals against the Italian government and Italian nationals, and proposed a settlement on prewar Italian bonds on which principal and interest total about 36 million dollars.

The State Department later announced an agreement among Britain, France, Italy and the United States to dispose of German assets in Italy.

The pact provides for four-power collaboration to remove the German external assets from control of German interests. German-owned trade-marks and patents are not affected.

A special account will be credited with the proceeds from the liquidation of German assets. The money later will be disposed of by the U. S., Britain and France under the Italian peace treaty.

Group Meets In Rome

A committee, composed of one representative from each of the governments, will meet in Rome to decide on liquidation procedure.

Preliminary discussions of a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation between the United States and Italy were held by the two delegations and a draft treaty was worked out. Negotiations on the treaty will be held in Rome this fall.

In a joint statement, Lovett and Ivan Matteo Lombardo, head of the Italian delegation, said the understandings had been "worked out in a common desire to assist Italy and at the same time to protect the rights of nationals of both countries." Lovett said he hoped the release of blocked Italian property and the transfer of ships to Italy would "alleviate to some extent Italy's difficult financial position."

A State Department spokesman said a similar agreement had been signed between Great Britain and Italy, but with less extensive concessions to the former enemy country.

U. S. and Canada Are Building Network of Arctic Air Bases

Europe over the short across-the-pole route. Such operations are not feasible now.

While not mentioned, the importance of the new Loran bases in wartime bombing operations across the top of the earth is obvious.

Range of the network was not given, but it was said to cover all of Canada, the northern part of the United States, Alaska and the entire top of the earth. Ships operating in the Arctic Ocean, Bering Sea and Alaskan Gulf also can navigate by the system.

Land expeditions, exploring the frozen northland, also will benefit if equipped with Loran receivers.

Canada is paying the construction costs of the Cambridge Bay and Campbell Lake bases, while United States money is building that at Point Barrow. Initially the two Canadian stations will be operated jointly, until enough Canadian operators and technicians have been trained. The AAF's Airways and Air Communications Service is carrying on this training and will operate the Point Barrow station.

All of the Loran equipment is American, and most of the highly difficult job of supply has been handled by the United States Army Air Forces Air Transport Command.

There is an airfield at Point Barrow and Campbell Lake was supplied by water, but the task of moving in heavy construction equipment, steel towers, Loran transmitter, fuel and food to the Victoria Island outpost was one of the most difficult in ATC history.

During "Project Beetle," the ATC planes loaded up 1400 tons of equipment at Churchill, on Hudson Bay, and made over 200 round-trips to the isolated site.

The heavy planes had to land on the frozen ice of Cambridge Bay, which was kept clear of drifting snow by bulldozer crews working in subzero temperature. There were no major accidents during the entire job—concluded when warm weather permitted ships to get through.

First of Twins Cries Full Hour Before Birth

Cincinnati, Ohio., Aug. 14 (AP).—A rare case of an infant crying a full hour before birth was reported today by Dr. Joseph Crotty, Cincinnati obstetrician.

Dr. Crotty said the baby was delivered normally and that her birth was followed quickly by that of a twin sister. Both infants and mother were reported in excellent condition.

Other physicians and house residents at the Good Samaritan Hospital, where the delivery took place, were called in, Dr. Crotty added, and said the crying was audible.

"Several years ago two or three cases of this kind were reported from Lying-In Hospital, New York City," Dr. Crotty said, "but in more than 10 years of specializing in this field this is the first time I have encountered it."

ment the mutual pledges taken in the Act of Chapultepec, giving them treaty form within the framework of the United Nations Charter, as an earnest of our solemn resolve that the nations of the Pan American system will unitedly do their utmost to see that peace is maintained in this hemisphere."

He recalled that he had been in Rio eight years ago and during the war he passed through northern Brazil, "along the corridor of victory," many times.

From the airport he drove immediately to the United States Embassy to prepare for President Dutra's reception this evening.

Senator Connally (D., Tex.) also arrived with Representative Sol Bloom (D., N. Y.). Ambassador William B. Pawley greeted them aboard the liner Normacsaga.

Other arrivals included Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations. He will address the opening plenary session tomorrow.

Communist Line on Parley

Moscow, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—The United States will run into trouble at the Rio de Janeiro Inter-American Defense Conference, but in the end will accomplish its objectives by force and intimidation, Yuri Zhukov said today in the Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

Riots Mark India's Independence Eve

Leading Dates In Britain's Rule of India

London, Aug. 14 (U.P.). — The course of British rule in India:

December 31, 1600—Queen Elizabeth incorporates London East India Co. under royal charter.

1662 — Catherine of Breganza brings Bombay to Charles II as part of dowry.

1699-1720 — Fearful of Napoleon's ambitions, Britain brings nearly all of princely states under East India Co.

1877—Queen Victoria becomes Empress of India.

1947—(July)—King George VI gives royal assent to India Independence Act, inaugurating two Indian dominions.

1947—(August 15) — India becomes self-governing as dominions of Hindustan and Pakistan. King George gives up title of Emperor.

Between now and next June 30, the two dominions will choose whether they will remain in the British Commonwealth, with the same complete independence as Canada, or become independent states.

The new face of India:

HINDUSTAN

Area 600,000 square miles. Population 200 million. Flag orange, white and green with 24-spoked wheel in center. Governor General, Admiral Viscount Mountbatten. Capital New Delhi.

PAKISTAN

Area 260,000 square miles—60,000 miles in eastern section, 200,000 in western section. Population 60 million. Flag white and green, one fourth starting at staff white, remainder green; Moslem Crescent and five-pointed star on white part. Governor General Mohammed Ali Jinna. Capital Karachi.

PRINCELY STATES

About 565 in all, scattered over Indian. Area 700,000 square miles. Population 95 million. States totaling 600,000 square miles with 85 million people expected to adhere to Hindustan, remainder to Pakistan.

RESOURCES

Hindustan includes largest cities such as Bombay, Calcutta, Madras and New Delhi, and greatest agricultural and industrial resources. Pakistan includes big food and jute producing areas, vital to life and industry.

153 Reported Killed In Lahore; Fires Sweep Many Sections

Lahore, India, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—Fires swept through many sections of Lahore today, and bloody disorders spread into East and West Punjab on the eve of Indian independence which will result in division of the province between the Hindu and Moslem dominions. A reliable unofficial count placed the casualties at 153 persons killed in Lahore, provincial capital, and at least 136 injured since dawn yesterday.

Across India in Calcutta, capital of Bengal which also will be split between the two new dominions, a mob of angry Hindu youths threw stones yesterday and invaded the residence where Mohandas K. Gandhi and H. S. Suhrawardy, chief minister of Bengal, had set up a joint peace mission to quell ill-feeling between Moslems and non-Moslems. Neither was injured by the crowd, which attacked the house and shouted to Gandhi to "go back" or at least to take his non-violence preaching somewhere other than Bengal.

Gandhi Remains Aloof

(Dispatches from Calcutta said that Gandhi received a deputation of Hindu youths this morning who asked why he did not go to the Moslem majority section of Calcutta. Gandhi told them that "man's madness knows no communal or racial barriers." The group dispersed quietly after Gandhi said: "If you still prefer to use violence to remove me, it's not me, but my corpse that will have to be taken out from here.")

In this province, outbursts—the worst in five months—were blamed on the concern of Moslem and non-Moslem majorities that the forthcoming report of the boundary commission for the punjab might deprive them both of coveted areas.

Newspaper dispatches said that in Amritsar, about 50 miles east of Lahore and one of the trouble centers in the province, a joint military force yesterday killed 61 rioters armed with mortars, Bren and Sten guns.

Gigantic flames lit up the western horizon at Lahore today.

Gen. Rees, commander of the special military boundary force, said in a communique that "in some cases troops have intercepted and severely handled gangs of both communities."

Damascus Newsman Jailed for Comment

Damascus, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Georges Phares, correspondent for the Reuters news agency, was sentenced today to 18 months imprisonment on charges of publishing a story detrimental to the republic and to public order.

After general elections in Syria, Phares commented that the results showed that public opinion did not want a republic but a monarchy. He appealed.

Jamboree's Worst Headache Is Polish 'Gate Crashers'

Moisson, France, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Henri van Essenterre, head of the foreign relations section of the sixth international scout jamboree, said today that Polish scouts attempting to crash the jamboree gates were causing him more trouble than all the other delegations put together.

Scouts who fall under the Warsaw Polish government and the Polish-government-in-exile were both turned down, Van Essenterre said. But they were still trying to get in.

Van Essenteree, who is France's international scout commissioner, reported that Warsaw Poles were refused entry because they swore allegiance to their government. He pointed out that this violated scout regulations which permitted only allegiance to a flag or a country.

The exile government scouts were turned down because they did not represent a national entity, Van Essenterre added.

U. S. Is Probing 8 Convict Deaths

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 14 (A.P.).—United States District Attorney J. Saxton Daniel announced today the Department of Justice is investigating the slaying of eight Negro convicts by guards at a Georgia prison camp near Brunswick July 11. Daniel said evidence obtained by the FBI would be presented to a federal grand jury here September 29.

Guards opened fire on 27 Negro convicts after Warden H. G. Worthy said they attempted to escape. Eight were killed and two others recovered from wounds. A county grand jury exonerated the warden and five guards.

Surveyors' Tools Now Include Psychology, Radar, Electronic

The Washington Post

Elsie Braund, of 1545 Key blvd., Arlington, Va., tries to fathom a fathometer, which, naturally, measures the depth of water. It's on exhibit at the seventh annual meeting of the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping at the Hotel Statler

A surveyor nowadays it was revealed yesterday at the opening of the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping at Hotel Statler, should know a lot about many things—including psychology!

Given a worn map and an assortment of almost illegible data, a surveyor with a good knowledge of human reactions may be able to determine just what occurred in the mind of some eighteenth century settler to put a boundary where it is.

What's more, a delegate pointed out, the present-day surveyor, unlike those of George Washington's time, must be familiar with radar and other developments in the field of electronics.

The field has grown so much that many educators, including Professor George H. Harding of Ohio State University, feel that the surveyor's preparation in school has not kept pace with the demands of his job.

Today at 1:30 p. m. there will be a discussion of "topographic Mapping by Photogrammetric Methods" and at 2:30 S. W. Seeley, director of the industry service laboratory, Radio Corp. of America, will discuss electronic developments.

Some 300 delegates from 26 States, Canada, Sweden, Switzerland, Brazil and other foreign countries are attending the two-day meeting.

Greek Attack On Guerillas Is Reported

Athens, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Reliable military sources reported today that Greek army ground and air forces had launched a major attack on the guerilla stronghold in the Mount Grammos area, near the Albanian frontier.

The sources did not give details. They described the operations as "large and important," with the air forces participating "actively."

The Rightist newspaper Estia said that the army began mopping up operations four days ago in the Grammos sector, the scene of large-scale guerilla-government battling last month.

A member of Dwight Griswold's American Air Mission said that he had been told by officials that 230,000 refugees had swarmed out of guerilla-raided territories in the last six months. Ninety thousand of these entered Salonika, he said.

The government, clearing up the mystery of the plane with "red star" markings which made a forced landing in central Greece, said the plane was used for malaria control.

Bus Drivers, Police Clash in Venezuela

Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 14 (U.P.). More than 40 labor leaders, mostly Communists, were arrested today following a series of clashes late last night and yesterday between police and striking bus drivers.

Nearly 2000 drivers are affected by the stoppage. The clashes occurred when the government attempted to maintain service with vehicles driven or protected by policemen.

World Peace Still in Sight

bright young student got up one day and outlined all the moves that should have been made by General Lee and General Meade at the Battle of Gettysburg.

He recalled the remark which an old professor made at the time: "Any schoolboy's afterthought is worth more than the greatest general's forethought."

And that, Mr. Truman said, was true in this case.

"Then so far as you are concerned, you have no doubts about dropping the bomb?" the President was asked.

Mr. Truman said that he never had any doubt that it was necessary. He said he didn't have any doubt at the time. He hated to make that decision to loose the bomb on Hiroshima; anybody would. But in the interest of saving the lives of some 250,000 young men, he thought it was right. And he still thinks so.

Turning to the Rio de Janeiro Conference, where the American republics start today drafting a treaty to repel aggression in the New World, Mr. Truman said that he was confident that it would be successful.

He was asked if he could foresee anything that might happen between now and Christmas that would make him change his opinion about there being no need of a special session of Congress.

He said that there was nothing on the horizon now.

Asked if the United States was taking note of the clamor for a "Marshall Plan" for Latin America, Mr. Truman said that he thought that a Marshall Plan had long been in effect in the Western Hemisphere. He said it was known as the Monroe Doctrine.

Great Britain's Dollar Balances Again Depleted

London, Aug. 14. — Great Britain's dwindling dollar balances were further depleted today with completion of an agreement with Indians providing for immediate release of 35 million pounds of blocked sterling balances.

The agreement, which covers both the Pakistan and India dominions, entering the British commonwealth of nations as separate independent states today, stipulates that the sum will be available "for expenditure in any currency area up to December 31, 1947."

Treasury officials expressed confidence that the two dominions would only use about 15 million pounds wort hof dollars to meet payments for grain from the United States and Argentina, but even this sum of 60 million dollars represents heavy inroads on the fast disappearing credits still remaining from the $3,750,000,000 United States loan.

Textile Workers Quit Work 'Due to Heat'

Woonsocket, R. I., Aug. 14 (AP).—Several thousand textile workers who were told last week by their union local that they must remain on the job on V-J Day today walked out because of what several unofficial spokesmen said was "the heat."

Pepper Lauds Truman Record, Predicts Reelection in 1948

Chief Executive's availability for a full four-year term.

The Florida Senator was asked if he had any "favorite" Republican opponent for Mr. Truman in '48. No, he said, he didn't, since anyone the GOP named "would be under the control of the reactionary Old Guard that puts up the money."

Did he think Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would be drafted by the Republicans? Pepper said that he admired General Eisenhower but didn't know whether he was a Republican or not.

"I think such a good man is entitled to the presumption that he is a Democrat," he added. "Under our system of law, a man is presumed to be innocent until he is proved guilty."

Pepper's favorable remarks on Mr. Truman yesterday were in sharp contrast to some of the things he has said in the past. A year ago, talking about his availability as a Vice Presidential nominee, Pepper was asked whether he would run on a ticket with Henry A. Wallace as the Presidential nominee.

"Yes, I would rather have Wallace," he was quoted as saying.

In September of last year, he addressed the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the A. F. Whitney organization, and said Mr. Truman's White House advisers were "reactionaries." Earlier he had charged that the United States and other powers were "ganging up on Russia."

No Third Party, Says PAC Aide

Kansas City, Aug. 14 (AP).—David J. McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the CIO Political Action Committee, says the PAC has no intention of building a third party and that the "drive for labor goals will be made through the established parties."

possibility of cutting down corn exports to halt rising corn prices, and also to conserve corn.

President Truman offered no suggestions as to how food prices might be pulled down. But he gave a verbal stiff-arm to a CIO proposal that he call a conference of business, farm and labor leaders to seek voluntary price cuts. He called one, he said, in 1945, on labor peace, and it was a failure.

Only another depression can bring down the high cost of living, Senator Claude Pepper (D., Fla.) said, after a conference with President Truman.

The Florida Democrat declared it is too late to revive price controls.

Reds Reject Protests In Oil Plant Seizure

Vienna, Aug. 14 (AP)—Gen. V. V. Kurasov, Russian high commissioner for Austria, rejected American and British protests of the Soviet seizure of Vienna's Lobau oil refinery today on the ground it was a German asset.

The plant, in the Soviet zone of Austria, was seized completely August 5. It was owned by a German-incorporated subsidiary of the Socony Vacuum Oil Co. of New York and Anglo-Saxon (Shell) Petroleum, Ltd., of London.

U. S. Arraigns 21 Directors Of I. G. Farben

Nuernberg, Aug. 14 (AP). — Twenty-one of Germany's most powerful industrialists, directors in the billion-dollar I. G. Farben chemical trust, entered pleas of innocence today at their arraignment before an American war crimes court on charges of plotting the war for profit.

Three other directors in the gigantic Farben web will be tried later.

Trial of the 21 was set for August 27.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief prosecutor, in a 20,000-word indictment, charged that the dye and chemical trust was the heart of the Nazi war effort. He accused the Farben directorate of helping plan the war, synchronizing its activities with the military high command, stockpiling critical war materials during the peace years, plundering subjugated countries, and systematically killing off slave labor with overwork or subjecting the laborers to medical experiments.

Taylor said the trust consisted of 400 German firms and owned its own railroads and mines, power plants and coke ovens. He asserted that Farben's foreign participation in industry involved more than 500 firms, spreading a virtual blanket over Europe and elsewhere.

The defendants include some of the most influential, yet least known, industrial leaders of Central Europe: Carl Krauch, Herman Schmitz, Georg von Schmitzer, Fritz Gajewski, Heinrich Herlein, August von Knieriem, Fritz der Meer, Christian Schmeder, Otto Ambrog, Max Brueggemann, Ernst Buergin, Heinrich Buetefisch, Paul Harfliger, Max Ilgner, Friedrich Jaehne, Hans Kuehne, Carl Lautenschlaeger, Wilhelm Mann, Heinrich Oster, Karl Wurster, Walter Duerfeld, Heinrich Gattineau, Erich von der Heyge and Hans Kuggler.

Democrats Hit Senate Unit's Hughes Probe

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) and Gael Sullivan, director of the Democratic National Committee, joined yesterday in pointing with scorn at the Senate War Investigating Committee for its abortive probe of Howard Hughes.

President Truman, first chairman of the committee when he was a Senator from Missouri, disassociated himself from it altogether. Asked about it at his news conference, the President smiled and reminded his questioner that it was no longer the Truman Committee.

Pepper called for an end to all special congressional investigating committees and labelled the war investigating body "a prosecuting attorney without power to convict." Pepper is a member of the committee.

Sullivan, in Cincinnati, was reported by the Associated Press to have termed the committee the "Brewster-Ferguson smear-and-run machine" and said it only dragged the Senate's dignity "in the mud."

A subcommittee of the War Investigating Committee suddenly adjourned a probe of aircraft contracts awarded Hughes last week in the midst of charges and countercharges, some of which involved Chairman Brewster (R., Me.) of the full committee.

Eviction Ruling Held Dependent Upon Size of Dog

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP).—Whether or not a tenant can be evicted because he owns a dog may depend on the size of the dog, a renter's court judge ruled today.

Judge Samuel Heller decided that Sherman Applebaum and his family could reman in the apartment from which their landlord, Walter Glaczenski, sought to evict them on the ground that their dog, an Irish setter, was a nuisance because it was too big.

Judge Heller advised the Applebaums to trade "Terry," the Irish setter, for a smaller dog, say one about the same size as "Queenie," the Spitz-Fox Terrier owned by Glaczenski.

22 Nazis Are Ordered Hanged For Atrocities at Buchenwald

Dachau, Aug. 14 (AP).—Twenty-two Nazi officials of the Buchenwald concentration camp were sentenced to hang by an American war crimes court today, but Frau Ilse Koch, red-haired widow of a former commandant, who allegedly collected the tattooed skins of inmates for lampshades, was among those who received a life sentence.

Frau Koch, 41, is expected to give birth next month to a baby conceived in prison.

Four other defendants were sentenced to life, one to 20 years, two to 15 years and one to 10 years.

The prosecution charged the defendants with responsibility for the deaths of 53,000 camp inmates and the torturing of thousands of others. All defendants were convicted two days ago.

Among those receiving death sentences were Hermann Pister, a former camp commandant, and Max Schobert, former camp leader.

Among those receiving life sentences was Prince Josias Ze Walbeck, a confidant of Hitler and first German of royal blood to be tried for war crimes. Another was Edwin Katzen-Ellenbogen, 64, a former resident of the United States and one of the camp physicians.

Jap Prison Camp Suicide Pact Brought 6 Deaths, Jury Hears

Reno, Nev., Aug. 14 (U.P.).—The strange pact of eight Canadian and American soldiers who vowed to commit suicide if the postwar world failed to justify the horrors they experienced in a Japanese prison camp was disclosed today by Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr.

Vanderbilt told the tale to a coroner's jury inquiring into the death of his personal secretary, Canadian-born Melvin C. Robers, 27.

Six of the eight men who were the only survivors of Japanese "guinea pig" medical experiments that wiped out 75 per cent of Robert's regiment now have fulfilled their pledge, Vanderbilt said.

Roberts, a staff sergeant in Hongkong in 1941, was one of them.

Doesn't Remember Names

The identities of the other five dead and the two still living remained a mystery because Vanderbilt said he forgot the names told him by Roberts while the latter brooded over his prison camp treatment and the state of the world today.

The jury verdict read:

"Actually, this (Robert's) death should be considered as an honorable war casualty."

Vanderbilt pointed out the significance of the date of Roberts' death—August 9. He said the group was liberated on August 9, 1945, and that one of the men committed suicide on August 9 a year later.

Family Will Understand

"He (Roberts) told me he had gone to see 'Bob' in San Francisco but that when he rang the doorbell a woman answered. She told him her husband had taken his life August 9, 1946, just one year after all eight were released from the prison camp," he recounted.

Another time, Vanderbilt said, Roberts told him he had telephoned a former flier in Waco, Texas, and was told the flier committed suicide a few weeks earlier.

A holographic will contained this note to his family:

"Please forgive this cowardly way out. My family, who know best the tortures of my past, will understand."

Izvestia Predicts Light Penalty for Anti-Soviet Signs

The "fascists" who placed derogatory signs around the Soviet Embassy, 1125 16th st. nw., some two weeks ago will get off with light sentences "if they are even brought to trial," the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia predicted yesterday in Moscow.

The Department of Justice, to which the State Department has turned for action in the case, has the matter "under active study," a spokesman said.

When four individuals placed the signs on the Soviet grounds on July 31, two of them identified themselves to reporters as members of the Christian Youth of America. One said the signs were to advertise a speech by Gerald L. K. Smith on August 3 at the Washington Monument Grounds.

Unions at Peak But Digging In, Gibson Says

Kansas City, Aug. 14 (AP).—John W. Gibson, Assistant Secretary of Labor, said today that with 15 million members, the organized labor movement is at new peak but unions have "been put on the defensive" since the war.

Gibson

They have to "justify their acts and their methods if not their very existence," Gibson said in a speech to the convention of the CIO Oil Workers International Union.

Gibson declared that Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, far from resigning in protest against Congress-voted shrinkage of the the Labor Department, is "going to stay on the job."

"The Secretary of Labor believes wholeheartedly that the preservation of free collective bargaining and free labor unions is one of the essentials of our democratic way of life," Gibson continued.

"He's going to continue to work for a strong Department of Labor."

Gibson said that "despite the charge that strikes have hindered reconversion, the best proof to the contrary is the fact that American workers last year turned in a record of peacetime production that has never been equalled in our history."

Senate Group Calls Ranking Steel Chiefs

Eleven top ranking steel industry officials yesterday were asked to appear before a special Senate Committee September 12 "for a frank and open discussion" of steel supply and distribution problems.

The invitations went out from Senator Martin (R., Pa.), chairman of a steel subcommittee of the Senate Small Business Committee.

Martin also announced that President William Green of the American Federation of Labor has been invited to testify before the group on September 11. President Philip Murray of the CIO United Steel workers is listed as witness for the same day.

Steel company officials receiving the Senate invitation include:

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Co.; Eugene Grace, chairman, Bethlehem Steel Corp.; Tom M. Girdler, chairman Republic Steel Corp.; Ben Morrell, chairman and president, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.; Frank Purnell, president, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.; Ernest T. Weir, chairman, National Steel Corp.; Wilfred Sykes, president, Inland Steel Co.; Charles R. Hook, president, American Rolling Mill Co.; Henry A. Roemer, chairman and president, Sharon Steel Co.; Archie J. McFarland, president, Wheeling Steel Corp.; and Highland G. Batcheller, president, Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp.

Just a Curtain-Raiser

Oakland, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP).—Henry J. Kaiser returned from Washington today and predicted the Senate inquiry into the Hughes aircraft contracts was just a curtain-raiser for a full Senate probe of "industrial monopoly."

"Wait until the steel monopoly is investigated and you'll learn what's going on," the West Coast industrialist told reporters as he stepped off the train.

Russia Raises Wages Of Farm Technicians

Michigan Strike Is Settled After Governor Alerts Militia

Clinton, Mich., Aug. 14 (AP).—Raymond Humphrey, acting chairman of the Michigan State Labor Mediation Board, tonight announced settlement of the Clinton Machine Co. strike which had led to alert orders to a National Guard regiment.

The settlement, which climaxed a day of mass picketing by hundreds of CIO men, provides for a 10 cents hourly wage boost and a series of bonuses based on daily production of the company's motors.

Negotiators reached the agreement a few hours after Gov. Kim Sigler had ordered the alerting of the guard regiment and similar orders had been given the entire Michigan State Police force.

Ratification Ballot

Another clause stipulates that the plant will be closed down until the agreement is put to a ratification ballot of the CIO United Auto Workers' Local 608 at a membership meeting Sunday afternoon.

In event of ratification, the plant will be opened Monday. Humphrey said a Taft-Hartley immunization clause was never an issue in the negotiations and that the union had agreed not to make it a bargaining point.

About two hours before the signing of the agreement, carloads of workers who had remained in the plant since a back-to-work march Monday headed by company President Don Thomas, began leaving the company's property.

Pickets Called Off

At the same time leaders of picketing groups told their men to return home.

In the early evening the union was maintaining only token picket lines.

The agreement was signed by Thomas and his legal representative, State Senator Harry F. Little, the union's bargaining committee, and the State and Federal mediators.

A series of outbreaks on the picket line had marked the day even as negotiations aimed at a settlement were proceeding.

Ford Contract Near

Detroit, Aug. 14 (AP).—A new contract between the Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers, embodying the motor car industry's first major pension plan, was reported near completion today.

An agreement to negotiate the pension plan and work out a Taft-Hartley clause averted a nationwide strike August 5 of 107,000 Ford production workers.

As Ford and the UAW-CIO pursued their negotiations peaceably, the industry remained at subnormal production standards because of work stoppages due to labor disputes and the heat.

With 14,000 newly idled, the total of workers off the job exceeded 30,000.

Appeals of 7 To Be Argued

Richmond, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—Appeals of seven persons, including one Washingtonian, convicted in Federal District Court here of aiding and abetting in the misapplication of more than $435,000 from the Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Fredericksburg will be argued October 13 in the United States Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge John J. Parker, senior judge of the circuit, designated the argument date today, extended the time for filing the voluminous record of the case to September 15, set the time limit for appellants to file their briefs at October 1 and for filing the Government's brief at October 10.

Nine persons were convicted in the lengthy Federal Court trial on changes of aiding and abetting William Reevs Gardner, former vice president of the Fredericksburg bank. Gardner, now serving a seven-year term in the State penitentiary for embezzlement, has not been brought to trial on the Federal charge.

The appeal of D. E. Nelson, Roanoke realtor, was dismissed recently when he chose to pay a $2000 fine.

Paul Karsten, jr., former vice president of the bank, was placed on probation for one year and no appeal was filed by him. Appeals will be argued for:

Hugh N. Rakes, Leesburg dairyman, sentenced to four years in prison and fined $13,000; his wife, Lillian C. Rakes, sentenced to four months in prison and fined $1000; Delegate Joseph E. Proffit of Floyd, president of the Floyd County Bank, sentenced to three months and fined $5000; Kyle M. Weeks, Proffit's law partner, sentenced to 12 months and fined $6000; Clarence L. Robey, president of the Purcellville National Bank, sentenced to three months and fined $10,000; Joseph A. Sowers, cashier of the Floyd County Bank, sentenced to three months, and Harry Lamson, Washington realtor and loan broker, given an alternate sentence of three months imprisonment on a $5500 fine.

Playground Pay Raised

Winchester, Va., Aug. 14.—Appropriation for the recreation department has been increased $702 to employ a director at $3600 a year. Chester Hobert, president of the recreation council, who asked for the money, said a director could not be secured at the old salary of $2400 yearly. Miss Virginia Gregory, who held the job, resigned to accept a position elsewhere that paid more.

Heat Fantasies

Inventions Cool Brow, Chill Spine

By V. R. Montanari
Post Reporter

People who say something ought to be done about the weather should drop over to the search room of the Patent Office. Ingenious thinkers have at least tried hard enough.

The search room is not air conditioned. E. H. Brown directs the staff in shirt sleeves without any Buck Rogers heat-defying attachments. But there are inventions on hand to provide cool breezes to the point of chilling your spine.

For instance, there is the description and drawing of J. Bomgardner's patented 1983 ice pillow.

"Designed and calculated," says Bomgardner's plug for his product, "to be used for embalming purposes." Similar gadgets are called almost anything from "safety apparatus for the preservation of the dead until their burial," to a blunt "corpse preserver."

More interesting is E. B. Magill's "body cooler and fever reducer," patented in 1889, and described as a "novel device for cooling various portions of the human body. This is sort of a square metal bath tub with ice around it. It's versatile, too. Its square contours can be modified "so as to more readily conform to the shape of the portion of the body to be treated."

Here's an 1864 model of an "apparatus for cooling the head or parts of the body," a simple one at that. You just lie down in bed, tie a siphon forming a "series of serpentine tubes" around your head, place one end of the siphon in a high bucket of water and the other end in your mouth to start the flow.

Afterwards a clamp on the tube will allow you to control the flow of cooling water into a bucket beside your bed. When the water has all drained into the lower bucket, presumably someone will have to exchange the position of the buckets. The patent description doesn't go into that.

M. E. Hostetler's "personal cooler" may be the thing to produce sleep on a hot night. Patented in 1912, it's a tank shaped like a barrel split in two with a flat base added, and covered with a wire net. Fill it with ice, place it as close as convenient, and pull up the sheet or even a blanket "to keep the cooler from becoming hot" and also, incidentally, to keep "the air cool about the person."

You'll find descriptions of tents to cover beds and provide refrigeration, bed coverings made in layers through which air-conditioned air is blown, and, for outdoor wear, a "removable cooling unit for hats." A unit under the sweatband of the hat contains dry ice to keep one from getting hot-headed.

Perhaps the most ingenious invention, patented about 14 years ago, uses the body's own circulating system for cooling purposes. A case and strap very similar in appearance to those of a wrist watch are used. The case, containing dry ice, is worn on the under side of the wrist, so it will cool the blood as it passes through the blood vessels at the wrist. The case is insulated so the extreme cold will not "burn" the wrist.

Towns Mark VJ-Day

Charles Town, W. Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—Charles Town and neighboring Ranson marked the second anniversary of VJ-Day tonight with a rally and fireworks show at the new American Legion ball park at the edge of town.

The Rev. Henry L. Scott, chaplain at the Newton D. Baker Veterans Hospital, was the principal speaker. Also on the program were Mayors G. P. Morrison of Charles Town and W. J. Roberts of Ranson.

Senator to Speak

Culpeper, Va., Aug. 14.—State Senator A. Willis Robertson will address a joint meeting of the Men's and Women's Bible Classes of Culpeper Sunday. The classes will assemble at 9:45 a. m. at the Pitts Theater on South Main st. A short program of music will precede the lecture.

Sites For Kiwanis Post

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 14. Candidacy of Edgar M. Sites for governor of the West Virginia Kiwanis District at the annual district meeting this fall has been announced by M. L. Depenbrock, chairman of a committee of the local club which is sponsoring the move.

Keep Cool—That's What the Man Says!

Keeping cool is just like reducing or playing a better game of golf—it can be done if you follow the rules.

At least this was the advice offered yesterday by the Health Department.

Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, acting health officer, suggested these rules be followed in hot weather.

1. Slow down in your walking and eating.

2. Sleep longer (if you can find a pallet that isn't hotter than the top of the stove and can sandbag the sandman.)

"A sponge or tub bath at night," said Dr. Seckinger, "will often make it possible to get to sleep even on the hottest night. And a good night's sleep is one of the best preparations for a hot day."

3. Start the day with a refreshing shower or sponge bath (and don't sing "weather" songs in the shower—it's bad psychology).

4. Don't glut yourself with meat. Instead, concentrate on fruits and vegetables. Drink "ample amounts" of "cool water."

5. Wear loose-fitting, lightweight clothing of light color. Light colored clothing repels the sun's rays, making the wearer cooler.

6. If you perspire freely, gobble a few salt tablets. They're really essential to people who work in hot, enclosed places or whose activities induce a lot of perspiration.

Dr. Seckinger, after offering this advice to a perspiring public, left his air-conditioned office in the Municipal Center and walked bravely into the street.

Sally Rand Gets Too Hot

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14 (AP).—Fan Dancer Sally Rand closed her show at the Illinois State Fair today. Her manager said she was suffering from heat exhaustion.

Tax Protest Rejected

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 14 (AP).—Anne Arundel County Commissioners today advised Justin Buch, president of the Citizens Protective Association, it rejected his petition charging inequitable assessments on 47 county properties.

Buch had asked a hearing on charges that the properties were undervalued.

Councilmen Invited

Winchester, Va., Aug. 14.—Winchester Lions have invited City Council to be present next Wednesday when they formally present a $4000 park picnic shelter to the city. A band concert, speaking and free refreshments are on the program. Ralph Hengeveld is chairman.

Road Job Bids Due

Waynesboro, Va., Aug. 14.—Public Roads Administration, Federal Works Agency, will receive sealed bids until Sept. 9 for surfacing of Blue Ridge Parkway from Route 56 to Route 60 in the Nelson, Rockbridge and Amherst counties section, near here. The work will complete blacktop surfacing on the parkway from Route 250 to Route 60, more than 48 miles.

Youth Says Brother Told Of Killing Girl

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP).—Lindsay George testified today his 26-year-old brother, Lloyd George, confessed to him he "had killed a girl and threw her overboard."

The 22-year-old Lindsay testified at a hearing for his brother on a charge of causing the death of Doris O'Brien. Her body was fished from Baltimore harbor in a weighted tarpaulin July 23.

The defendant pleaded innocent and was held without bail by Magistrate James H. Ellis for grand jury action.

Lindsay said he and his brother met the O'Brien woman in a tavern July 12 after their arrival here on a barge from Norfolk, Va. Lindsay said his brother and the woman left together and he went home.

"About 10 the next morning," Lindsay testified, "Lloyd came home and told me he had killed a girl and threw her overboard."

The woman's body was identified by the FBI through fingerprints as a 40-year-old native of Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich. She was known under the alias of Doris Waterman and had a record of arrests in Norfolk and Tampa, Fla.

Dr. George Merrill, deputy medical examiner, reported her skull and face bones were fractured, but that she was still alive when trussed in a canvas bag weighted with 83 pounds of iron ingots and tossed into the water. Merrill said death was due to drowning.

Police said gases generated by decomposition of the body probably force the weighted tarpaulin to rise to the surface.

Md. Leases Game Refuge Of 1000 Acres in Dorchester

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP).—Lease rent-free of a 1000-acre tract in Dorchester County for a black duck refuge was announced today by Director Ernest A. Vaughn of the State Game and Inland Fish Department.

The area consists of two parcels of land from the Webb and English estates on the Nanticoke River between Vienna and Marshy Hope Creek. The lease will run five years. It is another milestone in the wildlife restoration program. Two special wardens will be assigned.

Vaughn said there was no shortage of wardens.

"We do need, however, a number of younger game wardens," he declared. "Game protection is a pretty strenuous job and a lot of our present wardens are well up in years."

The State hopes to acquire several marsh areas. Salt marshes will do, Vaughan said, with the Game Commission throwing up embankments and inland ponds.

Major attention in the drive to replenish Maryland's wildlife resources is focused on setting up a string of small refuges on farms, ranging from 5 to 30 acres. Farmers provide the land, but the State furnishes cover crops and encloses the area with a single strand of galvanized wire and erects posters to mark them off.

Montgomery leads the counties with 30 completed farm refuges. Nineteen are being established in Carroll County. Frederick has 16, St. Marys 25, Prince Georges nine, Charles five, the four-county area of Anne Arundel, Cecil, Harford and Baltimore, 40. There are five on the upper Eastern Shore; eight each in Wicomico and Worcester.

2 German Destroyers 'Not So Hot'

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 14 (AP).—Experts of the naval engineering experiment station have given two German destroyers a 22-month going over and Capt. Wilson D. Leggett, jr., station director, says the verdict on them is "not so hot."

The vessels, one 2700 tons and the other 1400, were turned over by the Allied Control Commission for research.

Navy experts and civilian engineers studied construction and equipment. Work on some parts will continue.

Leggett said, "the German designs are sometimes advanced in theory but poorly executed. Machinery is finely machined where finish counts, but is assembled so impractically that quick and efficient maintenance and repair are almost impossible."

Firerooms and boilers were controlled automatically, but repairs to a main turbine could be made only after removing "a vast amount of glass fiber lagging and piping."

He said considerable machinery belonging to a sister ship of the 2700-ton destroyer had been taken at Cherbourg, France, where it had been removed for overhaul—"a totally different policy from ours, which requires machinery to have long life and ease of maintenance and accessibility."

"Evidence of cheap manpower in Germany can be seen throughout the ships and their machinery," he said. "Evidence of how it was exploited can be seen from the cat-'o-nine-tails taken from one of them.

Hurricane Due to Hit Tampico This Morning

New Orleans, Aug. 14 (AP).—The United States Weather Bureau said this afternoon that present indications are that the hurricane in the southwestern Gulf of Mexico, with winds of 100 miles an hour or more, should reach the Mexican coast north of Tampico Friday morning.

Weather officials said that the center of the hurricane had been sighted by reconnaissance planes at 11:15 a. m., about 130 miles east of Tampico, and "the storm is movinng northwestward 8 to 10 miles per hour."

Chief of Staff in Paraguay Reported Held

Buenos Aires, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—General Emilio Diaz de Vivar, chief of staff of the Paraguayan Army, and other officers were reported today to have been arrested for plotting to overthrow President Higinio Morinigo and put an end to the five-month old Paraguayian civil war.

The report originated in Formosa, on the Argentine side of the Paraguayan border, and General Diaz de Vivar had been replaced by Morinigo's aide, Col. Juan Federico Canay.

If confirmed, it would be the second time Morinigo's chief military commander deserted him. Earl in the civil war Col. Fedrrico Smith quit and went to Argentina.

Cadets of the Asuncion military school, among whom Gen. Diaz de Vivar was said to have had much influence, also were reported involved in the plot.

Other frontier reports said street fighting in Asuncion continued for the third consecutive day. Four of the five radio stations controlled by Morinigo's forces had gone off the air since yesterday, leaving only radio national operating.

Government forces were said to be resisting from barricades erected hastily in the city's central area.

Americans in Danger

A few Americans in outlying districts have been cut off by the fighting in Paraguay and are out of contact with the American Embassy, the State Department revealed yesterday.

A dispatch from Edward Trueblood, United States charge d'affairs at Asuncion, dated August 12, said heavy fighting was in progress near the capital. It revealed that mail service had ended, business was suspended, food was running short and government offices were closed.

Trueblood said arrangements were made several days ago for some Americans in Asuncion to move to a hotel near the Brazilian border and 30 Americans, mostly women and children, were at the Gran Hotel, two blocks from the chancery in Asuncion.

Four Americans, Mrs. Samuel Paxton Usen and her son Lanny and Mrs. James Arrowsmith and her daughter Joan, were flown to Rio de Janeiro August six, since when there have been no commercial flights from Asuncion. Addresses of the two women and their children were not given nor were they identified.

Former Mayor O'Quin Of Grundy Dies at 76

Grundy, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—Thomas O'Quin, 76-year-old former mayor of Grundy and one of this community's best-known citizens, fell dead of a heart attack on a street here today.

O'Quin, who served two terms as mayor and has been a justice of the peace here for several years was on his way to the site of a house he was building when his death occurred.

With no children of his own, O'Quin was noteed in the community for taking homeless children into his own residence. A native and lifelong resident of Buchanan County, he is survived by his widow and several brothers and sisters.

John Longo, owner of the El Patio Restaurant, left a net estate of $5000 when he died July 29, according to records filed in District Court yesterday.

Assets were placed at $90,000 including the restaurant business. Debts were $85,000.

Mr. Longo left no will. Petition for administration of the estate was filed in behalf of his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Deever of Silver Spring, Md.

Greenland Weather Delays Globe Fliers

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 14 (AP).—Two former United States Army pilots flying around the world in a pair of light planes landed at Blue West One Airfield, Greenland, eearly Tuesday, it was learned here tonight.

It was understood that bad weather since had prevented the pilots—Clifford V. Evans, 26, of Washington, D. C., and George Truman, 39, of Los Angeles—from taking off for Peykjavik, the next leg of their flight.

Virginian Wins Breeder Award For First Time

Culpepper, Va., Aug. 14 (Spl).—The Progressive Breeders Achievement Award was won by a Virginia breeder for the first time yesterday at the Virginia Hulstein Friesian Association's annual field day and picnic here.

Paul Reeves of Virginia Polytechnic Institute was presented the award by John Morris, field representative of the Holstein Friesian Association of America. The award is presented for the herd scoring the most points on general health, milg production, type of cattle, and other factors.

A group of 28 boys and girls of the Culpepper 4-H and Future Farmers of American clubs participated in a judging contest.

George Miller of Purcellville, Va., placed first. Other winners were Mayo Yowell of Peola Mills, Campbell Hitt of Culpepper, Robert Nixon of Rapidan and Newell Thomas of Paytes.

The gathering took place on the lawnat Kinloch, dairy farm home of Temple Slaughter, Culpepper cattleman.

Glen M. Householder of Battleboro, Vt., director of the extension service of the Holstein Friesian Association of America, spoke on future trends and milk production.

Frank Walker of Orange, Va., reported on the annual Holstein sale to be held in Orange this fall.

Slaughter, host to the group, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Foster Slaughter, 1830 Kilbourne pl. nw.

More Than Half of Farms In Va. Have No Automobiles

Richmond, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—More than half the farm residents in Virginia lack automobile transportation and 83.9 per cent, exclusive of Arlington, are without telephones, the Bureau of Hospital Survey, State Health Department, reports.

The survey showed that in seven counties—Henrico, Warwick, Arlington, Craig, Norfolk, Princess Anne, Chesterfield and Fairfax—less than 10 per cent of the farm homes are more than 0.3 mile from an all-weather road.

Seven counties—Craig, Floyd, Augusta, Rockingham, Shenandoah, Fairfax and Green—showed at least 40 per cent of the farm homes with telephone service, with 45 counties, mostly in southwest Virginia, southside Virginia and the Northern Neck, showing less than 10 per cent of farm homes with a telephone.

Hay Fever's Heyday Due In 5 Days

Feel a sneeze coming on?

The hay fever season usually starts here within the next five days, according to a District Medical Society spokesman.

It reaches its peak toward the end of the month or early in September, and disappears late that month.

The pollen count for the 24-hour period ending at 9:30 a. m. yesterday stood at one grain of ragweed per cubic yard of air.

While most victims of hay fever do not begin to suffer until the count reaches 10 or 20 rains, especially sensitive persons may have felt the effects already, doctors say.

A previous trace of ragweed, believed blown in from north of the District, was recorded August 5.

Canadian School To Coordinate Industry, Army

Ottawa, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—A Canadian national defense college, to coordinate Canada's armed services and industries in the event of a future war, will open next January and British and American officers will be invited to attend, Defense Minister Brooke Claxton announced today.

Claxton said between 20 and 30 navy, army and air force officers, selected civilians from government departments and several British and U. S. officers probably would attend the one-year defense course at Kingston, Ont.

"It is obvious that, in the event of another war, there should be a close tie-up between industry and the services," Claxton said. "In such an eventuality, senior officers should know what industry can do."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

How Ladder Helped Lincoln Stop Scandal

By Col. Robert S. Allen

The volumes of Lincoln papers recently made public at the Library of Congress greatly enriched the documentary history of the martyred emancipator. But there is one intriguing document in the Capital that still remains to be unveiled.

It is in the archives of the stately British Embassy on upper Massachusetts ave.

The document records an unusual incident during Lincoln's Presidency. The unique paper was discovered by the late British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, who, on one mellow occasion, told the late President Roosevelt the story. This is it:

During Lincoln's incumbency, Lafayette Park, which faces the White House on Pennsylvania ave., was enclosed by a tall, iron fence flanked by a dense hedge of shrubbery. The park was a popular rendezvous for couples. But there was one drawback. The gates were locked at 10 o'clock every night.

One summer night, after working late with Lincoln in the White House, Secretary of State Seward passed by the park en route to his home nearby. He was suddenly startled by a whispered cry from behind the thick hedge, "Mr. Secretary, Mr. Secretary!"

Approaching, Seward was even more startled to discover the caller was the British Ambassador.

"Lord, I'm glad you came along," the Englishman exclaimed. "I'm in a deuce of a fix."

"What's wrong?"

"Well, it's this way," said the Ambassador, and then amid much hemming and hawing explained that he was in the park with another Ambassador's wife. The lady was the wife of the Spanish Ambassador.

The predicament of the British Ambassador was doubly embarrassing. In addition to the personal aspect of the situation, relations between Britain and Spain were quite strained at the time. Disclosure of the incident could lead to serious international repercussions.

Seward promised to help. He hastened back to the White House, where he found Lincoln still hard at work on the desperate problems arising out of the war. Seward explained what had happened.

"We've got to do something quick," Lincoln said, "but the keys to the park aren't here. The White House gardener has them and he's gone home. It would take hours to get them, as he lives way out in Georgetown. (By automobile. Georgetown is now only 10 minutes distance from the White House).

"I tell you what to do. You get the White House janitor, who has a room in the basement. Have him carry a ladder over to the park and they can get out that way."

That's what Seward did. The ladder was slipped through the hedge to the British Ambassador, who placed it against the fence on the inside. His companion clambered to the top, and then she jumped down into the arms of Seward. The Ambassador did the same, the ladder was retrieved, and all went their ways.

Thus ended that midsummer night's dream.

Roosevelt laughed uproariously at the story.

"How in the world did you ever find out about it?" he asked.

"In the archives of the embassy," Sir Ronald explained. "It seems my distinguished predecessor was a very meticulous chap. He wrote a full account of the incident and the document turned up recently while we were going through the embassy's archives."

Forrestal's Office

A mighty problem of state has finally been settled. The office of James V. Forrestal, recently appointed first Secretary of National Defense, will be in the giant Pentagon Building, until now the exclusive purlieu of the War Department. While no formal press statement has yet been released on the momentous decision, it will be as soon as the overworked mimeographers catch up on a huge pile of waiting handouts.

If you think selection of the new Cabinet member's office was a trivial matter, you are sorely mistaken. It was practically a life-and-death issue among the bureaucrats.

Some vehemently insisted it would be a sacrilege for the Secretary of National Defense to be housed in the War Department's building. They insisted he be relegated to the antiquated and grotesque former State Department Building adjoining the White House.

Calmer counsel finally prevailed—aided by Secretary of War Royall. He offered to relinquish his plush office and return to the Pentagon suite he previously occupied as Undersecretary. While this was magnanimous on Royall's part, he won't suffer too much.

The only difference between the two offices is that the former is slightly smaller. It is only 1 block long as compared to the 2 of the Secretary's office.

'God-Almighty' Lee

Flash from the Mediterranean theater!

Pomp-loving Commanding General John ("God-almighty") Lee will shortly return to the United States preparatory to retiring from the Army.

In returning home, Lee will beat to the gun a congressional committee planning to check up on the Mediterranean theater while in Europe. As reported in this column yesterday, numerous complaints have been received by Congressmen from GI's enumerating many grievances regarding living and disciplinary conditions in Lee's command.

War Department officials warily refused to comment on Lee's return. They offered a prepared handout containing a long biographical sketch of him, but would say nothing on why he is giving up his lush post.

Supreme Court Clerk

Throughout its history, the United States Supreme Court has always been a stanch foe of racial and religious discrimination. Its antidiscrimination decisions are among the brightest gems of world jurisprudence.

Today one member of the august tribunal is not only preaching this doctrine, but practicing it.

Justice Frank Murphy has a young Negro as his law clerk. He is Emerson Parker, talented graduate of Washington's Howard University.

In addition to his law work, Parker also is an authority on jazz. Every Sunday he conducts a program on the history of jazz on a Washington radio station.

nearby then went into action.

The Arabs chased one group of Jews into the Palomar garage and stoned it when the Jews barricaded themselves inside. Jews fled through a rear door when the Arabs fired the building, a lumber yard, a textile factory and two Jewish-owned automobiles. Damage was estimated at close to one million dollars.

The Arab mob had then grown to 700 or 800.

The crowd then swarmed to Hassan Bey Circus, a traffic hub where the two cities meet.

A Jewish bus from Jerusalem was stopped and the Arabs stormed it, knifing and clubbing passengers. One Jew was killed and nine wounded. Three trucks were destroyed and two Jewish automobiles were overturned.

Ambulances which rushed to the scene as police and Irish fusiliers moved in were fired upon by snipers in the Arab quarter.

Foes Separated

Police finally drove Arabs into an adjacent field and Oriental Jews into a lot out of sight.

In the Hatikvah quarter of eastern Tel Aviv, which is surrounded by an Arab agricultural belt, a fourth Jew was shot dead in his automobile in an Arab-Jewish clash. Three Jewish war department employes were shot and three houses were set ablaze.

A fifth Jew died today from stab wounds suffered last night along Jaffa beach.

Tonight all was quiet except for the fires.

A spokesman for Hagana, illegal Jewish defense organization, declared, "No Jew has any stomach for this. These are hooligans, mostly Yemenite Jews, and we cannot control them."

Eleven Jews and four Arabs have died and 53 Jews and 33 Arabs have been injured in the five days, unofficial compilations showed.

the Johnson statement that the United States felt the 55-nation U. N. Assembly would act in case the Security Council is blocked by a Soviet veto.

Discussions Resume Tuesday

Gromyko instead said that the United States declarations on the Greek case were conflicting and asserted there was no serious American attempt to solve this question in the interests of peace.

"This is only a political game which only makes it more difficult to solve this question," he said. "It is obvious that this creates an unhealthy atmosphere in the Security Council and not only in the Council. Around this fact all those are warming their hands who would like to see a collapse of the task of cooperation in the United Nations Organization. It is clear that those who create such a situation bear the responsibility for it. One cannot hide from this behind statements on the 'veto.'"

The Council will resume discussion of the Greek question next Tuesday.

Foes Criticize ICC Recommendation of Fare Increase for Arnold Bus Lines

Strong criticism of an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner's recommendation that a fare increase be allowed the Arnold Bus Lines was contained yesterday in briefs filed with ICC by opponents.

Among those to beat the last midnight deadline for filing of exceptions to the examiner's recommendation were the Arlington County government, the Arlington Civic Federation and the Arlington Bus Riders Association.

The county's public utilities commission charged that bus firm had failed to establish any need for the rate increase, the request for an increase was "prematurely filed" and the examiner erred in concluding that a rate increase was justified.

5-Cent Rise Proposed

The firm had requested a fare increase ranging from 2½ to 5 cents a trip and the examiner recommended that all 10-cent interState cash fares be increased to 15 cents and that an increase from 20 to 25 cents be put into affect in the fourth zone. He also suggested a token system, selling two for 25 cents, be used in Zone 1.

In its brief, the Bus Riders' Association charged that granting of the increase "will enhance by more than $350,000 annually the Arnold Lines' treasury."

During the hearings on the petition before ICC, the company's accounts were aired revealing among other things, expenditures for bills from florists, caterers, dairies, night clubs, hotels, restaurants, liquor and beer dealers.

The Bus Riders Association said yesterday the $350,000 increased revenue would be "at the expense of the bus riding public without the high salaried stockholders of the company being required to replace any of the funds inefficiently expended during the past 20 years of . . . operation."

Error Charged

In its 50 page brief, the PUC charged the examiner had erred on at least 10 counts in his recommendaton. The Bus Riders Association listed two exceptions and the Civic Federation listed three.

One exception of the PUC's brief charged that the examiner "acted arbitrarily and in disregard of the evidence in finding a rate increase justified."

Officials said the bus company attorneys would be given 10 days in which to file answers to the exception and the fare increase request would then be taken under advisement by ICC for final decision.

Autoist Saves Woman Lost 3 Days in Rockies

Echo Lake, Colo., Aug. 14 (AP).—Weakened by hunger and exhaustion, 60-year-old Mrs. Sophia Smaha of Riverside, Ill., was picked up by a motorist today on the Squaw Pass road three days after she became lost in the mountains surrounding this resort village.

She told her rescuers she had had no food since she became separated from friends Monday. She told newsmen she had waved down another automobile during her three-day ordeal.

"Those other people—a man, woman and two children—wouldn't believe me," she sobbed. "They just looked at me and laughed. Then they drove away."

Pistol Mishap On Picnic Kills Staunton Man

Staunton, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—Joseph P. Ast III, 32, was killed yesterday when a target pistol accidentally discharged, the bullet entering his heart. Coroner F. P. Floyd returned a verdict of accidental death.

Young Ast, shot at the Ast camp near Stokesville where employes of the Ast Hardware Co. were holding their annual picnic, was pronounced dead at King's Daughters' Hospital here.

He had been skeet shooting with other picnickers and returned to his automobile for a revolver to use in target shooting. In removing the gun from the car the weapon was fired accidentally, witnesses said.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Elizabeth Ann Cronemeyer of Clarksburg, W. Va.; two children, Joseph P., IV, and Elizabeth; his parents, and a sister, Mrs. William H. Berry of Staunton.

Cook Shoots Three In Street Gun Duel

Los Angeles, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—A Filipino cook wounded three persons, including a pretty waitress at the "Eat It and Beat It" hamburger stand, during a brief but violent gun battle on a crowded downtown Los Angeles street today.

The gunman, Benedicto Illamin, 45, surrendered as police closed in.

Haze Hampers Aerial Strikes As Va. Island 'Attack' Opens

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—Poor visibility caused cancellation of several aerial strikes today in an amphibious assault on Bloodsworth Island in Chesapeake Bay staged as the opening exercise of Operation Camid II for the training of cadets and midshipmen of the Nation's several schools.

The cruiser Spokane, which led the 55-ship task force 75 miles up the bay from Norfolk, opened fire with five-inch and antiaircraft guns shortly after dawn. Salvos of rockets were hurled at the beach by LSMRS (landing ship medium, rocket) and fighter planes strafed and bombed the shore of the uninhabited island. Heavy bombers and P-80s (Shooting Stars) were held at their bases because of a thick haze and low clouds.

After this softening up phase of the assault, scores of landing craft carrying demonstration teams swarmed from the transports to within 1500 yards of the shore and then turned back because of shallow water and the danger of unexploded shells and bombs.

The operation was observed by 600 West Point cadets and 780 Annapolis midshipmen who will remain in the bay area until August 23 for joint training in amphibious warfare under the direction of Rear Admiral R. O. Davis, commander amphibious force, Atlantic Fleet.

Dutch See Sabotage in Oil Dump Fire

Batavia, Java, Aug. 14 (AP).—The Netherlands Indies petroleum board's main dump at Port Tandjoengpriok, Java, was swept by fire today which Dutch authorities said "most probably" was the result of sabotage.

Five thousand cans and drums of gasoline were destroyed before the flames were brought under control by native firemen.

Col. L. Drost, Netherlands army commander for the Batavia area base, who attributed the fire to sabotage, recalled that Sunday will be Indonesian independence day and said "now it's time to look for fireworks."

Earlier, a Dutch army communique reported that Pangkalanbrandan and nearby oil storage establishments in Indonesian-held territory of North Sumatra had been fired.

The Dutch said 300 Indonesians attacked their occupying force at Kajoeagoeng, in South Sumatra, while mortar fire against their position in the Soerabaja and Malang sectors was frequent.

Dutch infantrymen were reported by the Dutch to have "mopped up" over 385 square miles of southwest Javava's rich estate areas since the August 5 cease-fire.

A broadcast from Jogjakarta, Republican capital, said that Dutch troops staged two attacks yesterday on Indonesian positions in Java and Madoera, and that Netherlands aircraft strafed towns and highways.

U. N. Prepares for Debate

Lake Success, Aug. 14 (AP).—The United Nations Security Council refused today to invite Borneo and East Indonesia to the Council table to take part in the debate on the Indonesian question. The vote was 4 to 0 with seven abstentions. A majority of seven was required.

The United States, France, Great Britain and Belgium were the only nations voting to seat Borneo and East Indonesia at the table.

The Council already had approved the seating of a representative of the Republic of Indonesia.

The Council also voted 9 to 0 to seat the Philippines representative as a participant in debate on the Indonesian conflict. It thus reversed a previous refusal. Russia and Poland abstained on this vote.

Former Premier Sutan Sjahrir, representative of the Republic, called on the Council to appoint a commission to arbitrate the conflict between Indonesians and Dutch.

Four Feared Dead As Jap Volcano Erupts Suddenly

Karuizawa, Japan, Aug. 14 (AP).—Mount Asama, 90 miles northwest of Tokyo, erupted suddenly this afternoon, probably killing four of a party of 20 Japanese mountain climbers near the summit.

The 8315-foot volcano sent clouds of smoke and ash thousands of feet into the air in six separate eruptions within four hours. There was no lava.

Japanese rescuers brought 16 climbers to safety, but one was burned so badly he was not expected to live. They said four others were missing and they were almost certain that two of these who were nearest the crater had perished.

Among spectators were Mrs. Douglas MacArthur and Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger of the Eighth Army and his wife.

Danes Protest Dumping Of Poison Gas by Reds

Copenhagen, Aug. 14 (AP).—A foreign office spokesman said Denmark was preparing a formal protest to Russia against dumping of ammunition and poison gas in Danish fishing grounds in the Baltic.

It was discovered yesterday that this was being done by German ships under Russian command, he said, when the S. S. Elbing Eight put into Nexoe for medical aid for eight German seamen poisoned while dumping phosgene gas.

Tax Collections High

Winchester, Va., Aug. 14.—City Treasurer W. A. Baker reports that only $4600 of the 1946 real and personal property assessments of $181,000 remain uncollected and that delinquent real estate taxes for the current year amount to only $406. He told council he opposes publication of the delinquent personal property tax list.

Death Jury Sees Love Letters Heiress, Youth Wrote in Jail

LOUISE OVERELL
"I don't want any other man . ."

Santa Ana, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP).—Intimate love notes of two college sweethearts — sometimes tender, sometimes vulgar—exchanged as they waited in jail for their trial on murder charges were submitted today to a jury of six men and six women.

Louise Overell, chubby, 18-year-old heiress to $600,000, and her blond boy friend, George Gollum, 21, sat stolidly in court as the jurors scanned the letters, after Superior Judge Kenneth E. Morrison ruled that they might not be read aloud from the stand because juveniles were in the courtroom.

Descriptions of torrid love scenes, pledges of endless fidelity, threats against each other if either were unfaithful, a vague reference to setting "in motion the wheels for our release," and expressions of confidence that they would be acquitted were contained in the 15 missiles, running to some 10,000 words.

Trial in 12th Week

Trial of the pair on charges of bludgeoning to death the girl's parents, financier and Mrs. Walter E. Overell, is in its twelfth week. The Overells' bodies were found aboard their dynamite-shattered yacht in Newport Harbor March 15.

Defense Attorney S. B. Kauffman, Gollum's chief counsel, later asked a specific instruction that "the jury shall not be influenced by obscenity, except insofar as it shall reflect on motive." The jury was so instructed.

In the letters, Gollum, at one point, remonstrated with Louise for dying her hair, remarking:

"The general consensus of opinion down here is that only — and movie stars dye their hair."

At another point, he wrote:

"You can take my word for it. I am going to be real masculine when I get at you on our honeymoon, and for a long time afterward—all our lives."

Louise, after one particularly vivid description of a love scene, wrote:

"You Are My Rock"

"Pops, I can't explain how I feel toward you. It is sufficient to say that you are my whole and only interest in life. You are my rock . . . "

Again, she penned:

"I dream of your big, beautiful chest, my darling Pops, and no one will ever have as beautiful and hairy a chest as you. Pops, I don't want any other man. The thought is revolting."

The letters were deleted in part on Judge Morrison's orders, but the censorship chiefly involved references to other persons. Less than 5 per cent of the writings had been scissored.

Gollum, in one note, said:

"I love you, my dear. I adore you . . . I miss your voice. I miss your presence. I miss you; I miss your body. I wish we were in our own home alone. That's why I don't want to have a housekeeping couple in a house of ours . . . We would not be able to run around the house naked. We would not be able to make unreserved love anywhere, anytime . . ."

Promises to Be True

And Louise told him:

"I don't give one small damn about the relatives. My greatest pleasure will be in telling them 'Thanks, folks, go to hell and meet my husband Mr. Gollum.' Please, Pops, you are more than just a man—you are a part of me . . ."

Elsewhere, she wrote: "I want to have your children . . . Pops, I promise you that I will always be faithful and true . . ."

In the exchange were protestations of Gollum's love even if she had no money, and a formal paragraph giving him "any money or property" she might receive, contingent on his continued love.

Gollum, in another note hinted to a possible jail break, saying:

"You realize that if we are found guilty, I get killed. I don't want to die. I have to live for you . . . That is why the knowledge of the layout of your portion of the jail is so necessary.

"If we have to do that thing we will have only one chance, no more, and will have to make good the same time." He accompanied it with a sketch of the women's section as he conceived it.

Last April 13 Bud wrote:

"If we are married in jail why then I want you to go straight home with me, but if we aren't married by the end of the trial I want you to live with me not more than an hour after the jury says 'not guilty.' We will then go to Nevada or Arizona and be married, stay there overnight and then come back here to get our personal property. Your relatives might try to get you away from me in the confusion after the verdict. They might try to get you in a car and away from me that way. But I am going to grab you as soon as the jury says the wonderful words and I am going to hold tight to you, and anyone who wants to see one of us will have to see the other one also because I won't let you go."

Jap Honor Guest Called Pickpocket

Tokyo, Aug. 14 (AP).—Japanese police said today that Tomonsuke Namba, newly elected member of the Numata town assembly, picked 9500 yen ($190) from the pockets of three Japanese attending a banquet.

Among the victims was the host of the banquet, held to celebrate Namba's election.

Canada Sees U. S. Hasty in Coal Embargo

Ottawa, Aug. 14 (AP).—A senior government official said today that Canada has protested vigorously to the U. S. State Department because she considered she was getting a "pushing around" from the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington.

The U. S. Government agency has embargoed coal shipments to Canada on lines of the government-controlled Canadian National Railway on the ground that it had failed to return to the United States a sufficient number of boxcars owned by U. S. railroads.

The official, while not allowing the use of his name, said Canada now looked on the boxcar question as a political and diplomatic problem, but that the State Department was loath to interfere with the ODT, an office not under its control. He contended that enforcement of a ban which was likely to affect a country's economy should not have been passed on by an official in the position of J. M. Johnson, director of the ODT.

Mrs. Maybank Enters Hospital for Diagnosis

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP).—Mrs. Burnet Maybank, wife of the United States Senator for South Carolina, is in University of Pennsylvania Hospital "for diagnostic investigation and medical treatment," her physician disclosed today.

Dr. Thomas Fitz-Hugh, jr. said that Mrs. Maybank entered the hospital yesterday and "her condition is not critical at the present time."

TODAY WINE IS A SPECIAL VALUE. Sherry for example is an excellent wine to serve when guests drop in — and inexpensive. Table wines like Burgundy and Sauterne go with dinners — make any main dish taste better — at little cost

HOW IS WINE SERVED?

- ☑ along with good food at mealtime
- ☑ as a moderate beverage when entertaining
- ☑ as easily and simply as water

WINE is the only beverage produced especially to drink with meals. Wine is made entirely from fresh ripe grapes. That is why it goes so well with other foods.

Table wines are usually served with dinner. Most people prefer a red table wine like Claret or Burgundy with hearty meats such as roast and steak—and a white table wine like Sauterne or Rhine Wine with fish or chicken. Sweeter wines like Sherry, Port and Muscatel, are excellent for entertaining. They go well with those light refreshments you serve when entertaining.

Wine serving is never fussy. Any kind of glasses may be used—and the wine bottle is usually placed on the table so everyone can serve himself. Set out glasses of wine at your house soon. And for a free booklet of recipes, menus and wine-serving suggestions, write Wine Advisory Board, 717 Market Street, San Francisco 3, Calif.

Truman's Conscience

If you had been in President Truman's shoes in August 1945, what would you have done? Would you have authorized the dropping of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima? President Truman said yesterday that his conscience did not prick him two years after this fateful decision. We have a feeling that in his position our own conscience would be quite clear. Mr. Truman acted on the basis of the facts presented to him by his military advisers. They figured that without the bomb, Japan would last 18 months after VE-Day, and could be reduced to submission only after two full-scale invasions. Accordingly these latter were scheduled, and the military advisers budgeted on a quarter of a million American casualties. Faced with this "estimate of the situation," President Truman okayed the dropping of the atomic bomb on the military city of Hiroshima. There could be no harmless demonstration for the benefit of the Japanese because at the time we only had a couple of the bombs and did not know whether they would go off.

At the same time the historian, if not President Truman, will certainly blame our military administrators for a misreading of the situation in Japan. They ought to have known better. Japan was already in extremis when the bomb struck Hiroshima, and it is an indictment of military intelligence that this was not known. The U. S. Strategic Bombing Survey after the war made some calculations on what would have happened if there had been no atomic bomb, no invasion, and no Russian entry. Of a surety, it said, the war would have been over by the end of 1945. In all probability the end would have come before November 1, or less than seven months after VE-Day. There should be nothing wrong with President Truman's conscience, but we cannot say the same thing for some of our military reputations.

Argentine Hope

It will be of interest to see what is in the mind of Juan Bramuglia, Argentine Foreign Minister, on the subject of "a Marshall Plan for the Americas." A week ago we wrote of the splendid opportunity awaiting the Americas in cooperating with the United States in the reconstruction of Europe. Most of them have surpluses which could aid Europe in tiding over the shattering effects of war. A joint effort to that end would likewise be enlightened self-interest. This applies particularly to Argentina. Argentina will not continue to cash in on Europe's wants if Europe's production is not revived so that the continent can earn the dollars to pay Argentina. For Argentina, unable or undesirous to import from Europe the equal of her goods in exports, has hitherto been taking her payments out of Europe's precious dollar store, so as to buy in the United States. Argentina thus has a deep interest in helping to revive Europe.

Perhaps, however, Argentina is thinking of the Marshall Plan as a gimme proposition. If this is the case, she is vastly mistaken. The object of the Marshall Plan is very specific, viz., to help Europe help herself in restoring a working economy. It may well be that, if Congress approves the plan, the aid will impose a strain on the American economy. Already the assistance we have furnished, and which Secretary Marshall mentioned in a note to Foreign Minister Bramulgia on August 1, has been costly in terms of money and higher American prices. Any fresh aid would add to the burden. But if the plan from Europe shows the development of an integrated economy, we have no doubt that the American taxpayer will reinforce it. But he is not likely to be hospitable to plans from countries which, far from having suffered or been devastated by the war, actually profited from it.

That does not mean any lack of interest in furthering the economic development and integration of the Americas. Already there is in effect an Economic Charter of the Americas which is part of the Act of Chapultepec. It is the purpose of our statesmanship to implement that Charter in the integration of our economies. But first things first. The Americas cannot be prosperous, nor can they feel altogether secure, if Europe continues to stagnate. That is a fairly general conviction here. In Argentina it is a profession that still needs to be translated into practice. To shore up the economic and political foundations of Europe would be to carry out the second step in the Argentine declaration of July 6, viz., "To go to the help of the other countries of the world, jointly with the countries of America and the Holy See . . . and to offer them the necessary economic cooperation." That would be the way to effectuate the doctrine of universal fraternization to which President Peron last month attached his name.

Licensed Murder

The current issue of the Saturday Evening Post contains an article by David G. Wittels exposing the criminal carelessness displayed by many States in the issuance of drivers' licenses. Using an assumed name and false addresses, Mr. Wittels obtained by mail licenses from 13 States—Florida, Illinois, Minnesota, Georgia, North Dakota, Kansas, Indiana, Idaho, Montana, Maine, Missouri, New Mexico and Utah. Two licenses, in fact, were obtained from Illinois under two different names, in one case the applicant stating that he had never taken a driving test. It requires no imagination to realize how easily criminals and incompetents can take advantage of such laxity to obtain drivers' licenses, and thus increase the hazards of highway travel.

The dangerous negligence displayed by the States that failed to check mail applications for licenses is typical of a nationwide laxity in protecting the public from death or injury at the hands of incompetent drivers. Mr. Wittels attributes the shocking accident toll on our highways—33,500 deaths and more than a million injuries in 1946—chiefly to inadequate driver-licensing laws and lax administration of such protective laws as exist. Expert opinion is cited in support of his statement that not a single State is doing its full duty toward protecting the lives of its citizens against the dangers of death or maiming by spook (incompetent) drivers. For example, no State requires a medical examination as a test of driver competency, with the result that habitual drunkards, drug addicts, the physically handicapped and the senile contribute to the toll of avoidable deaths and injuries. South Dakota doesn't even require a driver's license; anybody can get behind the wheel of a car and even cross State lines with impunity. And at least five other States having license laws are little better than South Dakota, since they have no regular examiners and require tests only of a few physically handicapped applicants for licenses. Moreover, even States with fairly strict licensing laws haven't enough examiners to make proper tests of the driving ability of applicants.

Mr. Wittels proves up to the hilt that negligence and inefficiency on the part of our State governments are prime causes of the appallingly high automobile accident rate. There is crying need for stricter laws to guard against the licensing of "potential killers". But unless those laws are effectively administered, they will become dead letters, while the most stringent and well-enforced laws of any single State will not afford much protection if other States are lax. The States complain, with reason, of the steady growth of power of the Federal Government at their expense. But if this centripetal trend is to be checked, State governments must prove themselves capable of discharging the tasks assigned to them. All too often the administrative inefficiency of the States or their inability to cooperate with one another has resulted in the Federal Government's taking over work they have bungled. Federal assumption of responsibility for the licensing of automobile drivers certainly does not seem to be a proper function of the Federal Government, but if the States do not reform, it might become the only practicable way of preventing needless slaughter on the Nation's highways.

Back Wash

It must have been a painful blow to some of our fellow travelers to discover the other day that, after more than 30 years of socialism, the laundry service in the capital of the blessed Soviet fatherland is apparently even worse than in the Capital of these crass and materialistic United States. Anyway, the Vechernaya Moskva, official organ of the Moscow Soviet, has just launched an indignant attack against one Comrade Volkhov, head of the state laundry system in that city.

It appears that Comrade Volkhov, who is not without some symptoms of capitalistic enterprise, has been spending some of the laundry's funds for plugs on the Moscow radio and for outdoor posters and subway car cards, though why this was necessary in the absence of competition is not precisely clear. Nor do we know the precise nature of the selling points emphasized by Comrade Volkhov's copy writers though they may very well have taken the inferiority complex line favored by some of our own soap, mouthwash and razor-blade manufacturers. But, whatever they were, they seem to have pulled in the customers. Unfortunately, Comrade Volkhov had ignored the maxim that the best advertisement cannot help a poor product; Comrade Volkhov promised more than he could deliver. Among other things he promised a courteous and punctual five-day service.

Instead, according to the Vechernaya Moskva, those who brought their clothes to Comrade Volkhov's laundry were turned away on the pretext that the stuff was improperly marked or else the bundle was accepted with a glib assurance that it would indeed be ready on a specified date. But the customers had the devil's own time getting it back, if they got it back at all. All in all the service seems to have been far less satisfactory and equitable than under our own system in which the customer, if he does not get back his own laundry, at least gets somebody else's. Accordingly, Comrade Volkhov is now in something of a spot. He could not, as some of our own laundrymen are prone to do, and with some plausibility, blame the shortcomings of his service on slovenly or inexperienced labor. Instead, he rashly blamed it on the shortage and inferior quality of the materials with which he had to work. The difficulty with this excuse was that Comrade Volkhov is also head of the trust which has the responsibility of keeping the laundry supplied.

It seems to us to serve Comrade Volkhov right for foolishly trying to experiment with capitalistic tricks. He should have conducted his laundry on pure Marxist principles, and have advised the customers who called for the return of their extra shirts that they had been reapportioned among those who had no shirts at all. Is it not written, "From each according to his gifts; to each according to his need?"

British Films

The heads of the British motion picture industry are not at all inclined to join the agitation in favor of repealing the 75 per cent tax on the earnings of foreign film companies. On the contrary, they show a sympathetic understanding of the purpose of the government in imposing a confiscatory tax, which, of course, is equivalent to a ban on imports. A temporary halt to the importation of film, the British producers declare, will allow time for considering how best to reduce the adverse balance between the amount Britain pays for American pictures and the amount British producers receive from America.

Of course, the British producers' viewpoint is patently colored by considerations of self-interest. For while owners of British motion picture theaters and producers of Hollywood films, they stand to gain rather than lose from the exclusion of American films, which currently absorb the lion's share of the earnings from picture showings. Nevertheless, they have grasped the fact that the government's action is simply one feature of its program for cutting down its adverse foreign trade balance and reducing the drain on dollar funds. In our opinion the method adopted in this case is open to criticism, as we have already pointed out, but the ultimate objective is sound.

There is, however, one feature of the British film producers' statement that suggests an inability or unwillingness to appreciate the full extent of the sacrifice demanded from the British people as the price of emancipating themselves from dependence on foreign aid thinly disguised as loans. That is the suggestion that, with cooperation from the government "in respect to buildings and materials," the British motion picture industry could in the space of a few years increase the home supply of films and expand exports sufficiently to balance import of films.

Even assuming that such is the case—and we doubt it—any such program for immediate expansion of the industry in a fully protected home market would entail diversion of labor and materials from more essential domestic industries that are seriously handicapped by shortages of labor, fuel and raw materials for construction and manufacturing purposes. That sort of thing is responsible in part for Britain's plight. A country in Britain's position cannot afford under present conditions to scamp its basic industries for the sake of expanding industries providing entertainment for the public. It must forego the pleasant things of life in order to concentrate on production of goods that sustain life. It is a painful alternative but one that an impoverished nation cannot reject without courting economic and political disaster.

India's Day

August 15 has long been prominent in the table of memorable dates. For centuries it has been celebrated by Catholics as the feast of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary. It is the one hundred and seventy-eighth anniversary of the birth of Napoleon Bonaparte. It is the eight hundred and twenty-ninth anniversary of the death of the Byzantine Emperor Alexius Comnenus, who altered the history of the world by soliciting the help of Western Europe against the Seljuk Turks, thereby provoking the First Crusade. Today this date becomes memorable for yet another reason. It marks the end of the British Raj, and the advent of India to a place among the sovereign nations. This momentous event will be celebrated this morning here in Washington when His Excellency M. Asaf Ali, first Indian Ambassador to the United States, will raise the new flag of saffron, white and green over the embassy building, in the presence of whatever official celebrities the hot weather has left in the city. Similar ceremonies will occur in the Indian embassies and legations throughout the world and in all the government buildings of India itself.

Pandit Nehru has stated that he hopes this flag, flying over Indian diplomatic establishments and on Indian vessels, will carry "a message of comradeship, a message that India wants to be friends with every country in the world and that India wants to help any people who may lack freedom." That was well spoken. Americans for several generations have had very similar emotions about their own flag; though they have lived to discover that the desire to help peoples who wish to be helped may lead to strange and unforeseen complications. But it is certain at least that Pandit Nehru's will-to-friendship is strongly reciprocated here.

THE SPRING

The water tinkles; cup your hand;
Taste the sweetness of a mountain;
Taste the wine of moss and earth;
Drink from this small, meadow fountain.
You will learn, when you are older,
Love is like such little springs,
Bubbling from Time's granite boulder;
Love that flickers; love that sings.
Grief is there, its taste of tears;
Joy is there, a clear-cut fern
Pressed in the fossil of the mind.
You are little: you will learn!

Palestine Campaign

John Geiger's suggestion that an American Gestapo be set up to investigate the members of such organizations as he dislikes is quite in keeping with the totalitarian tone of the rest of his letter on Palestine published in your issue of August 11.

Non-Jewish DPs are not "forcibly prevented from returning to their native lands." They refuse to return to these countries, all of which are Soviet dominated, because they prefer the limited confinement in these camps to the prisons and Arctic timber camps of Russia.

"The exodus of Romanian Jews to Vienna" is not "wholly artificially enforced on people who wish to stay in their homeland." These people are fleeing from Romania because they are destitute and starving, because they are subjected to daily pogroms, because their property has not been returned to them, because the unpunished Romanian Fascists, who murdered several hundred thousand of them, are a daily reminder of their tragedy.

Finally, the American League for a Free Palestine conducts no "hooded campaign," whatever that may mean, to get "inexhaustible funds" from "mysterious sources." It frankly and openly appeals to Americans of every race and creed who sympathize with the tragedy of the Hebrew people and who oppose British tyranny and oppression in Palestine to aid the repatriation and Resistance of the Hebrew people. It seeks to raise $7,500,000 for this purpose, a pitiful fraction of the 170 million dollars raised for futile charity.

The perversity of Mr. Geiger in calling a free Palestine a mass ghetto, while he insists that the Hebrews remain in the pogrom-threatened ghettos of Romania and other east European countries, is exceeded only by his insolence in labelling as "convinced anti-Semites" the 70,000 non-Jewish members of the American League, among whom are the outstanding liberals and humanitarians of our country.

Restrictive Covenant

A beautiful stretch of woods and beach land on Chesapeake Bay is for sale by lot. I decided to buy a lot or two. The agent, a most affable gentleman, received me with courtesy and showed me the lots still available. All went well. I was ready to sign my check.

The gentleman picked up the application which I had to sign before purchase, and read the restrictions: "No house shall be built on these lots except for residence purposes only; all houses must be 20 feet at least from the road, etc."

But I had not bargained for what came next—a real blow between the eyes. "No one shall be permitted to own lots on this beach who is not of English, Irish, Scottish or German origin, or who is of the Negro race."

When I asked this courteous gentleman what this restriction meant exactly, out popped the words: "This means that if you were a Jew you could not buy land here." "But I am a Jew," I replied. The man looked astounded. He had failed to notice my long, crooked, hooked nose, my flapping ears, my high cheek-bones, and the horns growing out of my head.

When his shock and amazement had subsided, he said: "Well, no use signing this then, the company won't sell you." Then, as an afterthought, "Of course, it doesn't mention Jews here, but I've not known them to sell to a Jew. This is not anti-Semetic," he hastened to add, "not even Italians or Spaniards, or persons of Latin-American origin could buy here." "In other words," I added, "only white people can own lots here and bathe in these waters, and Jews, of course, are not white people. I wonder, was Jesus a white man?"

I am still wondering. The gentleman never answered that question.

Hughes Probe Lesson

With respect to the investigation of the Hughes plane contracts there appears to be little left to do but to pick up the pieces. Disheartening as the spectacle was, some of the fragments may be pieced together and a composition of some value retrieved.

What could have demonstrated more clearly the continuing freedom in the United States in matters that count than the retreat of an arm of the Government from an unsound position before the onslaught of private citizens? Quite aside from the mixed merits of the incomplete case, the fact that the Government cannot, as a matter of saving face, destroy the right of its citizens, is something worth recording and to be thankful for.

In other words, this investigation underscores the integrity that must accompany congressional investigations if they are to be successful and if they are to gain public support. Sometimes a false start shows us how seriously we do regard the rules of our games and how tenaciously we do hold to principles in the ordering of our public affairs.

This may be slight consolation but the reflection does remove some of the shame.

Halleck's Report

Mr. Halleck's report puzzles us. Republicans like Government interference if it supports what they favor. High tariffs, police protection, the postoffice are not called socialistic government interference, but public housing, public medical care, social security, and the TVA's successful fight against floods in that area are so considered. As to radicalism in Truman's Administration—do the resignations of Morgenthau, Wallace and Ickes indicate a radical turn or a conservative trend in this Administration? Does the President's successful fight of last year against Lewis and his plan to draft strikers into the service indicate radicalism or the opposite?

If the Republicans wish bureaucracy limited, why did they oppose FDR's plan to reorganize the Government? Does Truman's plan to set up the housing and home finance agency under Raymond Foley in order to consolidate housing functions increase or decrease bureaucracy?

Can we follow the Republicans in limiting spending at any cost and weaken our position in foreign affairs, even in the face of Russian initiative and British decline? Should we "save" by wrecking the school lunch program, rural electrification, by silencing the "Voice of America," by cutting expenditures on safety devices for airports, and by restricting the activities of the Veterans Administration and its services to those who won the victory over fascism?

Atomic Supplement

I want to congratulate The Washington Post for its section on atomic energy which was published August 3. It was a splendid presentation of the problem as it appears two years after Hiroshima.

The section deserves to be read by every thoughtful American who is interested in the matter of how this great source of energy shall be handled.

British Production Under Socialism

Prime Minister Attlee has called on the British people to "eat less and work more" to stave off a national debacle. This plea comes after eight years of austere living, including more than a year devoted to spending billions of American dollars furnished ostensibly to promote British economic recovery.

Unfortunately the British Socialist government has really been more interested in reform than in the recovery which was most needed. Moreover, so far as it paid attention to recovery, it concentrated on national recovery when the only successful recovery program would have had to cover not only England but at least all of western Europe and Germany.

England's national economic program, which reflects the inevitable nationalistic planning of socialism, has led to government encouragement of industries unsuited to the British Isles and has led consequently to much inefficient production. No one, Socialist or capitalist, can produce efficiently in England goods which because of natural economic conditions can be more easily produced elsewhere. The fact that England is badly off is due to inefficient production, not to maldistribution of the product.

The British failure to recover with American dollars is due not only to the deficiencies of nationalist planning but to the lack of proper incentives in the Socialist system. In Russia socialism is motivated by the popular desire for national power, prestige, security and wealth. This inevitably brings Russia into potentially violent conflict with other countries. England's moderate Socialists have not emphasized these dangerous incentives but they have not offered alternatives.

Consequently, in the nationalized coal industry production per man has gone below what it was prior to nationalization; and certainly that can't all be due to war weariness or lack of high dietary standards. Any economic system which is not dangerous from an international standpoint must give individuals incentives and rewards in the form of prestige, better income, and greater security, in return for superior individual contributions to the general welfare.

We ought to give economic aid to a British system which will really promote recovery. All the good purposes of socialism without its disadvantages could be achieved by a system in which wide private ownership is a basic feature. Workers need an ownership stake in their own factories, a share in risks and profits and losses if they are expected to work hard. Government to promote political liberty, social needs and economic liberty at the same time, without private monopoly, should encourage and guide such a free system in new ways.

Mr. Churchill, as opposition leader in England, might suggest that his government survey consumer needs, make some market guarantees at low prices per unit for a large volume of goods, give technical aids to producers to increase efficiency, foster cooperatives of some sort in retail distribution, spend more public funds on all kinds of education to increase general efficiency, and permit the chief industrial consumers of capital goods, raw materials and power to fix the prices of those commodities. Private employers could then guarantee moderate annual wages geared to production per man. Such a system would preserve all the valuable freedoms and offer incentives to production.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

La Follette's Aid

HARDLY A week passes without a printed report that some high Federal office is to be offered to former Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin. It has become something of a joke with the former Senator, who is now comfortably established in his own offices in Washington as economic consultant to several large corporations.

The explanation for these repeated rumors is not hard to find. La Follette's ability and his integrity were confirmed repeatedly during his years in the Senate. Add to this the fact that able men willing to accept responsible public assignments appear to be as scarce as hen's teeth.

Most of the La Follette rumors are baseless. Or they have such a shadowy relation to truth that no actual offer is ever conveyed to La Follette.

Strangely enough, the only position in Government that the former Senator has accepted since his defeat a year ago has almost entirely escaped attention. La Follette is a member of the committee which President Truman named to survey the resources of the United States in connection with the Marshall Plan for the reconstruction of Europe. Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman is chairman.

While he is only one of 19 members, who are unpaid and whose work has this far received little attention, La Follette's role is nevertheless highly significant.

HIS APPOINTMENT came at the "suggestion" of his long-time friend Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg. The President had made out a list of names to be appointed to the resources committee and, as is so often the case with such public bodies, they had a somewhat stale and familiar sound.

Vandenberg felt strongly that something more was required, since public acceptance of the resources report could conceivably turn on the degree of faith inspired by the members of the committee. Among Vandenberg's "suggestions" were La Follette and elder statesman Owen D. Young. Both men accepted the presidential appointment.

It is easy to say, of course, that America cannot afford not to help Europe out of the collapse produced by the war. If Europe cannot buy our goods—and exports have already begun to turn down—then we shall feel the effects here in declining payrolls and curtailed profits.

But with a continuing high level of demand in this country for most of the products of our farms and factories, this seems remote and theoretical. Scarcities and high prices particularly for a place to live breed an attitude summed up by "Let's take care of our own people before we help out any foreigners."

Those who have thought seriously about the problem of public acceptance for the Marshall program—and Vandenberg is one of them—are well aware of such attitudes. It is one reason why they were eager to have La Follette take a part.

IN THE YEARS leading up to Pearl Harbor, he was an isolationist. This was in the tradition of his father, "Fighting Bob" La Follette, who was pilloried for his efforts to keep the country out of World War I. During two crises which eventually led to war, the La Follettes held that the surest way to keep America free was to strengthen democracy here at home and avoid all foreign entanglements.

If the present head of the La Follette clan should now be convinced that America can and must spend most of her resources to stabilize the world, then other Midwesterners with the isolationist slant would be impressed. That was the belief of those who persuaded the former Senator to serve with the group now casting up the American balance sheet.

La Follette has been made head of a subcommittee that will draft the report. He will draw on the raw material of facts being compiled by Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug and his subcommittee, and the economic-financial facts to be supplied by Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

There is good reason to believe that La Follette's world outlook has undergone a change. Involvement in two world wars has inextricably tied the United States to Europe. Moreover, La Follette is acutely aware of Soviet Russia's world ambitions. The report he finally helps to draft should contribute immeasurably to the decision America must make.

Hysteria Over Russia

In The Washington Post of August 7, I read with deep interest Anna Blossom's letter, "Hysteria Over Russia." Since, as in the post-World War I era, the old order of power politics and its attendant uneasiness, uncertainties and confusions are rampant, your correspondent's views and thoughts were timely when she stated in part: "No nation need fear communism if it has something better to offer the people." Moreover, it was all the more significant when she added: "Have we so little confidence in the stability of the 'free enterprise and democracy' we continually speak of with such pride?"

Certainly these are more Communist proof suggestions than any other "doctrines" put together! Unfortunately, however, frequently such views as Anna Blossom's are branded and accused by some narrow-minded, reactionary elements as being Communist, radical and all that sort of thing.

U. S. And Europe

A Communication

AFTER MAKING a three-month trip by air as a working editor to Portugal, Spain, Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Italy, Germany, France and Britain, and stopping off in Washington, I have come home fairly optimistic about Europe, pessimistic about Palestine and bullish about America.

Europe is not going to hell for a while, at least. It is not going Communist, and is rapidly getting a bellyful of socialism.

There is not going to be war, although we may have to do some shooting to maintain our position in Berlin and in Greece. Russia cannot go to war, but she has been getting away with the biggest bluff in history. The coming war in Palestine, with its massacres, will probably be localized.

The present financial crisis in England is to be welcomed as a means of letting the British people know what is happening to them. As it spreads to France, and as the political crisis over Germany comes in November, events will clear the air for reconstruction, rather than for war.

WE AMERICANS are not going to stay at home. We are already beginning to do big things. The Associated Press, for instance, has begun to distribute, as a matter of private enterprise, a comprehensive world news report to papers throughout Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Italy, Greece, Egypt and even Iraq. Our airlines are blazing routes that are bringing the world closer and closer together. Everywhere American-made planes are used almost exclusively for airline transportation. We are turning what was a desert in Arabia into one of the greatest wealth producing regions in the world by our technique of sinking wells 18,000 feet deep. We are developing a source of fuel that can, in time, be a great boon to Europe.

The Marshall Plan is a good beginning in the use of our political, as distinguished from our economic power. It represents a welcome change in our diplomatic attitude. We have been too prone to assume that peace and prosperity can be bought, wrapped up in a package, by putting in enough dollars, the way we put nickels in a vending machine. We have poured in billions where self-help was being blighted as a matter of political policy by the recipients, such as England and France. We have, in the cases of Hungary, Yugoslavia and Romania, through our contributions to UNRRA, financed outright plunder and banditry.

NOW THAT the Marshall Plan recognizes that we have learned that money will not suffice, we should dare to be bold but just, generous but wise, in the use of our political power. If we pay the piper, we should have the right to call the tune. For one thing, any additional help to Britain and France should be contingent upon those nations increasing their production of coal. If the Britishers and Frenchmen won't dig coal, there is no reason why Americans should dig it for them. The day I was in Swansea, Wales, an American ship, the Fort Buford, arrived with 9040 tons of $22 coal dug by American miners. As these coal shipments continue, the British dollar fund will naturally be depleted.

If the British insist that the Ruhr must be socialized as a matter of political principle, we should at least tell them to assume the cost. American taxpayers should not be called upon to shoulder that burden. Instead of squabbling with the French over theoretical figures of future steel production in Germany, we should insist that we intend to make Germany self-supporting. Whatever is necessary to do, that we must do, thus relieving American taxpayers of that cost.

In critical areas like Greece and Berlin, we must not shrink from using our military force to maintain our positions. We should not hesitate to use our Army, which is our political fire department, to put out a small fire before it breaks into a conflagation.

AFTER SEEING the way Germans in the Berlin sector responded to our political advice and counsel in breaking the Communists' hold on our native government in Berlin, I could be optimistic enough to predict that we could win away much of eastern Europe from Soviet domination. The response of the Germans indicates how hungry the people of Europe are for freedom and how much harder they will work if they see they have a chance.

We must realize, however, that democracy is a system of politics that requires a reasonable amount of law and order, good faith and hard work to survive. Economic aid is necessary, but we could save billions of dollars by the use of our political power, in stimulating increased work.

Self-help is a reasonable and necessary first requirement. The world will be made wealthier, not poorer, by the increased production of wealth that will come from increased work. We need not worry about using up our natural resources, if we learn to accept more of other people's goods in exchange for what we send.

Matter Of Fact

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

The Case Of The Ten

THE SPOTLIGHT of attention may soon shift to one of the most complex and dangerous issues facing the American Government today—the issue of total security as against the civil rights of the individual. This will happen if, as now seems possible, a number of the 10 employes of the State Department, dismissed on grounds of "disloyalty" a few weeks ago, decide publicly to challenge the department on the issue.

These 10 people, none of them of top policy-making rank, and most of them well down the bureaucratic ladder, all received on the afternoon of June 26 the same mimeographed communication. They were curtly notified that, pursuant to the McCarran amendment to the State Department appropriation, which provided for the summary dismissal of any employes suspected of disloyalty, their services were terminated "with prejudice" as of that afternoon. Their names were not published. But a State Department press release announced their dismissals, and accused them of "indirect association with representatives of a foreign power." In the public mind, they were identified, however anonymously, as something close to traitors.

Most of the 10 immediately inquired of their superiors as to the cause of their dismissal, asking for the evidence on which it was based. This was not forthcoming. It was at first made apparent that there could be no appeal from the decision. Since then, in response to pressure both from inside and outside the department, a three-man loyalty board to review these and subsequent cases has been established.

TWO OR THREE of the 10 no doubt had very clear ideas of why they were dismissed. But unless some singularly masterful deception is under way, most of the others are sincerely mystified by the whole affair. One man, for example, can explain why the ax fell on him only in terms of the fact that he attended a few left-wing meetings in college days, out of curiosity. Another was the friend of a friend of a man who had fought with the Loyalists in the Spanish Civil War. Another somehow got on the mailing list of a left-wing bookstore. One man had once served as a technician on the staff of a professor known to be well to the left of center. And so on.

The suspicion inevitably arises that certain subordinate officials of the State Department, harking to congressional cries for Communist blood, decided that a respectable number of heads must be served up on a platter. This theory gains plausibility from the fact that at least two of the purgees were already on terminal leave from the department, and were recalled only for the purpose of dismissing them. Since these two individuals were not expected to return to work in the department under any circumstances, it is certainly possible that they were dismissed only to add to the department's box score.

No doubt it was assumed that the fact that no names were published would protect those dismissed. However, it has not worked out that way. In the first place, their fellow employes of course knew why they left the department so suddenly, and Washington is more addicted to gossip than Hog Corners. In the second place, employers have a habit of asking for references, and for reasons for leaving former employment. This fact has already stood between at least one of the 10 and a desirable position. Even those who have found new jobs live in constant fear of losing them if their employers discover why they left the State Department. A number of the 10 have been unable to find jobs, and are reported living on the charity of friends and sympathizers.

SOME OF THE ten purgees are doing what they can to get themselves reinstated, so that they may resign honorably. Failing that, there is at least a fair chance that one or two may decide to become the Dreyfuses in the case, and appeal directly to public opinion through the Civil Liberties Union. Such a public airing of the whole matter might indeed serve a useful purpose. For the issue involved is one of the gravest with which the American Government is faced.

After the Canadian espionage case, which proved beyond any doubt that the Soviet Union used members of the Communist Party as espionage agents against their native country, the State Department would be plain fatuous not to exclude rigorously any person believed to be pro-Communist. But an ideological attitude is something virtually impossible to prove by any known rules of evidence.

Therefore the Government must have some means of ridding itself of those who may only be suspected on reasonably solid grounds of pro-communism. Yet, as the case of the 10 seems clearly to indicate, this may work the harshest kind of injustice on individual Government employes. It is a kind of injustice, moreover, which strikes very close to the heart of American civil liberties. One proposal is that those against whom some valid grounds for suspicion exist should merely be allowed honorably to resign from Government service. At any rate, some reasonable solution must be found. If every independent-minded man in the Government is to be haunted by fears of J. Edgar Hoover's eager hawkshaws lurking under his desk, the already too evident trend toward Government-by-drones is sure to be vastly accelerated.

Jury to Get Eisler Passport Case Today

The passport fraud case against Gerhart Eisler, alleged Communist agent, will be placed in the hands of a District Court jury today.

Final argument in the case began yesterday and is to continue this morning. Then Justice James W. Morris will charge the jury.

Assistant United States Attorney William Hitz told the talesmen that Eisler "by intent and not by mistake" gave false answers in seeking a alien exit permit in 1945.

Defense Attorney Joseph Isserman countered by calling the entire Government's case a "tissue of lies."

Government Charges

The Government charges that Eisler fenoneously denied on the passport application that he was affliated with the Communist Party, that he used aliases, and had been in this country in 1934-1936.

Hitz said, "He gave the answers not by mistake . . . and he realized they were false when he wrote them down. These false answers were made to induce the State Department to give him the exit permit."

Isserman made much of the fact that Eisler is known as one of the earliest fighters against Naziism. He begged the jury to allow Eisler to go home to Germany where he "can participate in the building of a new democratic nation, in any capacity that he can."

Color Issue Raised

He spoke of the "dignity" of Communist witnesses and of Eisler's fight for "freedom and equality for all colors and creeds." (The jury has seven negroes on it.)

He repeated Eisler's testimony that he was "not an important Communist but a responsible Communist" and added, "This man had principle and integrity. This man did not sell out on his friends. This man did not sell articles to newspapers damning members of his own family."

The then said that the testimony of Eistler's sister, Ruth Fischer, was "impossible of belief." He pointed out that she sold newspaper articles disparaging her 50-year-old brother.

"That's what was rotten in this case—the testimony of some of the Government witnesses," Eisler said.

Budenz's Testimony Belittled

Of the testimony of Louis Budenz, the former Communist editor who was converted to the Catholic church and then pointed out Eisler as the leading agent of the Kremlin here, Isserman spoke of "dissembling, hiding, deceit."

"When a man quits, let him quit cleanly and honestly," Isserman said.

He said the FBI had admittedly watched Eisler and "trailed him. And after six years of watching him and trailing him, they found a way to try him. They went over this application with a fine tooth comb."

The 50-year-old defendant scribbled on a pad during the argument. "Already under bond after a one-year's sentence for contempt of Congress, Eisler faces up to five years imprisonment if convicted in the present case.

Odom Plans World Flight Via the Poles

Bill Odom, 27-year-old flier whose record-breaking flight around the world is worth talking about, visited Washington and President Truman yesterday more full of plans for the future than words for the past.

He constantly steered the conversations to coming flights with, of course, more than a casual word about his sponsor, Industrialist Milton Reynolds, of ball-point pen fame.

Odom flew here in his globe-girdling "Bombshell," a converted A-26 attack bomber, to receive the President's congratulations. As added distinction, he was honor guest at President Truman's press conference yesterday.

He told Russo-conscious newsmen he did not believe Russians have a plane today capable of duplicating his 73-hour air dash around the world, and that he'll go 6000 miles out of his way to avoid flying over Russian territory on his next world encirclement of Russia attempts to dictate conditions of the flight.

Odom said he was going ahead with plans to encircle the world again in November, this time via the North and South Poles. And he said he hoped to better his 73-hour mark though the proposed flight is longer and more hazardous. He won't fly alone on this trip, whcih is to be made in a B-32.

After talking to the President and newsmen, Odom made a Washington-encircling flight in his "Bombshell" with Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, just to demonstrate the plane to the President's military aide.

His immediate plan, Odom said, is to participate in the Bendix Air Races from Van Nuys, Calif., to Cleveland, on August 30. Before that, however, he's lined up for a celebration in his honor at Grand Rapids, Mich., today; a music festival in Chicago tomorrow and a welcome home celebration Sunday in his hometown, Kansas City.

The President's Calling List . . .

President Truman had the following callers at the White House yesterday:

10:30 a. m.—Press-radio conference.

11:00 a. m.—Oscar Chapman, Undersecretary of Interior.

11:15 a. m.—Senator Pepper (D., Fla.).

11:30 a. m.—Budget Director James E. Webb.

12:15 p. m.—Federal Security Administrator Watson B. Miller.

12:30 p. m.—Robert Lovett, Acting Secretary of State.

The Gallup Poll

9 Out of 10 People in U. S. Heard About 'Flying Saucers'

By George Gallup

Princeton, N. J., Aug. 14.—Now that the uproar over the "flying saucers" has subsided, it is a good time to take a look at what the general public thought about them.

In the first place, the results of publicity received by the discs would have been the answer to a press agent's prayer. Nine out of ten Americans have heard about the phenomena, which were first reported June 25.

As a test of the public's knowledge about current events, this looms very large indeed and places the saucers on a par with Orson Welles' "invasion from Mars," the Loch Ness monster and Tom Thumb Golf.

As an indication of how the saucer story spread, it need only be pointed out that at the same time only about half the people had heard about the Marshall Plan, and only 61 per cent had heard or read about the Taft-Hartley labor bill.

Among college graduates, only 2 per cent said they had not heard of the saucers, while 17 per cent of those with grammar school education or less were ignorant of the subject.

When it comes to having an idea what the "celestial crockery" really was, answers that people give are divided among (1) no idea at all; (2) imagination or hoax; (3) something real.

What do you think these saucers are?

No answer, don't know	33%
Imagination, optical illusion, mirage, etc.	29
Hoax	10
United States secret weapon, part of atomic bomb, etc.	15
Weather forecasting devices	3
Russian secret weapon	1
Searchlights on airplanes	2
Other explanations	9
	102%*

*Adds to more than 100 per cent because some gave more than one answer.

Guesses ranged all the way from the practical to the miraculous. Among the latter was a woman, citing Biblical text, who said it was a sign of the world's end. A man in the West thought the discs were radio waves from the Bikini atomic bomb explosion, while another man saw in them a new product being put out by the "DuPont people."

A few people smelled a publicity or advertising stunt, while others felt sure that the saucers were after all only some kind of meteor or comet.

Further study of earlier "information" polls shows that the 90 per cent who know about the saucers compare with the 8 out of 10 voters who last January did not know what the Wagner Act contained, the 51 per cent who couldn't tell what "balancing the Federal budget" means. A recent event that approached the saucers in penetration of public consciousness was the Georgia Governors' battle last winter, of which 84 per cent of the people had heard.

Rail Passengers Get First Taste Of Phone Service

Telephone service for railroad passengers made its debut yesterday afternoon aboard two trains speeding along the Washington-New York route.

The demonstration featured telephone calls between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Royal Blue, highballing out of Washington, and Pennsylvania's Congressional Limited traveling from New York.

Starting today, the new service will be available to the public on both trains on an experimental basis at mobile telephone rates. Phones will also be installed on August 22 on Pennsylvania's Potomac and Legislator.

Calls go by radio from the lounge of the moving train to the nearest of the Bell System's land-radio telephones relay stations, then are routed onto land trunk wires.

Marx's 'Kapital' Needs Rewriting, Shaw Declares

London, Aug. 14 (AP).—Karl Marx's "Das Kapital," the monumental nineteenth-century work which has been crediated with bringing social revolution to much of Europe by serving as the basis of Communist ideology, needs to be rewritten, George Bernard Shaw declared today.

"Much of it is obsolete and unreadable," Shaw said in a letter to the New Statesman and Nation, liberal British weekly.

Parts of the book, he said, are "quite unbearable and its discussion a waste of time."

Shaw contended that the book could be kept alive "only if it is corrected and made readable in a single cheap volume."

"Here, then, is a job for some young world-betterer at a loss for something to do," he concluded. "Who speaks first?"

Soviet Attache Recalled On Swedish Complaint

Stockholm, Aug. 14 (AP).—The Swedish Foreign Office said today a Soviet deputy military attache, A. Bakourski, had left for Russia. The communique said that Bakourski had been summoned to the Foreign Office recently when it was learned he had visited "prohibited military areas" of the Stockholm archipelago. A Foreign Office spokesman declined to say whether Bakourski's recall had been demanded of Moscow.

Four days ago the Soviet charge d'affaires, E. Basarov, was summoned to the Foreign Office, where he heard official Swedish complaints that another deputy military attache, W. Konnow, and a Russian companion made a bicycle tour across military defense areas close to the Swedish borders.

Japan Will Use Gold, Silver Cache For Dollar Credit

Tokyo, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that Japan will use a 137-million-dollar stockpile of gold and silver, which is part of a larger hoard of jewels and precious metals, as a credit base with which to finance an import-export program.

The stockpile actually will be security for loans which could run as high as 500 million dollars, officials said.

Earlier this week the Far Eastern Commission, composed of 11 Allied nations meeting in Washington, made available 137 million dollars for Japan to acquire foreign exchange. The sum will be used to form an export-import revolving fund.

Private or government financing institutions of Allied or neutral countries will be asked to advance loans against the fund to help promote trade with Japan.

Senators to Propose Tax Simplification

Senator Herbert R. O'Conor (D., Md.) said yesterday a Senate subcommittee planned to come forward soon with proposals to simplify the country's tax structure by wiping out a lot of overlapping present Federal and State levies.

He said in a statement that recommendations would be ready for the Council of State Governments when it meets in Chicago, September 26. He is a former council president.

Milk Strike Threat Ends

A Gag Marx the Spot

Groucho, PLUS Pair of Carmens

By Richard L. Coe

ONE MARX BROTHER is better than none, so it's fun to have Groucho back at the Capitol. He's teamed with Carmen Miranda in a frenzied, often funny antic titled "Copacabana."

Groucho, of course, is one of the great men of our desultory day—sly, conceited and an overstuffed bore. His genius is for the casual, and in the cool fastness of the F st. cathedral on a day so repulsive as yesterday he seemed even more inspired than usual. When he is clowning with the fantastic Miranda, "Copacabana" has considerable laughter.

In the film he plays Lionel Q. Devereaux and someone asks what the "Q" stands for. "Why," remarks Groucho, "my father used to hang around a poolroom." The plot demands that La Miranda play two people—a coy Parisienne and a sultry Latin American. When she has trouble being both people at once, she complains, "I can't be two places at the same time." "Why not?" asks Groucho. "Boston and Philadelphia are two places at the same time."

That's the sort of patter that goes on between them, and in the silly season it seems to be clothed with mild inspiration. The plot is entirely too unbelievable to stand transposition through our dank typewriter, but its scene is the New York night club which gives its name to the musical.

Grown-up Gloria Jean

Since night clubs of the real variety all too often achieve a degree of shattering boredom, it's only natural that the parts of "Copacabana" not forcused on Carmen and Groucho are pretty tedious. There are some uninspired production numbers and tuneless songs, but they're expected soporifics.

To sing these songs are Andy Russell and Gloria Jean. It's rather a shock to find that the one-time Durbin successor has herself become a grownup, and she's pretty in a pallid sort of way.

As to Russell, his popularity eludes this observer. His voice has the uneven moan of a broken electric fan and the merciless closeups of his teeth only lead you to the notion that here is a mouth with twice as many teeth as ordinary mortals'. His face suggests the results of Perc Westmore make-up on a horse.

Dreary as are the spots between Carmen's double impersonations and Groucho's whimsical observations, the two of them make "Copacabana" good for some laughs in cool comfort.

Luba Malina on Stage

Another tidy female tops the stage bill, Luba Malina. Her singing comedienne facility is naughty but proper; perhaps you saw her in "Mexican Hayride" or "Marinka." She does a Cole Porter from the former and then recalls some friends in several other patter numbers.

Jack E. Leonard is the bill's comic and emcee. Lathrop and Lee, always an effective tap duo, were hampered by the delay of their wardrobe in the Pennsylvania railroad accident, but theirs is a likeable act. The Emerald Sisters complete the bill with an acrobatic turn.

CATHOLIC University's first play festival script, "All Gaul Is Divded," has been contracted for New York production . . . J. Michael Lambur and J. F. Golden are the producers, David Folks will design the set and costumes and the university's Walter Kerr will direct . . . The author is Student John McGiver and his subject, as you may recall, is a farcical treatment of Army personnel in the French black market . . . Casting gets under way in Gotham in a few weeks, with either a New York or Chicago opening in mid-October.

MELVILLE COOPER is taking over the direction of "We Love a Lassie," the new comedy the Messrs. Shubert will play at the National before its New York opening the week of September 1. . . . Cooper usually confines himself to acting, though he'd probably like to forget his last debacle here. . . . That was in "The Haven," and it's well forgotten . . . After "We Love a Lassie" gets under way, Cooper goes into the J. B. Priestley import, "An Inspector Calls."

"COPACABANA." United Artists release produced by Sam Coslow. Screenplay by Laslo Vadney, Alan Boretz and Howard Harris, with additional dialogue by Sydney R. Zelinka. Words and music by Sam Cowlow. Directed by Alfred E. Green. At the Capitol.

2½ Minutes of Pure Comedy Don't Quite Vivify 'Corpse'

By Leo Brady

Una O'Connor and Cliff Clark, two bit players in "The Corpse Came C. O. D." at the Metropolitan, do their best to set a funny example for the rest of the company. Since their combined footage runs something like 2½ minutes, nobody follows their example.

As a result, the film, which aims at being a fast-clip, wise-crack-in-the-face-of-danger farce mystery melodrama, not only misses the target, but backfires. Its dialogue is only half witty, its performances are labored and shrill and its direction has the pace and rhythm of a caterpillar with two wooden legs. It looks very much like a picture concocted on the premise that audiences are more gullible in hot weather—a theory that has never been proved.

In other hands, the plot, which is derived from a novel by Jimmy Starr, might have held up. It follows George Brent and Joan Blondell, a couple of wacky Hollywood reporters, while they solve a series of studio murders. Key figure in the whirligig is Adele Jurgens and she's a key figure because the producers try to cover up some of their own insensibilities by uncovering Miss Jergens at strategic points.

A narrative prologue with glimpses of the leading newsmongers of the film colony tries to stir up a little added interest. Probably if you were a producer with a film like this on your hands, you'd put Hedda Hopper and company in it, too. But it wouldn't help. Una O'Connor and that running gag on the set would still win out.

The supporting program at the Met includes the first issue of Warner-Pathe News and is the most engrossing thing on the bill. Warners, in adopting the crowing rooster, try to give the rundown of the news some kind of unity and connection. The effort is praiseworthy. It might be even more laudable if they side-stepped the usual horse and boat races which the standard cameras cover and focused on really significant material. This should be possible without overlapping the March of Time. Also, the late Rags Ragland, continuous from 10:15 a. m. to 12 midnight.

Romania Sets Penalties

Soviet Commander in Korea 'Too Busy' to Meet U. S. Chief

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Col. Gen. Terenty F. Shtikov, chief Soviet representative on the joint commission for Korea, declined an American invitation to hold a commission meeting today because he was "busy."

Maj. Gen. Albert E. Brown, chief American delegate, had proposed a special session to discuss United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall's statement yesterday requesting the commission to prepare a report by August 21 on its efforts to establish a Korean provisional government.

Brown vigorously denied the commission would adjourn while its reports were being studied on higher diplomatic levels. "As far as I am concerned," the general said, "the commission will go on and make every effort to evolve a provisional government."

Meanwhile, United States Army officials clamped down a strict 11 p. m. to 6 a. m. curfew on all military personnel and ordered all Army vehicles specially armed as natives planned a giant and potentially explosive celebration of the second anniversary of liberation from Japan.

Mountbatten Is Made Earl

Earls are in the third highest rank of peerage, below Dukes and Marquesses. The announcement gave no indication what title Mountbatten would take.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WASHINGTON: FRIDAY, AUGUST 15, 1947

The Federal Diary

By Jerry Kluttz

Removal of ten State Department employes as "bad security risks" was revealed yesterday by the Civil Service Commission in a report to the House Civil Service Committee.

Kluttz

The separations, for causes "involving Communism," occurred since March 31 and are in addition to the ten employes dismissed for Communistic involvement and 14 applicants rejected during the nine months preceding March 31.

The Commission did not identify the employes or state whether their positions were major or minor ones. The report did state that two of the ten "were removed from their jobs" and the other eight "separated by administrative action (resignations and reductions-in-force) before the cases were completely processed for removal on loyalty grounds."

Eight agencies said they had not fired anyone on loyalty grounds: War Assets, National Housing, Budget Bureau, Smithsonian, Federal Trade, Alien Property, Railroad Retirement and the Office of Scientific Research and Development.

VA.: Dismissal notices to several hundred employes here in Veterans Administration will go out on August 29. The notices will become effective the end of September. Every employe to be laid off will be given a 30-day-on-the-job notice.

A restudy, however, shows that fewer than 500 employes here will get the notices. The number may be even smaller, depending on turnover during the next several weeks. VA first estimated 700 employes here would be fired in the big lay-off that will wipe out 8000 administrative jobs the country over. In the field offices, some lay-offs already have been ordered.

STATE: A number of former employes in United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation, now in liquidation, are seeking jobs with State on the Greek-Turkish aid program. Most of them have been rejected. Perhaps this is the reason: When State officials were before Congress seeking funds for the program, Senator Bridges (R., N. H.) told them:

"I'm utterly disgusted with the way UNRRA was handled and I had hoped that no UNRRA employe would be connected with the Greek-Turkish program."

State officials promised to have the FBI screen all employes assigned to the program.

PEOPLE: Carl O. Orescan will resign from the staff of the House Appropriations Committee to join the State Department. He handled the budgets of State, Justice, and Commerce departments . . . Manny DeAngelis is resigning as chief of Civil Service's planning staff to go to Greece with a U. S. mission . . . Joseph McDaniels will resign as an Assistant to the Commerce Secretary to join the faculty at Northwestern University.

WAR: Kenneth Johnson, an assistant to the War Undersecretary, is reported to be slated for a promotion to Assistant Secretary of War under the new national defense organizatoin.

HEAT: Federal employes are being released because of the heat, but the number is very small in comparison with the total. Veterans Administration, Treasury, General Accounting, and a number of other agencies excused individuals who were suffering rather than close down all offices.

For the information of all employes and officials—the Government does not today have a "heat policy" as it had before the war. Some years ago the close-down of agencies was automatic when the temperature and humidity combined to reach a certain level. That practice was dropped during the war and it won't be resumed. The general policy is to oppose mass releases except in extreme cases of overheated buildings.

Also, the department or agency head must himself decide when to release employes. Of course, this leads to unequal treatment of employes. Some employes are made to work in hotter offices than those from which people were excused. But that's Government.

CENSUS: These are "clean-up" days in some Census offices. Maxwell R. Conklin, chief of the industry division, has given his employes a lecture on their "untidy and miserable looking" offices. He has assigned two officials to see that they are cleaned up.

LABOR: The President yesterday confirmed a story here Wednesday that he would propose to Congress that the United States Employment Service and the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation be transferred to the labor Department. And here's another tip—the Federal Security Agency will not oppose his plan. FSA officials did make a case before Congress for USES several months ago despite the President's request that it remain in Labor.

VETERANS: The decision of the Civil Service Commission in appeal cases involving veterans are now mandatory on the agencies. The President recently signed into law a bill on that subject.

However, Civil Service isn't sure whether the law covers cases of veterans who are laid off. And the Attroney General will be asked to decide the problem.

The new law is an amendment to Section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act. That section covers discharges, suspensions, reductions in rank. However, the clauses in Section 14 dealing with reductions in force weren't touched by the new law.

Buck to Ask Law Barring Drinking by Juveniles

Senator to Urge Congress to Act Unless District Solves Problem

Senator C. Douglass Buck (R., Del.) said yesterday he would seek congressional action to stop children's drinking in District establishments if the Commissioners can't do it under existing law.

Senator Buck, chairman of the Senate District Committee, said it seemed "clear" to him that Congress didn't intend that children should drink, exen if adults obtained the drinks and paid for them.

He made the statement after members of the District legal staff said they doubted the legality of a new regulation proposed by the Alcoholic Control Board to ban minors' drinking in local taverns.

Says Action Is Needed

Action should be taken, Senator Buck said, to stop the practice outlined Monday by Corporation Counsel Vernon E. West, who ruled it was legal for children to drink if adults ordered, paid for, and received the drinks first.

Spokesmen in the Corporation Counsel's office said it was doubtful if the Commissioners, who have not yet seen the ABC proposal, could legally stop minors from drinking. But they said it might be possible for the city heads to order a regulation making it illegal to serve drinks to tables where children are present.

Reaction against West's interpretation continued to pile up yesterday.

Drys Call It 'Shock'

Deets Pickett, editor of "The Clipsheet," published by the Methodist Church's Board of Temperance, said West's ruling was a "profound shock (to) the general public." "Perhaps this ruling merely legalizes the general practice in the Nation's Capital where juvenile delinquency and drink-caused crime are major problems," he declared.

Milton S. Kronheim, wholesale liquor dealer, sent a letter to all District ABC license-holders urging: "Let us not take a single chance of making a sale to a minor in these or any other days. Sales to minors cannot—whether legal or illegal—benefit this business."

Holsinger to End 18-Yr. Leadership Of Farm Bureau

Richmond, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—G. F. Holsinger of McGaheysville, president of the Virginia Farm Bureau Federation for the past 18 years, told the quarterly meeting of the board of directors that he would not be candidate for re-election at the annual convention to be held here in November.

The farm bureau has more than 21,000 members in 65 counties.

Election of officers will be held at the State convention on November 12 and 13. The board of directors today authorized Holsinger to name a nominating committee and he appointed A. Gordon Willis, Culpeper, chairman; E. L. Felton, Nansemond; Elmer Jordan, Rockingham; Dallas Newman, Wythe; M. J. Pease, Frederick County; G. Dayton Hodges, Augusta, and W. S. Adkisson of Halifax.

Present officers of the federation, in addition to Holsinger are: H. S. Zigler, Timberville, vice president; CMV. Smith, Harrisonburg, treasurer; M. A. Hubbard, Richmond, executive secretary.

Hospital Plans Are Due Soon

Lynchburg, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—The State hospital board, meeting at Lynchburg State colony today, was told by Dr. Joseph E. Barrett, State hospital commissioner, that preliminary plans for proposed new buildings at the local institution would be ready for approval by about the latter part of this month.

At the same time, the board rejected the existing plans for a proposed new building to house criminally insane at Central State Hospital, Petersburg, and issued instructions that the building committee for that institution proceed with new plans for a building to conform to new standards set by the State board and the United States Public Health Service.

Murray to Address Shipyard Strikers

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP).—Baltimore's 13,000 striking shipyard workers plan to assemble here tomorrow night to hear an address by CIO President Philip Murray, as both union and company officials issued new statements concerning the work stoppage.

Walter H. Oakes, regional director of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of American (CIO), said Murray would address the first joint meeting of all four IUMSWA locals since the strike was called June 26 at the Bethlehem Steel Co. yards and on July 2 at the Maryland Drydock Co.

Policemen Turn Carpenters and Bricklayers .

The Washington Post

ON POLICE TIME—Members of the Metropolitan Police Department and helpers continue their work on a cell block in the basement of the Municipal Building preparatory to moving No. 1 Precinct Station there. The brick wall, about 25 feet long and 12 feet high, is being completed and the ceiling is being lined with plasterboard. At work yesterday are (from left) Albert Garner, sewer department employe loaned to the police department; Police Corpl. M. S. McCarthy of the Accident Investigation Unit; Detective Sergt. G. W. Chapman of the General Assignment Squad; J. W. Pyles and O. T. Ketcham, Municipal Building electricians, helping out with the job. The men are working on police time. Today the ceiling will be plastered by a policeman from No. 1 Precinct

Faulty Wire Short Circuits, Kills Md. Man

A 27-year-old Carmody Hills, Md., man was killed yesterday morning when he came into contact with a short circuited electric wire extension cord while working on his automobile.

The man, James R. Moreland, was using a light on the extension cord while working underneath the car in a garage in the rear of a house two doors away from his home at 7215 F st.

The accident was discovered when his 3-year-old son, James, jr., ran from the garage screaming, "The car fell on my daddy!"

A neighbor, Avery Coleman, 20, 519 72d pl., attracted by the child's cries, tried to pull Moreland from underneath the car, but said that he received a severe shock. He then disconnected the light cord and was successful in removing the man.

Dr. William Brainin, of Capitol Heights pronounced Moreland dead when he arrived at the scene after efforts of the District Heights Rescue Squad to revive him failed.

A certificate of accidental death from shock due to electrocution was issued by Dr. James I. Boyd, Prince Georges County medical examiner.

Plane's Propeller Injures Md. Girl

The whirling propeller of a Piper Cub plane struck down a 13-year-old girl on Shadow Lawn Farm, near Gaithersburg, Md., at about 11:30 a.m. yesterday.

The girl, Martha Jane Repass, a sixth-grade student at Elementary School, was fighting for her life last night in Suburban Hospital at Bethesda.

Martha

A witness to the unusual accident was Hazel Hurst, 14. The fathers of both girls are tenant farmers at Shadow Lawn Farm. The two girls were hanging out laundry when the small plane passed over. It was piloted by Robert J. Wolfe, 20, of Germantown, whose father is employed at the farm.

Ran Into Propellor

Wolfe, Montgomery County police were told, landed his Piper Cub in a nearby field and the two girls went to greet him. After they reached the plane a truck carrying Roland Repass, 16, Martha's brother, and Howard Hurst, 19, Hazel's brother, drove by on an adjoining highway.

The Hurst girl wasn't sure what had happened, only that he friend suddenly stepped into the path of the spinning prop and was knocked to the ground.

Young Wolfe told police that the girl apparently to run toward the truck and ran headlong into the prop. The entire length of the left side of the girl's face was deeply gashed. One end of the propellor blade was broken and splintered.

Given Transfusion

The girl was rushed to Suburban Hospital by the Gaithersburg Rescue squad and given an immediate blood transfusion. The blood donor was Pvt. Lester Jones attached to the county police substation at Bethesda. She was later given additional injections of plasma.

Six Policemen Build Quarters

used in the construction is being requisitioned through Lieut. James H. Cox, purchasing officer of the department.

The offices being built in addition to the cell block in the basement will be used to house the station clerks, who will admit and release prisoners from the cells. Another office will be used as an interview room where attorneys will be able to talk to their clients.

The squad room and other offices of No. 1 Precinct are expected to be on the second floor of the Municipal Building in space recently vacated by the District Weights and Measures Department and the Veterans Administration.

2-Day-Old Baby, Life in Danger, Flown to Hospital

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP).—A baby less than two days old was flown here from Peninsula General Hospital at Salisbury today for emergency treatment at Johns Hopkins Hospital when irregularities of the esophagus and wind pipe endangered her life.

Dr. H. A. Robbins of Berlin, Md., reported the baby was not in immediate danger. He described her condition as an "anomaly of the trachea and esophagus."

The child was born at 7 p. m. Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Wright of Snow Hill, Md. The father, office manager of a poultry firm, and Dr. Robbins flew to Baltimore with the baby, with oxygen equipment aboard the airliner.

The baby weighed five pounds at birth. The mother was described in "satisfactory" condition.

Martin Workers Get Pay Increase

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP).—The Glenn L. Martin Co. announced today it was giving all hourly employes a wage increase of 7 cents retroactive to August 1. The increase was put into effect after the company previously wrote two unions seeking to be bargaining representative for the airplane plant workers of its offer.

The United Auto Workers (CIO) replied it had no objections to the increase, but that it intended to negotiate for more after an election August 21. The International Association of Machinists, the other union on the ballot, replied the 7 cents was not enough.

Hundreds Get New Leases, Pay More Rent

Hundreds of Greater Washington landlords and tenants are signing new leases embodying voluntary 15 per cent rent boosts.

This was revealed in a survey yesterday.

By far the greatest number of such agreements were being drawn in Virginia area, the study showed.

2300 Leases Filed

John Sieber, attorney for the Arlington Rent Control Board, which also serves the City of Alexandria and Fairfax County, estimated some 2300 such leases "have been filed to date." He anticipated a total of 5000 by the end of August.

Units in which the majority of tenants have signed, he reported, include Buckingham, Arlington Village and Colonial Village.

Under the new national rent law, which does not cover the District, tenants may agree to rent boosts up to 15 per cent in return for leases running at least through 1948.

In Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties, an official of the Office of the Housing Expediter announced, 185 leases calling for rent increases up to 15 per cent had been filed through July 25. A spokesman for the Silver Spring Rent Control Administration said, however, "they're coming in heavily," and indicated the figure will be way up by the month's end.

Petitions Filed Here

Tenants and landlords began signing the new agreement July 1.

Ellis M. Jones, executive secretary of the Montgomery County Real Estate Board, reported that in some instances acceptance of the "extended leases at the 15 per cent increase" has been "100 per cent."

In Washington, meanwhile, a spokesman for the Real Estate Board said "everything is status quo." He reported that several real estate groups have petitions before Rent Control Administrator Robert F. Congswell to authorize limited rent boosts. An extension of District rent control was voted by the last Congress.

16th St. Apartment Seeks to Raise Rent

The District Rent Control Administration yesterday was asked to grant straight 20 per cent rent boosts for 43 units of Ambassador Apartments, 1750 16th st. nw.

Rent Control officials said the owners, Capital Realty Company, sought the hike to cover a rise in maintenance costs. Herman Miller, taxes, salaries, coal and other owners' attorney, said the company also planned installation of a modern elevator and other renovations.

The company also asked permission to eliminate telephone switchboard service in favor of private phones for tenants, officials revealed.

Present rents at the Ambassador Apartments range from $27.50 to $55 per month, Miller said.

Father and Son Unhurt As Car Is Demolished

Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 14 (AP).—Joseph G. Vance, 60, and his 40-year-old son, Joseph H., of Hancock weren't even scratched today when their car was hit and demolished by a Western Maryland Railroad freight engine, State Police Sergt. Jesse B. Brown reported.

Brown said the impact tossed the car from one side of a crossing to the other. He identified the elder Vance as driver of the auto.

Fire Board's James Trial Nears End

Decision Probably Will Not Be Made Public Before Next Week, Is Opinion

The trial of Captain William V. James, suspended as commanding officer of No. 18 Engine House on charges he unnecessarily jeopardized the lives of men under him, will go into its fourth and final day today.

Decision of the three-man Fire Department Trial Board on justice of three charges against James probably will not be made public before next week, however.

Yesterday's testimony before the board was highlighted by the statement of I. J. Dahlstrom, Fire Department superintendent of machinery, that to his knowledge Captain James had not made a request for crankcase oil or any other cleaning or preservative oils "within a reasonable time" before July 17, date of the explosion at the engine house in which four firemen were injured.

No Oil Available

James had testified before the bzoard that no crankcase oil was available for use in lubricating the engine house boiler, and that he therefore had ordered a mixture composed in equal parts of gasoline and lubricating oil.

The board also heard Acting Fire Chief Engineer Frank G. Berry testify that in his opinion James is guilty of the three charges against him—of failing to exercise proper judgment in using the gas oil mixture; of unnecessarily jeopardizing the lives and limbs of others; and of failing to take appropriate action to insure safety and proper maintenance of personnel and property.

Defense counsel Renah F. Camalier and George McNeil made an unsuccessful appeal to the trial board to rule out Berry's testimony on the grounds that, as acting fire chief while Clement Murphy is on vacation, he would have discretionary powers in whatever decision was made on the James suspension.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Edward A. Beard, prosecuting the case, pointed out that according to regulations, the chief engineer had no discretionary powers in suspension cases after they had reached the fire trial board level.

Rebuttal Witnesses Appear

Berry and Dahlstrom, as well as Deputy Chief Joseph A. Mayhew, were rebuttal witnesses presented by the prosecution in the afternoon session of the trial yesterday.

During the morning session, the board heard three defense witnesses testify in support of James' actions on the day of the explosion. They were Battalion Chief Fred Litteral, Capt. Walter A. Weber, and Capt. Leo Bruce Wilson.

Wilson testified that he believed the fire which started in the engine house basement while the gas-oil mixture was being used probably started in the chimney above the boiler.

Beard asked him if he intended to make such testimony in the light of three witnesses who said they saw flames shoot across the floor of the basement.

Wilson replied that he intended to stick to his statement.

"Their vision would betray them, then," said Beard.

Wilson said that he believed the gasoline vapors "normally" would be siphoned out through the chimney, rather than come out into the room. He said he believed the flash fire which injured the four firemen was caused by a spark in the chimney, rather than by the ignition of flame from the "bug" or pot-bellied stove in which a fire was burning at the time the gas-oil mixture was used.

D. C. Firemen's Feud Under Investigation

Fire Capt. Joseph W. Conroy's charges that Fire Chief Clement Murphy is demoralizing the department are being thoroughly probed and may result in trial board action against either Conroy or Murphy.

This was disclosed yesterday by members of the District legal staff, who said District firemen "and others" have been quietly questioned on the matter during the past two months.

The Commissioners, who ordered the investigation last June, have consistently kept the probe under wraps by refusing to comment.

Captain Conroy hurled the charges at Murphy before a House District Subcommittee June 17, while testifying in his capacity as president of Local 36, International Association of Firefighters. The Commissioners subsequently ordered Assistant Corporation Counsel Chester Gray to investigate Conroy's allegations.

If Conroy's statements are substantiated, the Commissioners said when the probe began, action might be taken against Chief Murphy. But if the charges prove groundless, Conroy might be on the carpet for hurting the efficiency and effectiveness of the department, they indicated.

Gray said yesterday he "hoped" to have an investigation report and recommendation ready for the Commissioners next month.

The drawn-out probe, meanwhile, has done nothing to heal the breach between Conroy and Murphy supporters in the Fire Department.

ZOO'S NEW MAGPIES

A couple of boids in a gilded cage

"Mr. Testudo," alias Rum Blossom, had a fine time at the Zoo yesterday, turtling from rock to rock against a painted background of palm trees.

So did Gumdrop and Licorice, the Zoo's two new black vultures.

Although they had only been acquired by the Zoo Wednesday—and Rum Blossom, a tortoise, had originally come all the way from Eringhausen, Germany — they seemed perfectly at home in their new surroundings, the reptile and bird houses, respectively.

Other recent acquisitions, Dr. William M. Mann, Zoo director, announced yesterday, are three California yellow-billed magpies—which do more flitting than chattering—and 10 lizards (four wall, four agile and two eyed).

All of these species are new to the zoo now, Dr. Mann said. These particular types had been there in "years past" but all of them had died.

Gumdrop and Licorice, so named because Assistant Headkeeeper Malcolm Davis is fond of both types of candy, were donated by the YMCA boys of Camp Letts, Edgewater, Md.

The magpies, a gift of A. D. Blalock og Orinda, Calif., come from Southern California, the only place where magpies with yellow beaks are found.

The far-traveling Rum Blossom, whose name is painted on its amber and black turtle shell, was found by the 157th Ordnance Maintenance Battalion in Germany and brought to the United States in January 1946.

The lizards, purchased from a New Jersey dealer, enjoy a diet of varied insects, specializing in bugs and worms.

Maryland Extends Sales Tax Limit For 'Grumblers'

Baltimore, Aug. 14 (AP).—The State's retail tax division today extended by 150 minutes the deadline for the filing of first returns from the new 2 per cent levy.

Originally, some 43,000 Maryland merchants who have been collecting the tax since July 1 were obligated to file their July returns and remit the month's collections to the division by 4:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Now they will have until 7 p. m.

The extension was ordered as hundreds of "collectors" shuffled through the division's main office in downtown Baltimore and formed a long, grumbling line along the street.

Manager, 68, Foils Looting Of Laundry By Gameness

Clinton (Md.) Man Taken to Hospital With Head Wounds As Assailant Flees

A 68-year-old branch laundry manager was struck down yesterday in what police said apparently an attempted robbery by violence similar to the attack and robbery Wednesday of a District grocer.

Yesterday's fruitless attack sent William W. Koontz of Clinton, Md. to Sibley Hospital for treatment of head cuts. His assailant fled when the game manager staggered to his feet after being felled in surprise.

Koontz, who manages the 201 K st. nw. branch of the Washington Laundry, told police a man entered the store at 8:30 a. m. and asked to have a pair of brown pants cleaned. He gave the name of James Morris.

As Koontz leaned over to fill out the order slip, he said, the man struck him savagely with a homemade blackjack. The manager slumped to the floor, groggily; shook his head to clear it, and came up fighting.

Surprised, the assailant a Negro dropped his weapon—a rock inside a sock—and fled. Koontz ran to the doorway after him, calling for help. Knootz said later there was but little money in the cash drawer at the time.

Police stressed the similarity of the attack with what they know of Wednesday's assault on Louis H. Friedman, 55, proprietor of a District Grocery Store, at 53 D st. se. Friedman was still in critical condition last night at Casualty Hospital, too serious for questioning.

The grocer was found at 7:30 a. m., Wednesday, in a dazed crouch behind his counter. He suffered a double fracture of the skull and possible brain hemorrhage; his wallet with unspecified content and $100 from the store cash register were missing. No weapon was found.

Police said Friedman, too, was probably taken by surprise, perhaps as he leaned over the counter in conversation with his unknown assailant.

The grocer had operated the store only four months, friends said. Before that, he owned another store and had worked for the Hamilton Liquor Store, 22d and N sts. ne., for about nine years.

Other Thefts Reported In Washington Area

A $67 pocketbook snatching, the theft of $411 worth of ladies' dresses, and the restaurant loss of $109 in cash and an undetermined quantity of liquor were reported to police yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Ryan, of 1438 Florida ave. nw., told police her handbag with $67, spectacles, keys and cards was grabbed out of her hand by an assailant who shoved her against a radiator in a hallway, at 1430 W st. nw., at 8:30 a. m. The man fled the apartment house and down an alley, she said.

Lillian M. Gusack, proprietress of a millinery store at 5022 Connecticut ave nw., reported to police that 13 ladies' dresses and suits were taken from her shop. She submitted inventory of the lost property yesterday but said the robbery occurred over last weekend.

David K. Hadeed, owner of the 2029 K Restaurant, at that address on K st. nw., told police someone broke into his place Wednesday night and stole bottled liquor and $109 in cash. Some $90 of the cash, he said, was in change in a cloth bag which he kept in the liquor cabinet behind the bar.

Wise, Va., Aug. 14 (U.P.).—Authorities moved two women members of the snake-handlers cult to a new jail today and threatened to arrest other cultists who trailed them here to chant and shout outside the prison.

The Rev. Bill Parsons, head of the cult, said that a group of 50 cultists, planned to "go on to Wise."

The mayor and council on July 28 dismissed Morris after Police Commissioner James A. Taylor filed a report saying the officer failed to "grasp the fundamentals of police work" and should be separated "for good of the service."

Pete Macias

The musician, who was a favorite of Washington society for many years, died Wednesday at the Bethesda Naval Hospital after an illness of three weeks.

Although his name was Joseph Shirley Macias, he was known as "Pete" to his admirers and he used the nickname even in legal transactions.

A native of Washington, Mr. Macias began his musical career as a pianist in silent movie houses. His parents were Cuban and his father, the late Jose Manuel Macias, was a State Department official.

Macias' most recent engagement lasted eight years and was at the Lounge Riviera at Hotel 2400. He left his band there last August for a vacation and terminated his engagement when he returned to the city in January.

Mr. Macias played frequently for Washington society and on occasion entertained at the White House. His popularity was at its height in the 1930's when he operated the club Heigh-Ho at Connecticut ave. and sts. nw. During the summer he played with his band on the roof of the Powhatan Hotel, now the Roger Smith.

Before opening his own club he filled engagements at the Club La Java, in the old Cochran Hotel, 14th and K sts. nw.; the Club Michel and Le Paradis at Thomas Circle, at L'Aiglon, 18th and Columbia rd. nw., and at the Mayflower where he played with Sidney Seidenman.

Seidenman yesterday described Macias as one of the finest of dance pianists.

"He couldn't read a note but he had a wonderful ear. He would hear a tune twice and know it. He had unusually fine rhythm and could do what few pianists can do —play dance music by himself."

Mr. Macias attended Augusta Military Academy and Georgetown University. During the first World War he served on a Navy minesweeper.

He made his home at 6811 Exfair rd., Bethesda, with his sister, Mrs. Virgina Humes, and his brother-in-law, Artie Humes, who for many years played trumpet in his band.

SHIRLINGTON—ONE OF THE NATION'S LARGEST BUSINESS CENTERS

SHIRLINGTON CORPORATION Joseph Cherner, Pres. HObart 5000

Counting Pennies with Carolyn

You're all invited to a dance at Shirlington tonight. Admission is free, and it's to be held in the Shirlington Pavilion starting at 8:30. Come, and put your best foot forward, because there will be contests with handsome prizes to reward your efforts. At the close of an evening's fun, you can walk off with a fine gift. The merchants of the Shirlington Shopping Center have donated handsome prizes for the winners of this evening's dance contests.

This is one of the series of Disc Jockey Dances being held in the Shirlington Pavilion each Wednesday and Friday evening. Tonight, Little Harry Sackser will keep the fun a'poppin' while demonstrating his best "platter chatter." Frank de Vera, Director of the Don Pallini Dance Studios in Washington and an authority on the rumba and the samba will demonstrate how it should be danced, as he leads a group of his dancers in Latin Rhythms. He also offers a Don Pallini Course as an extra special dance contest prize!

The dance is another Shirlington happy ending to a successful shopping tour. Friday nights, the stores stay open till nine so you can shop until the music starts, then join the merry throng. If Saturday's your day to shop, the Shirlington stores stay open till six for your convenience.

While shopping at Shirlington, it's a wise car owner who parks her car at the Gulf Station for Gulflex Lubrication and Vacuum Cleaning at the week-end special price of $1.25. The courtesy and friendly service she receives will bring her back, next time her car needs refueling.

Shirlington's spacious Acme Supermarket is an ideal place to stock up your larder for the whole week ahead. Here is the finest in food to tempt finicky summer appetites at most reasonable prices. It's easy to shop at Acme because it's a series of shops within a shop—butcher, baker, dairy store, frosted food center, grocery, and a most elegant display of garden picked fresh fruits and vegetables. Get a cheer for a special treat by serving Acme's packaged ice cream topped with fresh fruit!

This week-end is a good time for a visit to the Carroll Hosiery Shop, where 50% reductions now prevail on beach and playclothes formerly costing up to $10.95. This smart lingerie and accessory shop will show you one and two-piece swim suits of rayon Lastex, all wool, and cotton in beach-right colors for the weeks and weeks of Washington summer weather still ahead. Here too you'll find wonderfully cool cotton nighties in pastels and prints, trimmed with lace, and full of charm. at $3.95.

If you can ever pass by the mammoth Woolworth's without stopping in for a look-around to see what notions or little toiletries you need, you're a better woman than we are. This store holds a fascination for us. It isn't just the size and the marvelous way you can see just about everything in the store at a glance. It's the enormous variety of necessities and fripperies you find there—plus novelties, toys, food!

Note to parents. Shirlington Diaper Darling Contest has been announced. All stores in the business center will have entry blanks soon. Every baby entering is eligible for the grand prizes and receives immediately a sitting for a free portrait at the Shirlington Photographers. More about this next week.

Yearly Saving Of Pepco Put At $143,000

By S. Oliver Goodman

Refinancing of Potomac Electric Power Co. preferred stocks will result in gross savings of $143,000 a year in dividend requirements, it was estimated last night.

The new $50-par preferred stock, yielding 3.60 per cent or $1.80 a share, will supplant the outstanding $100-par preferred, yielding 5½ and 6 per cent.

Late yesterday afternoon the Securities and Exchange Commission granted clearance and the new Pepco issue will be formally offered to old shareholders. Details of the exchange offer were reported Wednesday in The Washington Post.

Formerly, the outstanding 20,000 shares of 6 per cent preferred and 50,000 shares of 5½ per cent preferred required annual dividend payments of $395,000. The 140,000 shares of new preferred will require $252,000 a year in dividends.

Of the 70,000 shares of old preferred outstanding, more than 85 per cent is owned by investors in the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia. Distribution of the stock, as shown by Pepco records, is as follows:

6% Series	No. of Holders	No. of Shares
District of Columbia	1,510	14,917

Chandler Rules Against Bob Feller

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

CECIL TRAVIS, who has hit as high as .356 over a full season in the American League and has a lifetime batting average of something like .315, could never have made good with Leo Durocher's Brooklyn Dodgers. He'd have been up against managerial prejudice. You remember how Durocher excused the rowdy tactics of the Dodgers by saying, "I don't want any nice guys on my club."

POVICH

Apparently the Washington folks feel differently about it. For nice guy Travis they're staging Cecil Travis Night at Griffith Stadium this evening. Gifts, cash, an automobile and equipment for his Georgia farm will be showered on Travis before the game with the Philadelphia Athletics. Travis fans by the thousands will be on hand. He isn't having a good year, but that doesn't make any difference.

Owner Connie Mack of the Athletics thinks Travis is a splendid fellow. He tossed a $100 check into the pot eagerly, when advised what was up. The ultra in compliments to Travis came from the American League umpires who traditionally give the fish-eye these days to mugs who make a lot more money than they do. The umpires said they'd like to contribute a special gift for Travis, their favorite ballplayer.

IF THERE is a special distinction Travis owns, it's that of the most uncomplaining fellow in the big leagues. Nobody recalls that he ever squawked at an umpire's decision. For most of his 12 seasons with the Nats, he played with spike wounds that would have benched the average ballplayer. He never wanted to move from third base to shortstop, but he did without a protest.

Travis knew his limits. He could go get a ground ball with the best, and his throwing arm was wonderful, but he couldn't scramble like a good shortstop should, to protect himself from base runners around second. That's when he got hurt, mostly, because he didn't have the nimbleness, or the reflexes, to get out of the way, so he took many a beating. Trainer Mike Martin used to call him Kid Bandage.

For Travis' own good, he was too concerned with the other fellow. He wouldn't turn a ball loose at a second baseman on a double play with most of his might because he knew it was a tough ball to catch. Years ago, Manager Bucky Harris was forced to tell him to cut loose with his best throws and let the other guy worry about taking it, but Cece never did achieve that nice abandon that makes double plays.

WHEN HE was the middle man, though, it was different. He took throws that threatened to knock him over, and didn't squawk. When he booted a ball he didn't give the old alibi business of inspecting his thumb nail, or kicking an imaginary pebble out of the way. He just booted it, that's all, and went back to his work.

He's been unlucky at times. In 1941, he hit .356, a figure that in a dozen other years would have brought him the American League batting championship, a nice article that means a salary raise and is valued in the slipper-and-fireside days of every retired ballplayer. But in that same season, Ted Williams blasted a .406 average and Travis finished second by 50 points.

He was a good hitter from the day he broke in with five straight hits against Cleveland late in the 1933 season. He wasn't eligible for the Nats-Giants World Series that year, but he came back in 1934 as the club's regular third baseman. When the Nats didn't need him in the infield, they kept his hitting in the lineup by playing him in the outfield.

TRAVIS' SENSE of loyalty to the Washington club was great. When Bernardo Pasquel of the Mexican Pasquels was lurking in Havana in the spring of 1946 trying to sign big league stars, Travis got a message to visit him. Even when the emissary quoted big figures, Travis shunned the whole idea.

In midsummer of last season, the Pasquels renewed their attempts to sign Travis. They offered him a $25,000 bonus and a three-year contract at $15,000 a year to sign. He was having a poor season with the Nats and was aware that he was past his peak, but he rejected the last offer, saying "Mr. Griffith wouldn't like it." Mr. Griffith is giving Travis a new automobile tonight as his contribution to Travis Day.

When Travis joined the Nats late in 1945, he could scarcely locomote on the frostbitten feet he suffered in the Battle of the Bulge. He had lost the bounce so vital to an infielder, and his knock-kneed gait was emphasized by the soreness of his dogs. That's when he told reporters "I feel great."

Leonard's 68 Tops Portland

Portland, Ore., Aug. 14 (AP).—Posting a four-under-par 68, Stan Leonard, from Vancouver, B. C., led the field today among early finishers in the first round of the 72-hole, $10,000 Portland Open Golf tournament.

Leonard put together nines of 35-33 against the par against the par 35, 37—72 Portland club course.

Al Smith, Winston Salem, N. C., came in with a 34, 35—69 to hold down second place with only a sprinkling of the 102 starters checked in.

Arnold Haneke, La Grande, Ore., and Bob McKendrick, Portland, landed in the 70-bracket while amateur Ernie Pieper, jr., San Jose, California, carded 71. Pieper, former California amateur and Open champion, had a 36-35.

Defending champion and favorite Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa.; National PGA title-holder Jim Ferrier,, San Francisco, and the star Portland Amateur, Lou Jennings, all remained close to the pace with 69s.

Hogan had 34—35; Ferrier, 35—34, and Jennings, after a great three-under-par 32 on the first nine, held to an even-par 37 on the back stretch.

Sherm Elworthy, San Francisco, and Larry Lamberger, Portland, joined the 70-shot group. Glen Teal, Miami, Fla., bettered par with a 71.

Tinkham Rated Title Favorite

Stanley Tinkham, local swim star, displays his talent in the annual District AAU senior outdoor swimming championships Monday night at Takoma Park pool. He is defending titlist in the men's 220-yard breaststroke.

Another Ambassador entrant who looms as a favorite to clinch a title is Dan Callahan, former St. John's Prep swim captain. In the recent Weeks Memorial Meet he waged a terrific kick in the home stretch to shade Charley Wanner of Baltimore in the 200-yard freestyle.

Chairman Joe Bertolini will take entries for the meet through today, but warns no post entries may be accepted.

Virginia Tech Star Gets $15,000 Offer

Roanoke, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—Dave Poole, slugging outfielder for Virginia Tech and more recently the center gardner for the Salem Shawnees of the Skyline League, is reported to have received a $15,000 bonus to sign with the Chicago Cubs. Poole was a sophomore at VPI last year.

District Woman Upset at Oakland

Oakland, Md., Aug. 14 (AP).—Mary Hughs of Wheeling, W. Va., pulled the first major upset in the twenty-sixth annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships today, defeating top-seeded Frances Bassett of Washington, 6—4, 4—6, 10—8.

The victory moved Miss Hughs into the finals against Elizabeth Hughs Smith, also of Wheeling, Saturday to decide the women's singles title.

In the men's doubles Alex Kieles and Malcolm Fox breezed past Willard Hayden and Weir Pollard, 6—1, 6—1, and the Willis Woernleed Lafleur combination defeated Ralph Weber and A. L. Sykes, 6—3, 6—3. These two winning teams tangle tomorrow.

Cece Travis Honored by Fans Tonight

It is Cecil Travis Night at Griffith Stadium tonight, and Washington's baseball fans are expected to turn out en masse to honor the Nats' oldest player in consecutive service.

Fans already have made possible one of the most lavish demonstrations ever tendered any ballplayer here. They've contributed to numerous costly presents for the Nats' veteran and arranged an impressive pregame program.

A half hour before the Nats take the field against the Philadelphia Athletics, at 8 o'clock, the affair gets under way with a rendition by the Scottish Bagpipe Band, dancing girls and a parade around the field featuring a giant float on which will be Peggy Wilson, Miss Washington, 1947 will ride.

CECE TRAVIS

Presentations will be made at home plate by Clark Griffith and Connie Mack, in the presence of a Veterans of Foreign Wars honor guard commanded by Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler.

Among the tokens of Washington's appreciation for Travis' long and brilliant play will be a new DeSoto automobile and a white-faced Hereford bull for Travis' farm, near Atlanta.

When the festivities are over, the spotlight will be switched from Travis to Walter Masterson. He'll do the pitching for the Nats against the Macks' Joe Coleman.

The Nats came home from Boston yesterday and took a day off before this three-day series with the A's. After an afternoon game tomorrow and a doubleheader Sunday, they leave for the West and won't be seen again locally until September 4.

Right now the Nats are sizzling under a losing streak that has extended through five out of their last six games.

Fonder Making A Habit of Being Top Midget Driver

George Fonder, colorful Lansdale, Pa., pilot, will be top man again on tonight's weekly seven-event midget automobile racing card set for the West Lanham, Md., Speedway at 8:30 o'clock.

Fonder, leading 1946 money winner at Lanham, has won 11 of this last 12 events while setting two track records there, and completed his second grand slam in three weeks last Friday night when he swept all three races he entered.

Two racing cars whose drivers were killed in crack-ups last July 24 will return to the Lanham competition tonight.

Mike Joseph, president of the American Racing Drivers' Club, changes over to the Washington-owned Offenhauser of John Giacofci in which Harry Hart was fatally injured at the Philadelphia Yellow Jacket Speedway last month while Johnny Jars will drive the Ford V-8 of his brother, Steve Jars, who was killed at nearby Mahanoy City, Pa., the same night Hart crashed.

Bums Win, Now Lead by 4½ Games As Cards Lose

Brooklyn, Aug. 14 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers pulled four-and-one-half games ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League pennant chase today by scoring a 1-0 triumph over the Boston Braves while the Cards dropped a 5-3 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Carl Furillo, who was honored before the game, drove home Ed Stanky with the payoff run in the eighth inning to break up a brilliant hurling duel between little Vic Lombardi and the Braves' southpaw ace, Warren Spahn.

Stanky singled to left to start the winning frame. He moved to second on a sacrifice and after Pete Reiser flied out, Furillo sent a sharp grounder through shortstop Nanny Fernandez' legs which was ruled a single. Stanky scored.

Lombardi, who usually has been tough for the Braves, allowed four hits, all singles, and fanned six while Spahn gave up six blows and struck out three.

Pirates Put Cards 4½ Behind

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14 (AP).—Fritz Ostermueller pitched the seventh-place Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-3 victory over the St. Louis Cards today and thereby rendered a service to the Brooklyn Dodgers, the team that tried to give him a ticket to the minors three years ago.

Ostermueller's nine-hit chore, performed in the same sweltering heat which has caused younger hurlers to wilt in recent days, put the Cards 4½ games behind the Dodgers who won a 1-0 thriller from Boston.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (AP).—Scoring three times in the seventh inning, the tail-end Philadelphia Phillies came from behind to defeat the New York Giants, 6-5, today for their third straight triumph over the New Yorkers.

Big Don Padgett broke up the game by singling with the bases loaded. Two runs scored on Padgett's pinchhit blow and the third came home when Joe Lafata booted the hit.

Babe Didrikson Turns Pro; Accepts $300,000 Movie Offer

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP).—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the only American ever to win the British Women's Amateur Golf championship and unquestionably the world's greatest woman athlete, today announced she is turning professional.

The immediate lure is a $300,000 offer to make a series of motion picture golf shorts, with affiliation with a sporting goods concern and exhibitions as added factors.

The Babe, who first gained fame in the Olympic Games of 1932, in which she set world records in the 80-meter hurdles and javelin and tied the high jump mark, thus returns to a status she deserted in 1937.

Since joining the amateurs at that time she has steadily gained in prestige and today, in holding the American and British amateur titles, she is the acknowledged queen in that field.

In announcing her decision she sent a telegram to Charles W. Littlefield, president of the United States Golf Association, reading:

"I wish to advise that after considerable deliberation I have decided to accept a motion picture offer. Therefore, I will be unable to defend my title in Detroit in September. I wish to express at this time my sincerest thanks to you and the officials of the United States Golf Association for the many courtesies and considerations extended to me."

BABE DIDRIKSON
She's Going Hollywood . . .

Babe said she had not reached her decision to turn pro without long consideration. In regretting her desertion of her amateur status she said she felt the offers for her services as a golf professional were too great to resist, and that she felt she could do more good for women's golf in that capacity than she could as an amateur.

She added that she will compete as scheduled in a charity match at Cleveland next Sunday and the following week at Columbus. After that she will go to Hollywood to complete arrangements for 10 golf shorts.

The 32-year-old Babe was voted the outstanding woman athlete of the United States in 1932, 1945 and 1946. She has won 17 consecutive women's golf tournaments, her most recent triumph being the British Amateur in Scotland in June.

She took up golf after reaching the heights in track and field, virtually sweeping the National Track and Field Championships singlehanded in Chicago in 1932, the year she gained her Olympic fame.

The Babe, married to George Zaharias, former wrestler and now a Denver sports promoter, first deserted the amateur ranks in 1932 after she was

You Meet People, But . . .

Real Golfer Is Last Person You'll See on a Driving Range

By Bill Burnett
Post Reporter

YOU MEET THE most interesting people around a golf ball driving range. But, oddly enough, you don't meet many golfers.

Your chances of meeting a golfer, actually, are about one in 63 buckets of balls. Freddy Williams, boss of the East Potomac range, is as surprised as anyone by that fact.

"But it's true," he marvels. "We'd all starve if we had to depend on good or even fair players. Our best customers aren't even occasional golfers. Why they like to hit balls I'll never know!"

Leaving that last up to the psychiatrists, all you can do is look in amazement. The hitters fall into these classes:

1. Those who seem to be performing a distasteful duty.
2. The show-offs.
3. Those who don't seem to give a hang.
4. The dead serious.

One of those gorgeous things Zeigfeld wasted his time glorifying, apparently fresh from an embassy tea, picks a driver with a professional waggle and finds a tee. Her first act is to remove her shoes, doing her driving on bare feet. Recalled Babe Didrikson's advice to Hildegard . . . "Take off your girdle and swing at the ball."

A guy and gal buy one bucket of balls and he prepares to do the hitting. She seats herself nearby, takes out a stenographer's pad and makes notes on each of his shots.

* * * *

AN ELDERLY GENT, with never a shot over 100 yards, hits away four buckets of balls, each with exactly the same amount of slice.

A husky youngster, perhaps a tackle on a high school eleven, puts fierce energy into every shot. Those that don't suit him cause a horrible grimace and violent swishing of the club.

Four girls show up in street dress, equip themselves with clubs and buckets in solemn manner. One girl hits only three balls, two topped and one with a roundhouse hook, and quits to show her friends the proper grip, stance and swing. Explains one of the friends in hushed tones . . .

Willians only says "see what I mean."

Taft Wins Softball As Pacini Stars

Taft defeated Hayes, 2-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Cookie Pacini, to win the senior division Recreation Department softball championship. Pacini's mound opponent, Fred Warther, allowed but two hits, one a homer by Bob Burlingame.

In the junior division, Jefferson downed defending champion Rosedale, 6-1, as Art Halwick held the losers to one safety.

BB Works Out, Heat and All

Despite the heat and perhaps because he was being watched by Ike Williams, the undisputed world's lightweight champion, Bee Bee Washington yesterday underwent six fast rounds of sparring for his 10-round scrap with Tommy Yarosz at Griffith Stadium Monday.

With Gaston Miller furnishing the opposition, Washington lost almost five pounds in the torrid workout, dropping down to 160. Williams later continued his friendship with the local favorite, started in New Jersey last May, by offering several tips on Yarosz' clever style.

A message from Nate Fleischer, editor of Ring Magazine, increased Bee Bee's resolve to beat his highly regarded foe. Fleischer said a Bee Bee triumph Monday would entitle him to a rating among the first 10 on the middleweight ladder.

Colts Drop Back, Tackle Reports

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 14.—Coach Cecil Isbell dropped one player from the Baltimore Colts today, but gained another to keep his roster at fifty-two, leaving the probability that another wholesale cut may be due after tomorrow's intra-squad game at Cumberland, Md.

The released player was Tuffy Fitanides, halfback from New Hampshire. Harold Mullins, giant Duke University tackle, reported from the Cleveland Browns in the trade that brings four men to the Colts in exchange for Weldon Humble, All-American guard from Rice.

The other three Browns, who are to join the Colts at training camp here on or before Saturday, are Notre Dame quarterback Steve Nemeth and two guards, Al Klug of Marquette and George Cherokee of Ohio State.

Reynolds Wins 15th as Yanks Whip A's, 8-5

New York, August 14 (AP).—Staging two three-run rallies, the New York Yankees overpowered the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-5, today to enable Allie Reynolds to post his 15th win of the season.

Rookie Al Clark and veteran George McQuinn drove home three runs apiece while little Phil Rizzuto led the Yanks' ten-hit attack against Phil Marchildon and Bob Savage with three hits. Rizzuto also scored four runs.

Trailing 2-1, the Yanks shoved three runs home in the third inning and were never headed afterward. McQuinn highlighted the uprising with a two-run triple.

The Yanks picked up another run in the fifth and added their final three in the seventh off Savage. Two of the runners came home on Clark's double.

Philadelphia scored twice in the third off Reynolds without obtaining a base hit. Eddie Joost homered in the sixth for the first Athletic safety and the A's bunched two more for two runs in the eighth.

Reynolds, the first American Leaguer to win 15 games, was relieved by recruit Frank Shea in the ninth after Pete Suder and Hank Majeski beat out infield taps with one down. Shea induced Pinch-hitter Gene Handley to bounce into a game-ending double-play to preserve the win for Reynolds.

Fireballer Cannot Play In Cuba's Winter Ball

Cincinnati, Aug. 14 (AP).—In 92 words, Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today ended the plans of major leaguers in general and Bobby Feller in particular to play in the Cuban Winter League during the 30-day barnstorming period beginning October 8.

Addressed to "all major league clubs," Chandler said in a directive:

"Major league baseball players shall not play as members of the Cuban Winter League teams during the 1947-48 season."

Thus ended plans of Feller, Cleveland's great pitcher; Mike Guerra, Philadelphia Athletics catcher, and other big leaguers to collect some easy and big dough from Cuban League owners during the 30 days they are permitted to play with other than their own clubs.

Feller brought the matter to a head when he announced earlier this week that he would pitch five games for the Almendares Club in the Cuban League between October 21 and November 8. Guerra was set to manage the Club.

Have to Have Permission

Not only did Chandler rule with regard to the Cuban League, but he said major leaguers must obtain his permission to play outside the continental United States during the barnstorming period.

The schedules must be approved by the commissioner and they must not play against ineligible players, Chandler also directed.

As is his custom, Chandler did not amplify the written statement.

Feller was not available immediately for comment.

In announcing his barnstorming plans, the outspoken Iowan had said he had not obtained permission to play in the Cuban League from President Bill Veeck of the Indians, nor, according to Walter Mulbry, secretary-treasurer of baseball, had he discussed the matter with the commissioner.

"I'm for the players and I believe they have every right to barnstorm and make some extra money," said Feller, one of the highest paid men in baseball, in making known his plans.

"Why should a major league player be limited to 30 days of barnstorming when a minor league can play all winter? It places a penalty on being a major leaguer."

Discrimination Charged

Feller said at the time that a minor league player could barnstorm all winter, and described it as "discrimination." He said some minor leaguers, because of their barnstorming, made more money than many men in the major loops.

Chandler's order today said:

"All major league clubs:

"Major league baseball players shall not play as members of the Cuban Winter League teams during the 1947-48 season.

"Players may play during the barnstorming period outside of continental United States if their schedules are approved by the commissioner and they do not play with or against ineligible players.

"Barnstorming by major league players will commence on October 8, 1947, and continue for a period of 30 days.

"Schedules of players who propose to barnstorm during this period must be submitted to the commissioner for his approval.

It was the second far-reaching decision the commissioner had issued this year.

On April 9, he startled the baseball world by suspending Leo (Lippy) Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, for the 1947 season saying he "has not measured up the standards expected or required of managers of our baseball teams."

A few weeks later he called Larry MacPhail, president of the New York Yankees, on the carpet but what happened in an all-day-long session between the two was never announced.

Always a man of many words, MacPhail emerged from the session red-faced but silent. Nor has his gravel voice since hit the wide range it once attained.

Hagerstown Votes to Continue Racing Today and Tomorrow

Out Fishing...

By Jack Bell

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont., Aug. 15.—Officials of Yellowstone Park have made it possible for our party of outdoor writers to cover a large territory of this rugged country and fish under a wide variety of conditions.

We drove over rough fire trails to Slough Creek, parked the car at the end of trail and hiked three miles upstream.

We came to a beautiful Alpine Meadow. The scenery is truly enchanting. Mountains capped with snow and heavily covered with evergreen trees below timber line. Numerous open spaces, some filled with broken rock slides and others with lush green grass. Some contained elk.

Fishing with only flies, we caught our first cutthroat trout, about 1½ pounds in weight. It was a trout practically on every cast.

In the meadow, through which the stream flowed, are many large elk and moose antler. Antlers that were dropped and some with the skull attached. Mute evidence of the severe weather causing starvation among the animals.

We later fished in Yellowstone Lake, a solitudinous sheet of water at 7000 feet above sea level. The lake is a deep hollow under frowning precipices of the rocks, many over 9000 feet high in the vicinity of Peale Island.

Our party of 14 caught the limit of 10 trout each. The lake contains only cutthroat trout. Fishing with a threadline outfit, using 2-pound test line and swish spinning lures, our own catch was 65 of which 55 were released and 10 frozen and shipped to my home in Washington. The trout caught by the party averaged 2½ pounds each.

Leaving Yellowstone Lake behind, we crossed the Continental Divide and the famed Madison River. Any angler with only a little skill can catch his limit of rainbow trout most any time. We did, trout weighing 1 to 3½ pounds.

This morning we head for Helena, Mont., State capital, where we will be greeted by the Governor. From there we continue to Browning, where the Governor has arranged a reception by the Blackfeet Indians.

48 Horses To Flout Boycott

Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 14 (AP).—The entry box held 48 horses today for tomorrow's entire eight-race program as some horsemen imposed a boycott on the Hagerstown Fair Association after it ignored their demands for higher purses.

At a special meeting yesterday the association board voted unanimously to continue racing tomorrow and Saturday, two days of the meeting.

Board Member J. Richard Rauth said abont 40 of the 90 owners and trainers who had brought horses to the 10-day meeting attended the board's special session. Rauth said the board felt these 40 would provide enough entries to finish out the meet.

President Explains Stand

The horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association had asked the board to offer at least two $1200 purses daily and one $1500 prize Saturday. All of tomorrow's races will be $1000 affairs.

Roger C. Hershey, Fair board president, said the board already had increased total purses for the meeting from the usual $67,000 to $81,000. The boost, he said, had been approved despite a drop in wagering at the track.

He indicated any further increase in purses would not 'e feasible.

Meanwhile, HBPA spokesmen intimated the group also would ask for higher purses at Cumberland when the 10-day meeting at Fairgo track gets underway Tuesday.

Clifton W. White track president, said Fairgo also would offer the $1000 minimum prize money.

Fields Reduced

Until today, entries filed usually averaged ten or twelve horses a race, with the field trimmed to eight by post time. As few as five entries were filed for one race tomorrow, and the highest number was seven.

The jockeys, who were reported in favor of the H.B.P.A. boycott, held a session and denied they were in sympathy with the horsemen's claims. The riders even went so far as to notify track officials they would pilot all available horses.

Heads of the H. B. P. A. were called here from New Jersey and other ponts in an effort to see that no racing is carded for Saturday unless purses are hiked. Whether these reinforcements can defeat the track heads remains to be seen.

Even though the Hagerstown Fair Association wins out by staging program Friday and Saturday, thus completing its 10 days of racing, the H. B. P. A. is still determined that the Cumberland Fair Association, which open its session at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, should boost its purses.

Number Three Lucky

Those fans attending today's racing saw horses carrying the numeral thre capture the first three events, all staged over the 6½ furlong route.

In the opener, H. Kesting's Kohinoor, $3.80, was victorious. W. J. Peach, jr.'s Wrakfair, $9.60, landed the second, with A. B. Gallion's Security G, $4.80, getting up to capture the third. The 3—3 daily double combination of Kohinoor and Wrakfair paid $18.40.

Ariel Gift, the property of Virginia McKenny of Washington, created a new mile and one sixteenth track record of 1:52 2/5 in ctpturing the Sharpsburg Purse, run before 5000 fans. The gelding paid $17.80 as he led home S. H. Hall's Outcome, with R. Boerner's Breakable Miss third.

Heurich's, Firemen Win City Championship Games

Underwood Eliminated In 19-6 Rout

By Roger Wolbarst
Post Reporter

The Heurich Brewers remained undefeated in City Championship series play by defeating Costello Post, 10-3, yesterday before a large crowd on the South Ellipse.

In the other series game, the Fire Department team routed Underwood, 19-6, to keep their chances alive in the round-robin tournament. The loss eliminated Underwood.

Heurich drove out 12 hits, including a triple, double and single by Berne Good and a two-bagger by Buddy Coe. Jack Lyons twirled steady ball for the winners as he held Costello to six safeties.

Purdy to the Rescue

The Brewers scored their runs in clusters of two in the first and seventh innings and by threes in the fourth and fifth. The losers pushed over single tallies in the seventh, eighth and ninth, the last coming as a result of a mighty triple to left field by Pitcher Billy Carroll.

The Fire Department-Underwood game started with Underwood grabbing five runs in the first inning. Relief Pitcher Don Purdy came in with nobody out and retired the side. Purdy gave up only three hits and a single run for the remainder of the game.

Stung by this opening assault, the Firemen came back with a slugging attack to score in every inning after the first.

The victory left the Fire Department with a record of one victory and one defeat, the loss being a 1-0 defeat at the hands of Heurich.

In today's only game, Capital Transit Robins face Merrick Boys Club, the loser to bow out, on the South Ellipse at 5:45 p. m.

How to Play Tennis

By Gil Bogley

This is the fifth in a series of articles by the District's leading tennis players in conjunction with The Washington Post-Recreation Department Tennis School.

THE OVERHEAD SMASH

YOU ARE UP at the net and your opponent has lobbed the ball high in the air over your head. A good solid smash will put the ball away and give you a sure point. But as you swing, you feel the ball hit the wooden part of your racquet and the ball goes into the net or far out of bounds.

Gil Bogley

This frustrating experience can be avoided by developing a good overhead. But it takes lots of hard work.

First, you must develop your timing. As the ball leaves your opponent's racquet you must quickly judge where the ball will land and start heading for that spot. Before you reach the spot where the ball is descending, shift your glance to your opponent and see which direction he is moving so you can keep your shot away from him.

* * * *

AS YOU RETREAT, cock your racquet arm for the shot; don't wait for the last moment to swing. Contact with the ball should be made at exactly the spot where you would hit your serve, a little ahead of your body. Your arm should be extended to its limit as you swat the ball, just as it is in serving.

Don't "baby" your shot; try to put it away on the first attempt. For shots to the right side of your opponent's court, face a little to the right, and turn your body to the left to direct the ball into the left corner.

Always hit your overhead flat, as this will give the ball more speed than a sliced smash. Don't give away the direction of the shot until the last possible instant.

Babe Didrikson Turns Pro

disqualified by the National Amateur Athletic Association for allegedly permitting her name to be used in advertising a commercial product. She subsequently was suspended by the Southern A. A. U., and announced she would turn pro, despite a later announcement that she had been reinstated.

In 1935 she was ruled ineligible by the United States Golf Association because of her professionalism in other sports, and in June of that year she announced she was turning pro in golf.

It wasn't until 1944 that she regained her amateur status in golf. In the meantime she had enjoyed periodic success as a pro, her activities including the famous exhibition with Babe Ruth, John Montague and Mrs. Sylvia Anneberg which ended in confusion because of the unruly gallery.

In resuming her pro career the Babe announced she had engaged Fred J. Corcoran, promotion manager of the professional golf association, to handle her business affairs.

Navy Reduces Pleasure Craft

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 14 (AP).—Six 44-foot yawls and three yachts are being removed from service at the Naval Academy because of a shortage of personnel to take care of them, a Navy spokesman said today.

There will be no reduction in seamanship instruction for midshipmen because of the temporary retirement of the boats, the Navy said, but there will be a lesser opportunity for recreation on boats.

Suggs Gains Golf Semifinal

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 14 (AP).—Defending Champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., cruised into the semifinal round of the women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament today with a 5 and 4 victory over Margaret Gunther of Memphis.

On the last five holes Miss Suggs needed to finish the match, she uncorked three birdies and two pars.

Jean Hopkins of Cleveland also advanced with a 2 and 1 win over co-medalist Beverly Hanson of Fargo, N. Dak. One down at the turn, Miss Hopkins took three holes for two up and two to go. They halved the 17th with par 3's.

Miss Hopkins and Miss Suggs meet in tomorrow's semifinals.

Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., twice a runnerup in this meet, moved into tomorrow's semifinals, trouncing 18-year-old Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kans., 5 and 4 by winning the tenth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth in succession.

Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, and Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, were deadlocked at the end of 18. On the nineteenth, Miss Diringer dropped an eight-foot birdie putt for a 4 to beat Miss Kirk. Miss Diringer will face Miss Wall in the other semfinal match.

Redskins' Staff Heartened By Ends Who Can Catch Passes

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 14.—Perhaps the thing that gladdens the hearts of the Washington Redskin coaching staff the most in daily drills at Occidental College is the presence of some ends who can catch passes.

Even with Sammy Baugh, best thrower in the National League on the roster, the Skins finished fifth last year after leading the loop in 1945 when Sammy had a terrific year.

Baugh and Jim Youel, his chief understudy at quarterback, have been finding a receptive group of ends for a change this year and Wayne Millner, the Redskin end mentor, says things are going to be a lot different.

Peebles Shows Form

Jim Peebles was leading pass-catching end last year, yet he only caught nine throws. Big Jim had just returned from the service, however, and never quite hit his stride. He caught almost that many in the first scrimmage the other day and apparently is back in form.

John Kovach, who made good on only six pitches in 1946 also is improved. But the real find of the summer session so far as snagging that ball is concerned, is Hugh Taylor, a 200-pounder with a world of speed, who caught eight touchdown passes for Oklahoma City University last year.

Taylor has the right start, such as great pass receivers like Don Hutson and Jim Benton. Baugh, who seldom gives forth with any information, says:

"Taylor's plenty fast. He looks like a mighty fine boy."

Millner Likes Tereshinski

Millner, who was all-American at Notre Dame, and a star in the National League before he went into the Navy, believes the staff has yet to see the best end prospect.

Coach Turk Edwards cut yesterday's drill to one session. He also trimmed 270-pound Paul Grayson, a tackle, form the squad.

Fire Razes Grandstand But Danville Will Play

Danville, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—Fire early today reduced the grandstand at the Danville baseball park to ashes within an hour, but city electricians said they would have the high powered lights in service in time for tonight's game with Raleigh.

Md. Sales Tax Yield May End Realty Levy

Chapel Point, Md., Aug. 14 (AP).—Governor Lane believes if the State sales tax yield exceeds exceeds expectations by "any appreciable amount" there was a chance that State real estate levy of 10 cents per $100 valuation could be reduced or abolished.

Addressing about 600 persons at the annual Charles County Farm Bureau picnic last night, the Governor said he was "anxious" to do away with the real estate tax, which is expected to yield the State $3,817,903 in the 1948 fiscal year and $3,499,060 in 1949.

Alluding to the fact that some persons had dubbed him "Two Cent Lane," because of the sales tax, he declared, "It makes very little difference to me what people call me. The important thing is, after all, the opportunity, together with the serious minded people of the State to provide for the future of Maryland, not only for ourselves, but for our children."

The real estate levy the Governor mentioned is used to retire construction bonds under a funding plan. At present such bonds to be issued or already out include $4,625,000 in the 1945 postwar fund; $2,000,000 for a State office building at Baltimore; $560,000 for State armories and $11,695,000 for general construction.

Lane told his farm audience the Board of Public Works had approved purchase of the site for a new experimental farm on the "Burroughs place," located on Landover road, four miles from Upper Marlboro. It is said to have the best tobacco soil in southern Maryland.

After Lane's speech, the farmers elected a pretty brunette, daughter of a tobacco grower, to represent Charles County in the "Miss Maryland Farmette" contest at the Timonium State Fair, September 5.

She is Betty Linton, 17, daughter of Sam C. Linton of Grayton, credit manager of the Maryland Tobacco Growers Association.

Fairfax Board Withholds Ads From Journal

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors has ordered county advertising withdrawn from the Providence Journal, a Virginia county weekly, because of its "unfair criticism" of the board's actions.

The board took this action at its August 6 meeting, apparently when no reporters were present. Richard M. Smith, editor of the Journal and unsuccessful candidate for commissioner of revenue, said that he first learned of the resolution when he went to the courthouse Monday to pick up the weekly advertisements.

The minutes of the meeting show that Supervisor Maurice W. Fox requested the advertising be withheld from Smith because "he has been criticizing the Board of Supervisors and has been very unfair in his criticism."

Commonwealth's Attorney Hugh B. Marsh said that the board was entirely within its legal rights in so acting. Law requires only that official notices be placed in a newspaper of general circulation, he said.

Smith opposed the renomination of Board Chairman G. Wallace Carper in last week's primary election.

Farmer Held For Cruelty To Animal

Failure to take proper care of a horse caused a Lincoln Park, Md., man to be bound over for grand jury action on a cruelty to animals charge in Rockville Police Court yesterday.

The man, Richard Wagner, 41, was placed under $200 bond by Trial Magistrate Alger Y. Barbee.

Maurice D. Poole, 312 D st. ne., the owner, alleged that when he visited Wagner's farm on July 19 he found the 5-year-old horse lying on the ground in a weakened and emaciated condition. The horse had been left in Wagner's care last April.

Dr. Richard Buckingham, Rockville veterinarian, testified that he had examined the animal and found it to be suffering from malnutrition. Wagner told the court that he had cared for "thousands of horses" and the animal's emaciated condition was due to a kidney ailment and not starvation.

Cadets, Middies To Stage Assault On Island Today

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 14 (AP).—The cruiser Spokane and five destroyer minelayers escorted a task group of 55 amphibious vessels up Chesapeake Bay today toward Bloodworth Island, where an assault will be staged tomorrow morning for the amphibious warfare training of 600 West Point cadets and two Annapolis midshipmen.

The uninhabited island will be softened up for a simulated landing by shellfire and rockets from naval surface vessels and by bombs and machinegun fire from Army and Marine Corps planes.

After the softening up phase of the assault, landing craft will swarm in waves from the transports and LSTs (landing ships, tank) toward the island, turning away when 1500 yards from the beach because of the shallowness of the water and the danger of unexploded shells and bombs.

Many Prizes

Keithwood Riders Vie Tomorrow

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 14 (Spl.).—Nineteen trophies and money prizes for second, third and fourth place winners will be presented Saturday at the annual Keithwood Horse Show at the Farmington Country Club. Henry S. Holland and Russell Walthers will be the judges.

The first class, children's walk and trot, will enter the ring at 9:30 a. m., followed by the advanced horsemanship hack. Entries in the pony touch and out event will be shown over four fences, performance alone to count.

The intermediate horsemanship hack will be followed by the fifth class, the hunter hacks, where again performance alone will count, and the pony hunter hacks. The ponies will be shown at a walk, trot and canter and then jump two 3-foot fences.

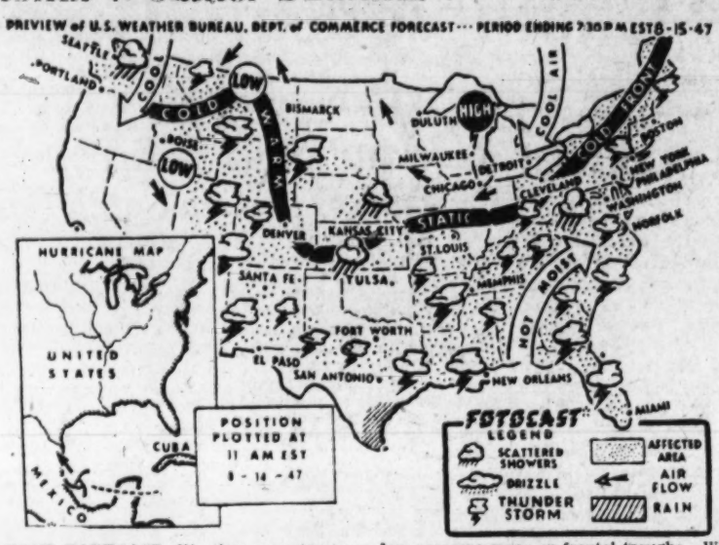
Class nine will be children's hunters, with performance over four fences counting 75 per cent, and suitability 25 per cent, followed by green and maiden hunters. Green hunter ponies, road hacks, and pony jumpers will then be shown.

A feature will be the fourteenth class, the pair class. Here the horses and ponies will jump eight fences in single file, and for the next class, will change position after the first round. Horsemanship alone will be judged in the consolation class, open only to those who have not won a ribbon in the preceding 15 classes.

The hunter championship will be sought by the four horses holding the highest number of points throughout the show.

National Weather Summary

Copyr., 1947, Edw. L. & Wagner



24-HOUR FORECAST: Weather experts say the eastward movement of the cold air front Maine to Indiana will cause slightly cooler temperatures from New York and Pennsylvania to the Lakes region. Residents of sections east of the front will notice little change because the humidity will still be high.

This afternoon the mercury will be in the 90s from the Gulf States to the Ohio Valley and the Plains States. Maximum temperatures will be in the mid eighties from Maine to the Lakes region, the Northern Plains and most of the Far West.

The New Orleans weather stations reported a hurricane centered about 280 miles southsoutheast of Brownsville, Tex., at 11 a.m. (EST) Thursday. Winds of 90 miles per hour were reported near the storm center with squalls extending out about 300 miles. Weather officials point out hurricanes tend to move toward low pressure areas or frontal troughs. When a hurricane merges with a low cell widespread rains usually follow. Even though prospects of this happening are remote, it appears to be the only chance of breaking the "drought" in the Plains.

Warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico will build into swelling clouds and release scattered thunderstorms from the Gulf States to Maine and in the Rockies. Some scattered thundershowers will occur near the front in Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri, but will do little good to the parched soil.

Maximum temperature forecasts for today include Boston and Hartford, 92; St. Louis, Tulsa and Atlanta, 90; New York, Philadelphia and Washington, 89; Kansas City and Nashville, 88; Albany, 86; Chicago, Detroit and Pittsburgh, 84; Cleveland, 83; Buffalo, 80, and Milwaukee, 78.

Michigan Fraud Case Jars Plush Club on R St.

By Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer

IT'S QUITE possible that the United Nations Club might come apart.

The first intimation that all was not serene in the handsome R st. building came when the Gordon Bakery Co. of Detroit obtained mail fraud warrants against the club's treasurer and manager, John Stum, and his nephew, Bill Arnold, the real owner. Stum put up a $10,000 bond; Arnold, $25,000.

According to the Detroit prosecutor, the two set up a dummy corporation here, obtained $580,000 worth of milk from the bakery and sold it at "substantial" discounts. They paid the bakery only enough (reportedly $110,000) to keep it from "objecting too strenuously," he said, but continued to mail the bakery monthly shipment schedules. That's where the postal inspectors came in.

The club, it seems, was also set up as a "dummy," with four women as incorporators but Arnold as owner. What must have been a fairly lucrative business was handled by Arnold's 62-year-old uncle.

Horsetrades With Royalty

BILL ARNOLD, who's an attractive guy, has been more or less of a mystery man around Washington. Actually, he's the son of a California contractor who summered in Greenwich, Conn., where he built a "million dollar" mansion now owned by an international oil man.

Arnold pere and his wife were divorced. Bill sided with his mother and was cut off with the traditional dollar. His sister, now Mrs. Howard Monks of California, received three and a half million.

Bill Arnold bought a farm at McLean, Va., for approximately $15,000. Recently he sold the property (which he had "improved") for a reputed $50,000 to $75,000 to the kindly Egyptian Princess Amina Toussoun, who supposedly threw in the Georgetown house she bought from the Raymond Guests.

Part of the picture is Meredith Howard, who hostessed the United Nations Club and who has been considered more or less officially engaged to Bill Arnold. Miss Howard, who has made a definite success in Washington, has been married twice before, once to a man described somewhat vaguely as a "prize fighter"; secondly to one Russell Erskine. She appeared on the New York stage from time to time, her most exciting role being that of Lady Godiva in Eddie Cantor's late '20s smash hit, "Whoopee." Her younger sister, Mary, is the wife of Alfred de Liagre, jr., the socialite producer of the "Voice of the Turtle."

As it stands today, Arnold has entered a countersuit to the

Matchmaker Busy as Ever At Resorts

By Marie McNair

They're playing the game—the matchmakers game—up at those fashionable summer spots such as Southampton, Saratoga and the North Shore.

"They're saying" at Saratoga that Spottswood White, long regarded as one of Washington's perennial bachelors, is No. 1 man on the list for Sarah Jane Sanford Pansa, lovely young widow of Mario Pansa and a sister of the famous polo playing Stephen (Laddie) Sanford. Mrs. Pansa is staying with the Sanfords at Saratoga for the racing season and by coincidence Spotty White is a guest there also.

One of the town's leading beaux a decade or more back, Spottswood White joined up with the Navy during the war, was last heard from in Seattle.

Newport Rumor

"THEY'RE saying" in New York that the reason for pretty Marye Thomas' frequent trips from Washington this summer was Jesse Spalding 3d.

Now Marye is with her mother, Mrs. Helen Marye Thomas at her S Bar S Ranch in Wadsworth, Nev., and handsome Mr. Spalding took off for there yesterday.

"They're saying" at Newport that Mrs. George Mesta's blonde and glamorous niece by marriage, Ethel Tyson, is romancing with Maj. Louis Ellis, an aide at the White House, who flies up to the social summer capital at every opportunity. Ethel Tyson is the widow of Robert Tyson, the George Tysons' son, and was in Washington last winter for almost all of Mrs. Mesta's big parties. She's the sister-in-law of Newport's No. 1 deb of a few summers ago, Betty Tyson, now Mrs. J. Richardson Lyeth, jr., of Detroit.

Marye has already said "yes" to Jesse according to his friends and all that remains for wedding bells to ring is Helen Thomas' approval.

Twice married, twice divorced, Mr. Spalding's first wife was Marie Brander, now Mrs. John F. Dryden 3d. The second Mrs. Spalding is the former Vivi Fairchild.

The Anniversary Heat

IT was a day just like yesterday, Mrs. Charles C. Windsor recalls, when she and Commander Windsor were married seven years ago in the Naval Academy Chapel at Annapolis.

Usually the Windsors are away when their anniversary rolls around but this summer as they're still at home Mrs. Windsor decided she'd celebrate the event with a cocktail party. They will leave next week for Mrs. Windsor's family home at Villa Nova, Pa.

Looking as cool as a whitecap, Mrs. Windsor wore a billowing white organdy gown.

Every Mother Is a Teacher—Your Child Deserves Good One

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Every mother is a teacher for she is concerned from the child's infancy with teaching him how to act and what to do and to say. A teacher is successful if she (1) is encouraging, (2) has patience and (3) knows her subjects.

This must be equally true of parents and it is obvious that many of them fail to exhibit these qualifications. Parents tend to be discouraging. They tell a child what he doesn't know rather than what he could know. "You are so slow." "You never listen when I talk to you." "You'd rather play than work."

These accusations are discouraging. The child makes no effort to prove them untrue, he merely follows out the suggestions the parents has given him.

Explanations are wasted energy, too. If a child is learning to play the piano, make a bed or cut the lawn, it is sufficient to show him what is to be done. Lengthy discourses on why it is done this way only confuses him. When he has learned the job it is time enough to tell him why it is more successful done in some particular way.

The fact that a child can learn a task is encouraging to him. Too much talking discourages him and fills him with the idea of the magnitude and complexity of the task. If left alone, he wouldn't know how much he didn't know and would be inspired and interested in what he did.

Parents aren't patient. If they tell a child once or twice how some task should be done, show him his letters or work an arithmetic problem for him, they are annoyed and berate him if he doesn't learn it. Repetition is an essential part of learning. The child's ears may have been deaf, his attention elsewhere when the instructions were given him. If he hasn't heard and doesn't know, why waste time telling him so? Spend it repeating the instructions.

The mother may know her subject but not well or have no real respect for it. One day she says the dishes must be scalded, the next day she wipes them right out of the soapy water. She says, "Oh, I guess you do it this way," and gives the child no confidence in her instructions.

All she gets is indifference or carelessness, not a respect for the task being done or its demands. The real teacher knows what she knows and the parent must, too, else her words will carry no conviction and will go unheeded.

Mild Man From Borneo

ORIENTAL potentates aren't exactly a novelty these days, but it's the first time, we believe, that a Sultan of Borneo has reached these shores. The Sultan, who hails from Pontianah, a Borneo state, is no wild man. He's 36, European educated, and answers if you call him "Maxsie."

Maxsie attained his throne in a tragically lurid manner. His whole family was slaughtered by the Japs and buried in a common grave. He escaped because he was fighting with the Netherlands East Indies Army. Now he's coming to the United States to tell the United Nations what's cooking in his particular bit of the Pacific.

There have been quite a few problems arranging his trip (he's arriving in New York today, possibly Washington next week), the most important being to find a public relations man who will present the Sultan as a serious young man, not a refugee from a circus sideshow. Fortunately, no wisecracks can be made about harems. The enlightened Maxsie has only one wife—unromantically, she's a smart Dutch girl.

Introducing—

MRS. EDWARD C. MAGDEBURGER
. . . heads D. C. Federation of Women's Clubs

Dynamic Mrs. Magdeburger, Who Fills Busy Day With Many Jobs

MEET dynanmic Mrs. Edward C. Magdeburger, new president of the D. C. Federation of Women's Clubs. She's a woman of action as well as words.

Possessor of tremendous energy, she can do two jobs while most people are gearing to do one. During the war, for example, she served as worthy grand matron of the District of Columbia, Order of the Eastern Star, worked as a nurses aide, Red Cross blood donor, hostessed at the U.S.O. Lounge in the Union Station, and at the same time did her own laundry, housework and cooking. In addition, she found a few hours each week to teach first aid classes.

Brown-eyed, capable Mrs. Magdeburger was born in St. Louis, Mo., attended Washington University. Marriage interrupted her musical studies. There are five Magdeburger children, George, Kay, Paul, Alice and Robert, the baby. Kay served with the Red Cross in India during the war but now is working with the Federal Housing Administration. After three and a half years in the service, Paul is studying at Cornell University and Robert is taking a veteran's course at the University of Georgia. Matrimony has claimed George, and Alice expects to major in biology.

HOLDING down top jobs is nothing new for Mrs. Magdeburger. Active in P-TA, she is past president of the Macfarland association and ex-music chairman of the D. C. Congress of Parents and Teachers, immediate past president of the lively Petworth Woman's Club.

Always she's been so up to her neck in community and club work that she has little time for hobbies. But her brown eyes twinkle when she remarks, "I do needlepoint to relax," adding I suppose my real avocation is being a nurses aide.

"I wanted to study medicine," she explains, "but didn't get around to it."

Intensely interested in international relations, youth conservation and District affairs, she hopes to accelerate the federation's program in those fields.

Gay, capable and optimistic, Mrs. Magdeburger is an excellent organizer and a first rate diplomat in handling women's groups.

Girls Nation Concludes Conference

Supreme Court Justices, Cabinet and Senatorial members of Girls Nation closed the six-day citizenship training school yesterday and departed for their respective homes in 41 States across the country.

During the past week here, the American Legion Auxiliary, sponsors of the mythical nation, trained 82 young high school girls in the science of National Government.

At the final session at noon, Mrs. Norton H. Pearl, president of the national auxiliary, pointed out that Girls Nation is the largest school for training girls in citizenship in this country. She pointed out that the American Legion Auxiliary has held Girls States in 41 States and will follow with one in Louisiana next week.

"We are developing young women still in their teens to follow intelligently the functions of representative government and to emerge as leaders of citizenship in their communities, States and Nation," she explained.

"An alert, informed citizenry is the best bulwark against communism and fascism," asserted Mrs. Pearl.

Mrs. Pearl announced that 16-year-old George Ann Hicks, president of Girls Nation, will be guest of honor at the American Legion Auxiliary's national convention in New York City, August 28-31. Delegates from Hawaii, Alaska and Panama as well as the 48 States will attend.

Red Ice Cream Is Plum Good

With plums plentiful and ready-made ice cream scarce, now's a good time to make delicious red plum ice cream in your own refrigerator.

Stone eight medium-sized red plums and cook them with ¾ cup of sugar and 1½ cups of hot water about 15 minutes. Force through a sieve, add 2 tablespoons of corn syrup and 1 teaspoon of gelatin, softened in 2 tablespoons of cold water. Stir over heat until gelatin is dissolved. Cool, then add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice. Fold in 1 cup of heavy cream which has been whipped until it began to thicken and hold its shape.

Pour this mixture into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze with temperature control set at coldest point. Stir once during freezing. This will make enough ice cream to serve eight persons.

Your Questions On Homemaking

Is there any way of letting down the hem of a pique dress so that the old hemline doesn't show? E. N.

The dark mark left by an old hemline often disappears with repeated washings or cleanings. However, to speed up the process, you might soak your pique dress before washing, then lay the hem flat and scrub the line all around with a brush and soap.

(1) Is there any way to remove pine gum from a cotton dress without damaging the color? (2) My little girl scraped a white chair against a mahogany dresser and the paint rubbed off on the mahogany. Can you tell me a safe way to remove it? (3) Will you recommend a good shampoo for upholstered furniture that you can use satisfactorily at home? B. L. M.

1. Softening the stain with egg white, then washing with soap and water, may be effective in removing the pine gum. If not, try lard as a softener, then sponge with cleansing fluid. It may be necessary to repeat the treatment several times.

2. Cover the paint spot on the mahogany with linseed oil. Let stand until paint has softened, then rub off with a cloth. Remove any remaining paint by rubbing rottenstone and linseed oil, mixed to the consistency of thin cream.

3. A good upholstery shampoo can be made at home by dissolving ½ cup mild soap in 1 quart boiling water. Cool until jellied. Beat the jelly to a stiff lather with a rotary egg beater. Be sure no liquid is left before applying it to the furniture with a soft brush. A number of excellent commercial shampoos for upholstery are also on sale in the stores.

Grease ants (the minute ones) are taking over my house. I find them in droves wherever there is a dropped crumb of food, and even where there isn't. They seem to appear from the floor boards and from behind shelves, even from under the metal strip around the sink. I've used salt, which has done the most good, an ant syrup, and other ant poisons. I keep the kitchen and dining room clean but still they come! Can you help me? C. D.

DDT is effective in getting rid of some types of ants but not others. It's worth trying, anyway. Use a "residual" spray of 5% DDT solution on walls, floors, and all places where the ants may run or hide. These areas will be made deadly territory for certain insects for several weeks. Do not spray surfaces where food is prepared or stored unprotected.

If DDT isn't effective, ant preparations containing chlordane or sodium fluoride may be helpful. Tartar emetic mixed with grease and placed in a saucer where the ants can reach it should also kill a good many of them. If you can possibly locate the ant colonies between the flooring or in the walls, a quick way of destroying them is to inject about a tablespoon of orthodichlorobenzene into the small opening made by the ants. Use a small syringe to inject this chemical, which can be purchased at wholesale drug houses.

I spilled some acetone nail polish remover on a blue taffeta quilted bedspread. It has removed most of the color and left a darker zigzag mark around the outer edge. Can anything remove this stain and restore the natural color, or is there any other alternative? B. M. K.

Acetone, unfortunately, bleaches out certain colors and redyeing is the only way they can be restored. It also injures acetate rayon fibers, but perhaps your taffeta is silk or some other type of rayon. Redyeing the spread at home would be a risky business. It would be better to consult an expert cleaner and dyer to see if he thinks he can do the job successfully.

How can flattened nap on mohair pile upholstery be raised? C. W. W.

Wring a cloth out of very hot water, getting it as dry as possible. Spread it over the flattened area and leave it for 5 to 10 minutes. Remove the cloth. Brush while still damp, against the direction of the nap. Brush again when dry, with the direction of the nap.

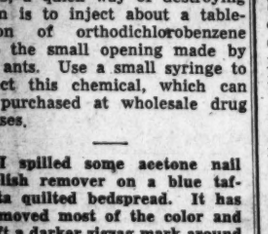
PETUNIA!

I know it's odd
But still it's true
The lowly pod
Has flavor too!



Yes, indeed, Petunia! When you're cooking fresh peas, it's a neat trick to add a few of the pea-pods. They'll contribute to the delicious, garden-fresh taste.

Too Hot to Eat?

FOOD HELPS KEEP YOU COOL

An ideal luncheon for hot summertime is this one which includes chicken salad, moulded fruit salad, and cheese-spread potato chips. There's one hot food on the menu—the rolls—to lend zest to the meal and aid digestion

"IT'S just too hot to eat today!" Wonder how many people have said that in Washington this week, while the mercury was doing nip-ups through the nineties.

It's a dangerous remark, according to the doctors—dangerous that is, if you suit the action to the words. For skipping meals is bad business in hot weather. You need those three square meals a day to keep up your vitality and help your body fight the heat.

They can and should be cooling meals, though—meals that tempt weather-beaten appetites, keep body temperatures at a minimum, and contain all the necessary food elements. Here are a few rules for housewives bent on cheating the heat with good meal-planning:

Concentrate on the protective foods such as fruits, vegetables, milk and eggs, and serve fewer heavy foods — pastries, fried foods, gravies, and starches.

Be sure you serve—and your family eats—a good breakfast. Include a whole grain cereal, either hot or cold. You need the vitamin B in it to prevent that tired feeling and stimulate the appetite.

On hot evenings, choose a dinner menu that's cold from soup to nuts except for one hot dish. This one warm food is needed to aid digestion and lend zest to the meal. It can be a meat casserole, a vegetable, a hot bread, or tea or coffee.

Your family needs proteins, the muscle builders, to help keep up their strength. But serve lean meat instead of fat, and broil, boil, or roast it instead of frying. Use fish, cheese, eggs, and dried beans often as main dishes, too.

Drink lots of liquids—milk, fruit juices, lemonade, tea, carbonated drinks. Cold drinks help to keep body temperatures down. However, they shouldn't be gulped down avidly. The sudden arrival of all that cold liquid is very hard on a sensitive system.

Cool water with a pinch of salt added is a good hot weather drink. It helps replace both the moisture and the salt you lose when you perspire.

Plenty of vegetables—cooked and raw—are important to make up for minerals lost in perspiration, too. Cook vegetables in a small amount of boiling water as short a time as possible.

Serve light desserts. Ice cream or fruits are ideal. They're cooling and will meet with an enthusiastic reception in the most blistering weather.

Last but not least, watch out for that old summer bugaboo, food poisoning. Keep all perishable foods in the refrigerator. Don't keep ground meat, fish, custards or creams more than a day or so. And if there's any question in your mind about food's being spoiled, don't serve it! Better to waste a little food than to pay a big doctor's bill!

Market Memo

By Lucia Brown

VEAL'S the thriftiest meat buy this weekend . . . if any red meat can be called thrifty now. It's comparatively cheaper than the rest anyway. One chain is running a special on choicer cuts . . . loin chops, cutlets, rump roast, and the like.

Beef tongues offer a good answer to the meat problem. They're solid chunks of meat . . . no waste . . . and the price is not too high. A 3-pound tongue gives you 20 to 25 slices . . . six to eight servings. Save the broth from cooking tongue . . . fine for soups, for cooking beans, or use in any recipe calling for meat stock. Cold cuts and cheese also bring protein to your diet without flattening your purse. More varieties of American cheese appearing all the time. . . delicious in souffles, Welsh rarebits, baked dishes, and salads.

Tomatoes and corn leaders on the list of abundant vegetables. Plenty of new crop white potatoes, squash, peas (shipped-in), beets, and carrots. Lots of green Pascal celery . . . more popular than the white kind in recent years. Grand peaches and pears available . . . Gravenstein and Wealthies now among the apples on the stands.

Drinking plenty of cooling liquids is important on a blistering day. This frosted grape juice is a thirst-quenching treat that also provides a generous portion of a protective food—fruit. Enough for six can be made by mixing 2 cups of grape juice, 6 tablespoons of lemon juice, 1/3 cup of very fine sugar, and 1 pint of gingerale. Dip the rims of the glasses in lemon juice, then in sugar, just before filling them

Crab Salads Please Family And Budget

With crabs low in price compared with meat, this is just the time for a fancy but filling crab salad. Here's a recipe for "Crabflakes, Mexican, in Avocado":

½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ teaspoon salt
Pinch white pepper
Few drops onion juice
1 medium-sized avocado
Juice of 1 lemon
2 eggs, hard boiled
2 pimientos
1 green pepper
Lettuce

Blend crabmeat and celery with seasonings; add enough mayonnaise to bind them together. Cut avocado in thirds and leave the peeling on. Dip the cut surface in either grapefruit or lemon juice to prevent discoloring.

Fill seed cavity with the filling, rounding off the top so that it looks like half a ball. Garnish top by sprinkling chopped egg whites on one side and egg yolks on the other. Place two narrow strips of pimiento in center, lengthwise with several small strips of green pepper between them. Serve on bed of lettuce.

For Home Vacation—

Little Planning Will Banish 'Cares That Infest the Day'

By Ida Jean Kain

WHAT'S your idea of a vacation? The dictionary defines a vacation as freedom from work or cares; leisure, a recess from routine. What could be nicer? That definition doesn't imply that the weary worker must go away to some expensive place or travel hundreds of miles or dress for dinner every night at some swanky place. No, a vacation should be a recess from cares.

Of course, a complete change of environment is excellent. But what about the families whose old bus can't stand the strain of a long jaunt . . . and whose budget can't stand the strain either? What kind of a vacation can they have? Well, it can be freedom from work and care, and time away from routine.

Up to Homemaker

It's largely up to the homemaker whether the stay-at-home vacation is fun, or just a time when the breadwinner doesn't go to work . . . which more or less upsets the regular routine of work and is a period to be dreaded. She is glad when the time is up . . . and more than likely he is, too.

But I want to tell you about one family and how they spent their vacation at home. The previous week this wonderful homemaker arranged to have all the laundry done and put away, and the house clean and the baking and some of the cooking done ahead. . . . She cooked a picnic ham and two chickens . . . she had everything set. Then during dad's vacation the whole family lived gaily and did a minimum of housework. They used paper dishes and cups, ate out in the back yard part of the time, with everybody making their own sandwiches from big piles of bread and sandwich spreads. . . . And life was a picnic. Their one expenditure was paying a high school girl to come in late afternoons to help with the dinner dishes and to stay with the children while mother and dad went gadding, to concerts, visiting friends and to the movies. The head of the house pronounced it a perfect holiday.

Make Your Dreams Come True

To be a popular dancer, scarcely able to circle the floor without a cut-in—that's every girl's dream! Why not make it come true?

What makes a girl fun to dance with, anyway? Perfect rhythm, of course, puls feather-lightness and responsiveness to every step and turn. A large order, but you can fill it if you have balance.

Balance means carrying your weight evenly over the balls of your feet. In stepping backward for instance, keep your weight on the ball of the forward foot until your stepping foot is in place, ready to share the weight. Also, swing from the hip and reach back as far as possible with the toe. Chopping off those backward steps is just inviting your partner to tread on your toes.

To be a good dancer you must be able to do the waltz, rumba, samba, tango, fox trot and lindy with equal ease. Our Reader Service booklet No. 37 teaches the latest steps by means of footprint diagrams and actual photos. The author is one of the country's well-known instructors. Get your copy today.

Send 25c (coin) for "How to Do the Latest Dance Steps" to The Washington Post, Reader Service, 243 West 17th st., New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address, booklet title and No. 37.

Ringside Table

By Mary Morris

SUMMER WILL END OFFICIALLY on the Starlight Roof on August 30, the spot's closing date. But right now this breezy spot is packed with refugees from the heat wave quietly enjoying Sammy Seymour's softly tinkling tunes . . . The Cafe Caprice on the first floor of the Roger Smith Hotel will open when Starlight closes—this time with a concert pianist instead of a band. Idea is to by-pass the 20 per cent amusement tax . . . Meantime the Seymour band, always a pop crew, is mulling over offers for this fall.

Morgan Beatty will be guest of honor at the musicians union picnic at Chesapeake Beach Sunday. Sonny Dunham's Band will play and there'll be all sorts of prizes, including both washing and recording machines.

AUGUST PARTYING. Newspaper people were all over the place at the cocktail session tossed by Nora Gilbert, chic publicitress of Hotel 2400, for Mrs. Estelle Compton, spectacularly lovely lady who's adding a Washington branch to her chain of model schools . . . The cast of "Oklahoma" had a champagne dinner at Olmstead's, were worried because they couldn't find the crest of Oklahoma among other State crests on the walls. It was explained to them that only the crests of the 13 original States are included in the Olmstead decor . . . Manager James Paterson of the Sheraton Hotel impressed the press at a "Candle-Glo Dinner" in the Dubonnet Room. Also there to observe the Dubonnet boom was Prexy Paul Schwartz of the Musicians' Union. . . . Rick Ferrell, coach of the Washington Senators, and Harry Babbit, from the Capitol Theater, were among the cooler-offers bending ears to Sammy Ferro's Tidesmen in the Neptune Room. They seemed especially impressed by Dick Bailey's sleight-of-hand on the accordion.

A fresh edition of Lotus' "Broadway Revue" was unveiled last night. Manhattan vaude acts give competition to the rich tenor soloing of Buddy Shaner, the spot's much popular emcee.

NOEL COWARD'S FAVORITE SOUP is cold vichysoisse. He consumes it by the quart. If he comes to Washington someone should guide him to the Muses where the vichysoisse is superbly glacial, creamy and soothing . . . We're told that Normandy Farm and the Water Gate Inn also put out very superior vichysoisse.

SWEET SONGAGE. All the girls in the Metronome Room sigh delightedly when Bob Ellis baritones "Try a Little Tenderness" in his best cinema manner . . . It's a happy night at Ciro's when pretty Mary Pearson drops in with a party and turns on a few of her lovely soprano solos, especially if she's in a "Porgy and Bess" warbling mood . . . Dona Cole, of the demure expression and fast quips, is reviving some of the rare tunes of "Cabin In the Sky" in the King Cole Room . . . Johnny Robb and three of his Madrillon bandsmen, plus Sue Milroy, are injecting involved vocal harmonies into "Adobe Hacienda" . . . Most remarkable sweet songs around are "Cement Mixer" and "Open the Door, Richard" as done by Les Williams at the Old New Orleans. He sings 'em in the style of Verdi.

Sauterne and whisky highballs are the favorite beverages at the many Chinese official parties given at the Good Earth. "How about rice wine"? we asked. "Rice wine is too strong," said Manager Jimmy Lee and quoted figures to prove it.

SAD SNAPSHOTS. Pat Whitney, the cunning little one who sings with Stephen Kisley's band in the Congo Room, considered the masterpieces of the National Art Gallery to be the high spot of her sightseeing. Since the gallery is noted for its fine lighting, she took snapshots of the pictures that most impressed her. You guessed it. The films came out a complete blank.

DISTINGUISHED MUSICIANS ALL are members of Michel's gypsy ensemble at Michel's. Cellist Marcel Ancher founded the Guild Quartet, noted for its chamber music. Cymbalist Josef Moskowitz began his career in Bucharest, has given recitals in Town Hall, made Victor records. Pianist Carlson received a scholarship from the Peabody Conservatory when he graduated at 17, later studied in Europe under Feruccio Busoni, a pupil of Franz Liszt.

Add feats of arithmetic. Bill and Margie Strickland of Old Cedar Point recently celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary. Two days before Bill had another party—for his "thirty-eighth birthday."

THE DISTRICT LINE by Bill Gold

Times "Agony Column" Reflects British Shortages

About once a year I get hold of a copy of the London Times.

Last year the "agony column" was full of used car ads. But on August 11, 1947, there was just one used auto for sale—and the way it's listed, I'm not even sure this is an auto. The ad reads:

M. G. 2 litre Drophead Coupe, 1937. Good condition. £775.

In American money, that's about $3100 for a 1937 chariot—and it's rather indicative of Britain's shortage of consumer goods.

A Leica 3a Camera with a Summar 1.2 lens is offered for $440. A Leica Mark 3 with an f.2 lens can be had for $640.

A used Remington portable typewriter will cost you $80 and you can get three pairs of nylon hose for $12 per pair. A used wool maternity frock will set you back $48—but you don't have to surrender any coupons.

An ordinary tan cloth suit (used) is priced at $120 and a wardrobe trunk that's seen better days can be had for the same price.

But in spite of her current troubles and shortages, there'll always be an England which sandwiches in strictly personal ads that run like this one in the July 29 issue:

J. U. D.: I know all, darling. My place is by your side. Tell me where to come. All my love, Margot.

STREET SCENE

We were sitting in a downtown restaurant, near the front window. We could watch the big Buick in the "No Parking" zone outside, and we saw the cop put a ticket on its windshield.

"Well," said the man at the next table, "there goes another five bucks into the District's coffers."

"The big shot who owns that fancy car is really going to wince when he sees that ticket," answered the lady who sat opposite.

Just then the owner of the Buick returned to his car, found the ticket, tossed it unconcernedly to the ground and drove off.

Our astonishment was short-lived. As the car pulled away we saw that it carried New York tags.

COINCIDENCE

We all know that there's no J st. in Washington.

But an alert District Liner points out something I'd never noticed before; Griffith Stadium has no Section J—probably for similar reasons.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN

Once to my love I wrote an ode;
And happy was I, when I wrote it.
She then to all her pleasure showed
By never failing to misquote it.
D. W. M.

PET PEEVE

The most artistic trimming in town is taken by office workers who send out for tomato juice, grapefruit juice, or similar juices.

For twenty cents you can get almost enough to cover the bottom of a paper cup. The accepted ratio is one ounce of juice to five ounces of ice.

ABOUT STREETS

Jim Elliot says that there are three different Chestnut sts. in town—two in northwest and one in northeast.

Our office map shows two of them. One (in northwest) runs perpendicular to the District Line, near Branch rd.

The other (in northeast) runs parallel to the District Line, near the National Training School for Boys.

Where's the third one, Jim? Do you mean Chestnut Wise rd., which runs through the upper reaches of Rock Creek Park?

ANY DAY NOW

Isn't this the time of the year when the sports pages begin to break out in a rash of stories about the Nats' rookie crop, and the prospects for a winning club next year?

Anderson Sits In With GOPoobahs

Hollywood.—POLITICS: Edwin Pauley gave a luncheon here on Wednesday in honor of Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson and Postmaster General Hannegan. Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City listened to Hannegan speak of Truman for '48 and said: "It will be harder than in other years. Then we had Roosevelt, who did a grand job for us. Roosevelt pulled us with him—not we pulled him with us. We needed him more than he needed us. He mesmerized the people." Hague then looked at the two Cabinet members and added, "With all my years in politics this is the closest I've come to the Cabinet."

SOCIAL NOTE: Secretary Anderson spent the last few days at Bohemian Grove, where he socialized with Herbert Hoover, Pew of Pennsylvania, Bruce Barton, Clarence Budington Kelland and Carroll Reece. The Republican leaders argued over the merits and weaknesses of the leading Republican candidates. "Do you want to get asked." He shook his head and replied, "No. All I want from this session is permission to keep the minutes."

FURNISHING DEPT.: Ten years ago the friend of one of the most prominent directors in Hollywood gave him a dozen glasses. On each were engraved the initials of his 12 best friends. Last week the director entertained at dinner and the glassware was brought out. "Shows you Hollywood," he sighed. "For the life of me I cannot remember the names which these intials stand for, and I can not even remember the name of the person who gave them to me."

BUSINESS DEPT.: Jack Warner tells this story of his beginning. He was a butcher boy who dreamed of entering show business as a song and dance man. This was at a time when Harry Cohn, now head of Columbia Pictures, was a street car conductor who treated his street car as if it were his home, indignantly spurning fares proffered by any of his friends. One day Butcher Boy Warner decided to test his fate. He made a bet with himself. "I'm going to throw this butcher mallet at the board across the room. If it hits the board I quit and try show business. If it misses I'll stay." Warner threw it and hit the board.

TRAVEL NOTE: Bing Crosby is vacationing with his family at his ranch. Del Webb, owner of the Yankees, sent his private plane to Crosby's ranch and told the pilot, "I'll give you $100 if you can get Crosby into it." Crosby, who always has refused to fly, listened to the pilot's spiel about the $100 he could get. Then Crosby stepped into the plane and stepped out again quickly. "Well I stepped in," Crosby told the pilot. "Let's split the hundred."

LOCAL NEWS: At the Friars Club is a sign announcing the dinner to "Al Jolson, brother of the famous Harry Jolson." It was the dinner committee's plan to introduce Jolson and then have Larry Parks step up to make the acknowledging speech. The plan was canceled because Jolson and Parks aren't speaking to each other.

MEMORY DEPT.: George Jessel tells of a man traveling to California years ago. When the train stopped at Albuquerque he was introduced to an Indian who allegedly had the best memory in the world. "Ask him any question," the man was urged and he asked the Indian "What did you eat for breakfast on October 14, 1913?" The Indian answered, "Eggs." The man scoffed, "Oh everybody always has eggs for breakfast. That Indian has no memory at all." . . . Eight years later the man traveled westward again and at Albuquerque he saw the same Indian. He greeted him, grunting, "How." The Indian answered, "Scrambled."

Portraits

By James J. Metcalfe

As Much as That

I love you more than I can say . . . And more than I can write . . . I love you every moment, dear . . . Of every day and night . . . I love you with a lasting love . . . That reaches to the sky . . . And gathers greater beauty as . . . The hours wander by . . . There is no song I ever sing . . . Unless it praises you . . . There is no happiness for me . . . Unless you have it too . . . Your loving smile is in my soul . . . Your voice is in my heart . . . In every plan I make you are . . . The most important part . . . I love you more than all the world . . . And all that I could be . . . I love you more than life itself . . . Could ever mean to me.

pageant of persuasive professors

(No. 1 of a series)

for every college coed

● If you're talking about great Doctors of Music, you don't have to go back to Beethoven, Bach and Brahms . . . because there are plenty of orchids to be awarded in modern American melody. We're not sure just who the artist had in mind when he improvised this drawing . . . (your guess is as good as ours) . . . but we do know there is a definite affinity between our modern College Youth and modern American Music.

● We'll leave it to the Professors of Melody to beat out the "hot notes" for the Junior Prom, and we'll leave it to the Professors on the Campus to handle the scholastic activities . . . our job is to provide all the "hot fashion notes" for the rising generation now planning their college wardrobes.

● That's why we place so much emphasis on the completeness and variety of our back-to-college fashions . . . in all our College Shops . . . and that doesn't mean just sweaters and skirts, or blouses and saddle shoes . . . but every necessity for the complete and perfect college wardrobe, from head to toe . . . lingerie, hose, accessories . . . even that warm Campus Coat or dress-up fur, if that happens to be on your daughter's shopping list.

● So before you buy Suzy-Q's railroad ticket for the campus, be sure to bring her fashion list to The Hecht Company . . . and bring Suzy-Q along with you . . . because she'll appreciate the harmony and swing in our repertory of styles . . . the perfect wardrobe rhythm to be found on our . . . scintillating Second Floor for Youth and Third Floor of Fashions.
